Now's Time To Care for Elm Trees

GRAND ISLAND — The most common insect and disease problems of the elm can be minimized by applying controls within the next month.

That's the advice of Joe Range, University of Nebraska District Extension Forester, stationed here.

"As soon as the air temperature is above 40 degrees and before leaf buds begin to swell, it will be time to control scale insects on deciduous shade trees and shrubs. Most harm in this area has been to elm and lilac. In many instances it has weakened or killed plants," Range points out.

"If stems or branches of elm appear to be covered with a black soot, the tree may be infested with European Elm Scale. The soot is a fungus which grows on the honey dew which scale insects excrete.

The scale insect is difficult to control in summer. Best control can be obtained when the trees and shrubs are dormant. Several oil sprays are available which are manufactured for tree spraying. Such oil sprays will mix with water.

Spray can be prepared by mixing 3 gallons of oil in 100 gallons of water. For smaller amounts, combine 8 tablespoons of oil in 1 gallon of water. Complete coverage of the plant is necessary. As a result, hydraulic equipment is required for spraying large trees. Range points out.

Dead branches of elm should be pruned out. Dead and dying elm trees should be removed and burned by April 1 to destroy the breeding place of elm bark beetles—carriers of Dutch Elm Disease. At the present time, Dutch Elm Disease has not been found in Nebraska. Therefore, spraying during the dormant season with DDT is not necessary.

"The elm tree has not been bypassed by disease," according to Range. "For the last several years there has been premature defoliation of many elm trees, particularly Chinese Elm trees. Some lost their leaves right after leafing out in the spring. This was caused by leaf spot. If the defoliation occurred early, the trees leafed out again."

"Generally, the disease does not warrant control. Those who wish to spray particular or valuable trees should use bordeaux mixture just after the leaves have unfolded in the spring. If a wet spring exists, a second and third spray should be applied at two or three week intervals. If canker worms are present, DDT also may be sprayed to control the worms.

Police Court

Car Hits Grader

A car-grader accident occurred three miles south of Louisville on State 50 today at 9:30 a.m.

A car traveling south driven by Paul A. Jensen of Omaha struck a state road maintainer in the rear.

Jensen received face cuts and was taken to a Omaha hospital. Allan Nosky of Plattsmouth, the grader operator, was not injured.

Sheriff Tom Solomon said the car left 110 feet of skid marks before striking the grader. The car was heavily damaged. The rear duals of the grader were put out of commission.

The grader was traveling south at about 10 miles an hour with its rear lights on and a flashing red light on the top of the cab at the time of accident, the accident report said.

The highway was dry but a heavy fog hung over the highway at the time of accident.

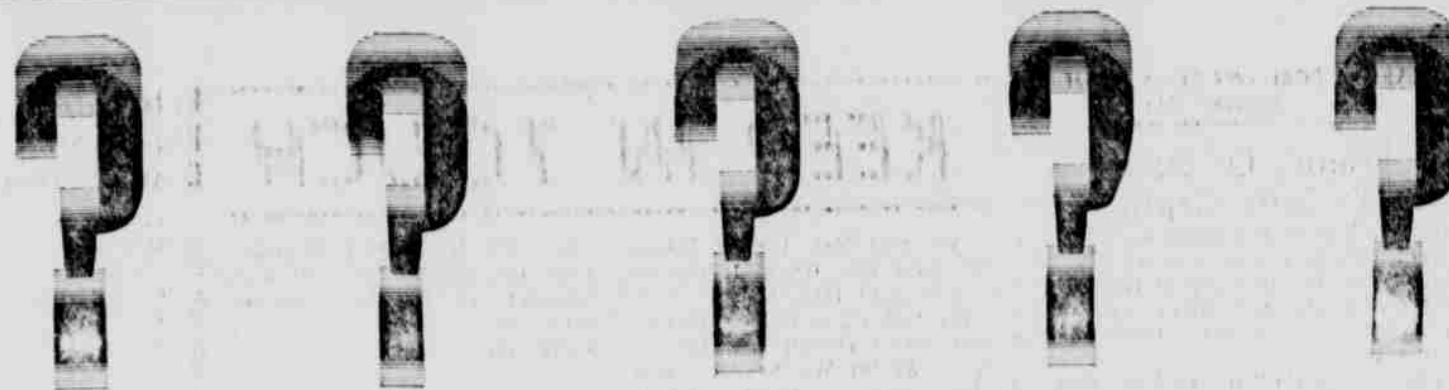

Truck Overturns

A dump truck loaded with rock turned over at the Junction of Highway 50 and the Weeping Water Spur this morning. The driver received cuts and bruises, according to the sheriff's office.

Window Broken

Rear window damage was done to a car belonging to Rodney G. Bates when he left it parked overnight Sunday night one-half mile east of the Avoca corner on US 34.

Sheriff Tom Solomon who investigated said a beer and a pop bottle had been thrown thru the rear window. The bottles will be dusted for fingerprints, he said.

The Question Most Often Asked About the Proposed Swimming Pool Bond Issue Is... What Will It Cost?

WHAT WILL IT MEAN IN TERMS OF TAXES?

Based upon tax laws as they now exist, on bonds amortized over a 20 year term at 4%, the yearly payments on $65,000 would approximate $5,460.00 per year. The 1959 assessed value of all tangible property, (as supplied by the County Assessor), was $4,679,194.00. To raise $5,460.00 would require a mill levy of 1 1/6 mills.

To interpret these figures into terms easily applied, this means a tax of only 56 cents for each $1,000.00 of actual or market value of property.

PLEASE REMEMBER: — The $65,000 Bond Issue is for the purpose of building a swimming pool — bath house — fence — complete with all necessary equipment.

NO ADDED FUNDS WILL BE ALLOTTED or Needed For This Purpose!

NOTE: SURVEY OF SWIMMING POOLS IN SIMILAR COMMUNITIES INDICATES THAT OPERATING AND MAINTENANCE COSTS ARE PAID FOR OUT OF REVENUE. THUS — NO DEFICIT WOULD ACCRUE.
