Dr. Perry Epler Gresham, president of Bethany College: "When the custodians of college degrees read an average of only one or two books each year we have reason for shame. A yellow sheepskin is a poor cover for intellectual nakedness."

Rotary Undergoes Introspection

The Plattsmouth Rotary Club found out what its members think about Rotary at the regular club meeting Tuesday noon. Program chairman Lyle Grove conducted a roundtable commentary, asking members to tell what they like or dislike about Rotary.

Among the comments were these: Several men said they like the chance to meet on a equal basis with people from many walks of life, that this applied to the local club in regular meetings as well as universally through Rotary International; several said they hoped the club would take initiative to sponsor worthwhile projects in the community, others that they feel that while much can be done much is already being accomplished.

High school Rotarians at the meeting were junior Kenneth Price of Plattsmouth and senior Roger Noel of Murray.

W. W. Schools' Open House Has Good Attendance

WEeping WATER (Special) — The Weeping Water Parent-Teachers Association met Monday evening in the school auditorium with a large crowd attending the open house.

Coffee and cookies were served by Mrs. Cliff McGraw, Mrs. Engles and Mrs. Schrynmaker.

CORRECTION

The Cass County Historical Society wishes to make a correction in the article appearing in the Feb. 2 issue of the Journal.

The list of names designated as new members should have been titled "Additional Donors" — some of whom are also new members.

The last name on the list should have read, The Nogg Brothers of Omaha.

Also in the recent article, J. W. Taylor was listed as a donor to the Soennichsen Memorial. Instead it should have been Mr. and Mrs. Ellsworth Taylor and Reeda.
