A WORLD of RESEARCH...

The world's brilliant research scientists work constantly in the world's finest laboratories seeking the answers to unsolved diseases—searching for even more "miraculous" drugs to prevent or cure illness... to relieve pain... to add still more vigorous years to the life span.

• The American pharmaceutical industry will invest $190 MILLION this year alone in such research—and it is worth every penny of it. The results of the research may soon be contained in a little capsule—costing only a few cents, but a priceless restorative of health.
