Plattsmouth 3rd in Twin Rivers Meet; Toothaker, Stewart Win

Plattsmouth High placed third Tuesday in the Twin Rivers Conference track and field meet at Beatrice.

It was the school's highest finish in the eight years the conference has had the meet. Coach Cecil McKnight of Plattsmouth said.

School totals were: Beatrice 83 1/6, Falls City 41 1/6, Plattsmouth 38 1/6, Fairbury 34 1/2, Crete 33 2/3 and Nebraska City 9 1/3.

Plattsmouth got blue ribbon performances from Larry Toothaker in the mile and Jim Stewart in the 200-yard dash.

The Blue Devils' mile relay team ran the best race any team ever ran in the event for Plattsmouth, but had to settle for second place at 3:41.6.

Toothaker won the mile by 10 yards with a great stretch kick to turn in a mark of 4:38.2, bettering the conference record of 4:43.7 which had stood since 1957.

It was Toothaker's best time, beating his previous 4:43.7, and one of the better times in the state this season.

Stewart won the 200 in :23.6, ran 4th in the 100 at :10.5 and took 4th in the broad jump with 19-8 1/2, his best competitive effort this season.

Plattsmouth took seconds in the 100, 200, 880 relay and mile relay.

Jim Hurst placed second in the 100, running :10.2 for his top effort.

Brian Nelson finished second in the 880. He ran 2:06 compared with the winning 2:05 by Ray Goodenough of Beatrice.

Nelson needed a great finish to place second after three runners boxed him in on the first back turn of the second lap.

In the mile relay, Plattsmouth's time was the third best in the state this season by a Class B school, behind Imperial's 3:36 and Holdrege's 3:38.2. Beatrice won Tuesday, running 3:33.5 for a conference mark.

Individual quarters in the race for Plattsmouth were: Jim Shown, :56.2; Lee Hackler, :57; Nelson, :54.5 and Toothaker, :54 —3:41.6.

Multiflora Rose Still Available

LINCOLN — Some 90 per cent of planting stock distributed free by the Nebraska Game Commission is now in the hands of Co-operators and ready for planting, reports Clarence Newton, land-management project leader.

Multiflora rose is still available for distribution in approximately the eastern third of the state.

Youngsters, particularly 4-H and FFA groups, have been among the most active in the "building homes for wildlife" project, Newton said. As groups and individuals, they have been planting wildlife cover on their farms and those of others.

Multiflora rose is available to those landowners interested in establishing hedgerows, adding to shelter belts, or farmstead windbreaks, and any other planting from which wildlife will benefit.

Persons interested in spring plantings should contact Clarence Newton, Nebraska Game Commission, Wildlife Building, Lincoln 9.

Tips Given for Safe Use of Pesticides

LINCOLN — Farmers often ask what they should do to be sure they are using their pesticides safely. Here is the answer provided by the Farm Division of the National Safety Council and the National Agricultural Chemicals Association.

First — read the label on the pesticide container — follow the instructions and heed all the cautions.

Second — store pesticides where children, pets and irresponsible people can't get into them. A good way is to keep them in a locked shed or closet, away from food and feed.

Third — keep pesticides in their original, labeled containers. This way everyone who sees the container will know what it contains.

Fourth — dispose of empty containers promptly and in a way that will pose no hazard to humans, animals or valuable plants.

Channel Catfish, Buffalo Records State's Oldest

LINCOLN — The oldest Nebraska fish records, those of the channel catfish and buffalo, date back to 1944, reports the Nebraska Game Commission.

The channel cat weighed 31 1/2 pounds and was caught by Bob Nquist of Broken Bow, in Lake Ericson. The world record is only 11 pounds more.

Six record fish were taken in 1959: 9-pound, 14-ounce largemouth bass; 3 1/2-pound smallmouth bass; 19-pound freshwater drum; 25 1/2-pound northern pike, and 16-pound 1-ounce walleye. The sixth was the record-tying buffalo.

State's Wildlife Federal Aid Fund Use Described

LINCOLN — Like to know who gets the wildlife federal-aid funds given to Nebraska?

Pheasants and geese, antelope and deer, are the big recipients of Nebraska's share of federal excise taxes against firearms, ammunition, and most fishing tackle, says the Game Commission.

Ring-necked living in research areas in Clay and Fillmore counties are intensively observed by Game Commission personnel with federal funds. All aspects of the life history and ecology of the birds are being studied under a 10-year program designed to obtain information on integrating pheasant requirements with an economically sound land-use program.

A federally-sponsored project to improve goose gunning along the Missouri River consists of work at the Plattsmouth Waterfowl Management Area. Approximately 1,240 acres were cultivated in 1959, and a penned flock of domestic Canada geese added to decoy wild migrants into the refuge.

Under the antelope and white-tailed deer project, nucleus populations of antelope and deer are being established in portions of Nebraska by trapping and transplanting. The purpose is to accelerate the establishment and build-up of these species in suitable range which does not now support optimum populations. Last year's was a record transplant of 560 antelope.

Major improvements in the form of administration and residence buildings, dikes and control structures, and six irrigation wells, were added to the Sacramento Wildlife Development Project in Phelps County. The area was also bench leveled for irrigation. It is one of South Nebraska's best hunting areas for mallards and pheasants, but is neglected by the enemy of the wild.

The third year of coturnix planting was also conducted under federal aid. Although this is the final year of stocking, studies into the survival and adaptation of the birds will continue.

Roadside nesting studies, development of Two Rivers and Burchard recreation areas, and fishery inventory and investigations are also conducted with federal-aid funds.

'Morning Calm' Land Has Had Much Violence

For a land of "Morning Calm," Korea has managed to incorporate a good deal of violence into her history.

Americans know the divided peninsula as the home of Heartbreak Ridge and Pork Chop Hill, landmarks in the Korean War, and the demonstrations against recent elections won by Syngman Rhee's Liberal party.

But Korea has contributed more than a battleground to world affairs since 1122 B.C., when a Chinese exile founded the kingdom of Chosen, or "Morning Calm."

World Book Encyclopedia reports that the Koreans invented the first movable printing type made of metal, in the late 1300's. They built the first armored boats and used them to fight a Japanese invasion in 1592.

They taught the Japanese how to make the silk for which they became famous and passed on to them the Buddhist culture they had picked up from China.

Other early inventions credited to them include astronomical instruments, a mariner's compass and a suspension bridge.

Korea was given another name after 1598, when she drove out both the Japanese invaders and her own Chinese allies. Disillusioned with foreigners, she shut herself off from the rest of the world and for almost 300 years was known as "The Hermit Kingdom."

Major improvements in the form of administration and residence buildings, dikes and control structures, and six irrigation wells, were added to the Sacramento Wildlife Development Project in Phelps County.

The area was also bench leveled for irrigation. It is one of South Nebraska's best hunting areas for mallards and pheasants, but is neglected by the enemy of the wild.
