It's Time To Prepare for Special Safety

Consider, as back-to-school time approaches, these 5 facts from the National Safety Council:

1. Accidents are the leading cause of death to school-age children.
2. More than 2,500 children 5-14 years of age are killed annually in accidents involving motor vehicles.
3. More than 1,100 of those children are pedestrians.
4. A total of 150,000 children in the 5-14 age group are injured each year in motor vehicle mishaps.
5. One out of 12 students injured in a "school-jurisdiction" accident is on his way to or from school.

That's the problem—and back-to-school time is when the problem reaches its peak, according to the National Safety Council.

Solution to the problem? "Parents," the Council says, "should teach their children to stop, look and listen before crossing streets or railroad tracks."

It's not old-fashioned to be safe. "Parents also should set a proper example. Don't expect a child to obey a rule you violate."

Some Council suggestions to motorists as the nation's schools prepare to open their doors:

1. Keep your car in good condition. Pay special attention to tires and brakes. You can't blame the garage man if your car doesn't stop quickly enough in an emergency.
2. Drive slowly near schools. And slow down where children are walking or playing.
3. Expect the unexpected from children. Most of them get hurt running from behind parked cars or crossing in the middle of an intersection.
