Capitol Corner

by Rep. Glenn Cunningham Washington, D. C. (special) - I was the only Nebraska Representative to uphold the President's veto of the public works appropriation bill, sometimes called the "pork barrel" bill.

There is now over $1 billion worth of public works construction each year. The President's veto was not intended to stop these authorized projects. It was based on 67 new projects which had not been approved by the responsible agencies of the government but which the majority in Congress insisted on including in the bill.

The initial cost of these new projects was not large, but the eventual cost is estimated at more than $800 million. It is because of bills such as this that the federal budget keeps growing. The President must budget money for these new projects year after year once they are started.

This bill represents a real test of government economy. Many people here talk of economy, but obviously they do not all vote the way they talk.

Although final details are yet to be worked out, there will be Omaha and on the West Coast on the problem of obscene literature.

The Postal Operations Subcommittee, of which I am the senior Republican, has already had hearings in Washington and Philadelphia. The hearings in the Mid-West and on the West Coast will probably be during November.

A California Congressman has introduced a bill to permit TV coverage of debates and votes in the House of Representatives. This would be a good step, in my opinion, since it would certainly stimulate more interest in national affairs.

A result which would not suit some Congressmen would be the probable end to "revising and extending." Under this practice, Congressmen can now say one thing, then change it, add to it, or delete words or whole paragraphs before the speech is printed in the Congressional Record the next day.

Sometimes the speech as it is printed in the Congressional Record bears little if any resemblance to what was actually said during debate.

Eventually, of course, unless something is done to halt the trend, there will be a program which will give away the company sponsoring it and the network it is broadcast over. - St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

HERB CAMPBELL and Vern Hennings are just starting a remodeling job on the Chas Wondra home in Northwest Plattsmouth. The old part of the house, not shown in the picture is a two story affair with a spiral staircase which will be kept in the structure.

Elmwood Has 8 Lettermen

ELMWOOD (Special) - The Elmwood Pirates started their football season out with a bang the night of the 11th by defeating Stella by the score of 20-13. Hard hitting defense and good open field running did the trick for the hard fighting Pirates.

Twenty boys turned out for football this season under coach Dale Vanderford. Of these 20 boys eight are returning lettermen.

The squad includes: John Mendenhall and Gary Clements, ends; Robert Fleischman, Chuck Green, Donnie Hollenbeck and Rex Brown, guards; Tom Green, center. The backfield consists of Virgil Rueter, quarterback; Richard Vogt, Fred Groce, and Erich Sander, halfbacks. Other members of the squad include: Wayne Stubbendeck, Clayton Miller, Joel Bornemeier, Theron Bornemeier, Wilmer Wilhelm, Larry Ratliff, Siegfried Orthlieb, Wayne Dunkel, and Arlan Hollenbeck.

Konrad Adenauer, Chancellor of West Germany:

"The primary aim of every statesman, wherever he may stand, must be the achievement of a controlled disarmament of nuclear and conventional weapons."

YEARS OF EXPERIENCE!

Years of experience have taught us that there is no substitute for workmanship.

We are proud of the homes we have helped build over the years. But . . . while we have years of experience . . . we follow the trends and use new materials . . . new designs. Yet with all the new things that go into a home . . . workmanship is the most important ingredient . . . and we take pride in ours.

YOUR HOME AND THE HARDWARE STORE

During National Home Week, Sept. 13-20, we would like you to consider the important role the Hardware Store plays in the making of your home.

- (1) Material from this store holds your home together. Nails and Screws as well as door locks, hinges, and many other items become a part of your home. Plumbing fixtures are from this store.
- (2) After your home is built, this Hardware store is a source of supply for appliances, heating units and other major items.
- (3) This store offers you many smaller items for the home. Kitchenware, small tools, and many other items.
- (4) Then . . . throughout the years you'll find this store a place where you can replace items for your home or add to the things that make for comfort and convenience.
- (5) You'll find our store the complete store when you need HARDWARE.
