Good-Neighbor Deed Puts Bite On This Man

Sometimes it just doesn't pay to help a neighbor. At least that's what "Bill" Diekmann of Manley might say.

Last week he was painting a neighbor's house when he stirred up a nest of hornets under an eave.

The insects objected to the project in their usual vehement manner with the result that Bill was badly stung about the face.

Mrs. Diekmann applied ice as first aid and drove her husband to the doctor in Louisville.

It's safe to say that "Bill" was no beauty when he made his every Friday trip to Plattsmouth.

Enjoys Pleasant Outing in Southwest

Miss Minnie Guthmann has returned from a very pleasant summer vacation that covered from the lakes and farms of Wisconsin to one of the United States' oldest settlements, Santa Fe, New Mexico.

She was accompanied by Mrs. Henry Guthmann of Boise, Idaho, on the outing and joined by Frank Guthmann, of the Valley National bank of Tucson, Ariz., nephew of the ladies, who has been attending banker's meeting at Chicago. They drove through to Santa Fe, where Joseph Guthmann, son of Mrs. Henry Guthmann, is one of the prominent attorney's of northern New Mexico.

They found Santa Fe a wonderful and historic spot, many of the business houses having signs of their establishment hundreds of years ago in Spanish and Mexican control. One stated it was established in 1607, long before the Pilgrims came to New England. Another business place was established in 1740.

After a visit in Santa Fe Frank Guthmann continued on to Tucson and the ladies returned by train to Nebraska, finding travel very heavy. They were met at Omaha by Mrs. Louis Ward Egenberger and Miss Laura Meisinger.
