FESTIVE TEA-PARTY
 Here's a non-intoxicating Punch, to give p.m. parties a scintillating holiday mood: Combine 2 cups sugar, 2 cups water, 6 whole cloves, 3 sticks cinnamon and 1 Tbsp. diced candied ginger. Simmer 6 minutes, stirring constantly. Strain, cool and store in gas refrigerator. Just before the company comes, stir in 1 1/2 cups grape juice and 1/2 cup orange juice. (In each case, canned or frozen varieties will do.) Now, add 3 cups strong, cold tea. Pour over a block of ice in your prettiest punch bowl: Yield: 12 cups of punch. You'll find it's a perfect companion to your favorite holiday cookies!

SPRING IN NOVEMBER
 Have you put in one of those marvelous gas heat-and-cooling units? My, I hope so! All winter long, air stays clean, pure and filtered. That single gas unit (that does both jobs so well) is noiseless, trouble-free, completely dependable. It's easy to see why so many home contractors insist on installing the modern gas heating-cooling system. But an older home can have one, too! Just ask your local gas company or gas heating contractor.

HOLIDAY HAT
 Have some fun... get out last year's Christmas trimmings and make yourself the gayest hat in town! Cut down an old green or red felt chapeau. Trim it with imitation holly, tiny glitter-balls, or velvety poinsettias. Add bits of beads or sequins, and some veiling. You'll have an outrageous flatterer—with little or no cash-outlay!

PARTY-TIME PRECAUTION
 Now that holiday parties and family get-togethers lie just ahead, some little somebody's certain to come home with gum on his clothing! Mrs. Ivert Green of Minneapolis, Minn., claims an ice-cube, rubbed on the fabric's underside, makes it possible to peel off the gum on top.

PILGRIM CAKE
 Bake a packaged cake in two round pans. Cool, and cut one "circle" in half. Fit one directly under the "chin" of the whole circle; put the other above, for a curve-top hat. Frost hat and collar in white; whole circle (or face) in pink. Add toasted coconut hair, cherry mouth, chocolate-drop eyes—and a row of chocolate buttons down the collar. Isn't she cute? Tasty, too.

GIVE A LIFT
 Sometimes it's more convenient to bake Angel or Chiffon cake in a loaf-pan for company. But how to invert it? Spring clothspins can become "legs" in a jiffy, according to Mrs. Joe Silvia of Minnesota. (A large oblong pan needs at least 10 "legs" to stand safely.)

GOING FORWARD
 Natural gas goes ahead! More than 32 million customers use natural gas for fuel in homes, industries and business! If you're not using this up-and-coming servant, you've missed one of our century's blessings. Northern Natural Gas Company pipes it to your community; your local gas company will pipe it to you. And your whole family will enjoy better living, 365 days a year!
