.. about the Weather

What is the normal path of high pressure areas across the United States? Do you know whether your home is on one of the "main routes?"
With fall coming on and more high pressure areas expected, it is good to know the path of these fair-weather systems. Generally speaking, they always travel east. They move in over the United States from California, and that vicinity and move almost due east, in the southern part of the country.
Some cross in near the Washington and Philadelphia. Others come in over the Great Lakes region and move out to sea above New York.
Cold systems, unlike warm fronts, move generally down country, slightly, as they cross the country. Their center seldom crosses lower Texas or Florida peninsula. From now through the winter you will experience more and more of them.

For the wedding of Miss Joyce Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Myrl Miller, and Merle Backemeyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Backemeyer, all of Elmwood, which took place Sunday evening, Nov. 27, cathedral candles and arrangements of bronze-toned chrysanthemums decorated the chancel of the Peter Van Fleet Methodist Church at Elmwood.
The lines of the 7:30 o'clock service were read by the Rev. James Hansen.
Wearing alike frocks of organza in the parison brown shade were Miss Donna Miller of Plattsmouth, as maid of honor, and bridesmaids, Miss Karen Howe, of Alvo, and Mrs. Dean Crewdson, Lincoln. They carried Fujii chrysanthemums in the copper and bronze tones.
Roxanne Robbins, of Wahoo, was the flower girl, and ring-bearer was Scot Backemeyer.

tiny pearls and paillettes, and the width of the silk skirt was emphasized by an overskirt of the lace draped at the back by a large taffeta rose and extending into a chapel train. Her silk illusion veil was held by a crown of jeweled blossoms and she carried a white Bible ornamented with a white orchid and yellow sweetheart roses.

40 Year Bus Service To Discontinue

After more than 40 years of business in Plattsmouth, Clarence Cotner will retire after Dec. 1. He and his son Don operate the Cotner Bus Lines, making daily trips to Omaha and return.
On Oct. 5, 1920 Mr. Cotner purchased the taxi of Charles Tilson beginning his "bus service", and in July 1926 he bought a nine passenger bus, commonly referred to as the "Toonerville Trolley."

During the war years the bus dispatched 2,400 riders daily to and from the Martin Bomber Plant.

In 1947 he expanded to a 29 passenger Buick Bus (the present operating bus) and took his son Don as a partner, a Navy veteran.

Prior to this time Mr. Cotner was always the driver, and has the distinction of 40 years driving with no accidents. The past three years he has been an inactive driver due to his health.

Mr. Cotner has always made his home here. The discontinuing of the bus service will be greatly felt by the communicants.

No definite plans are in store for the two Cotner families. Both men will enjoy a rest, since vacations have been an impossibility in the past.

Cuba is so close to the United States that in normal times Cubans can easily fly to Miami or Key West, shop, and return home the same day. The 750-mile-long island was discovered by Christopher Columbus just two weeks after his first landfall in the New World. After centuries of Spanish rule, Cuba became independent in May, 1902.

Since then, the turbulent republic has witnessed the flight or deposition of nine presidents. About 6,500,000 people live on the island which is the world's largest sugar cane producer.

The Nebraska University of the 1850's did not have a calm and peaceful existence as a school before its abandonment and subsequent inclusions in the Crete school. Its first establishment was in part a gesture to develop a center in the new territory that could claim and gain the territorial Capitol for the new settlement at Fontenelle. This hope in part provided for its name.

The school operated successfully for a time. However, a fire in 1865, destroying the main building of the school dealt it a blow from which it never recovered.

There was an attempt to continue the school after the fire, but decisions on the location of the state Capitol, the location of the railroad to miss Fontenelle and the fire were too much for the college to survive.

In 1869 and 70 the Congregational General Association voted first to withdraw support from the Fontenelle School, and then appointed a committee to study higher education.

This committee recommended the establishment of Doane College, and Nebraska University ceased to be.

Sheep Health Clinic Dec. 10

LINCOLN — Nebraska sheep producers will have an opportunity to learn more about three major sheep disease problems at a sheep health clinic scheduled here Dec. 10 at the College of Agriculture.

Ted Doane, Extension animal husbandman, has announced that state, federal and college authorities in animal health and veterinary medicine will discuss the scabies (scab) eradication program among sheep flocks in the state; external and internal sheep parasites; and the situation on scrapies, a dangerous disease now confronting sheep men. Scrapies is a relatively new disease that affects a sheep's nervous system, Doane explained.

The economic importance of these sheep maladies will be emphasized, Doane said, along with causes and methods of control.

The clinic will get underway at 10:15 a.m. It will be followed at 1 p.m. by the 1960 annual bred ewe sale, sponsored by the Nebraska registered sheep breeders association. This event, also to be held on the agricultural college campus, will feature auction of ewes representing seven breeds — Hampshire, Suffolk, Shropshire, Southdown, Cheviot, Corriedale, and Dorset.

School Boards and Pupils

During school hours, the general education and control of the pupils are in the hands of the school board. This control is exercised through the superintendent, principals, and the teachers. It extends to health, safety and behavior of the pupils while the authority of the parents is temporarily superseded. This is necessary for it is their duty to teach and educate the pupils in their charge.

Each school board has the authority to make the necessary rules for the government and health of the pupils.

It must also devise means to secure the regular attendance and progress of children at school. Under this authority the pupils may be held on the school premises during the school hours.

Those pupils who drive cars can be prohibited from driving their cars during the noon recess. So long as the rules are reasonable and are designed for the purpose of securing the regular attendance and progress of the pupils they are valid.

School hours include the time that pupils are normally in school. The authority of the school board also extends to those periods when the pupils are engaged in a school function outside the school hours. It has also been indicated that this interest of the school board extends to those periods when the pupils are either going to and from school or a school function.

Pupils guilty of gross misdemeanors or persistent disobedience may be suspended or expelled whenever the interest of the school demands it. This is one of the methods the school authorities have to enforce discipline.

Whether or not punishment such as spanking may be used has not been ruled on by the courts of this state, but this would seem to depend on the circumstances. Usually teachers and school authorities may use any reasonable and necessary force to compel obedience to their lawful directions.

At home in trees or on the ground, chimpanzees forage for fruit, nuts, and green shoots. At nightfall they build leafy nests high in the trees. Before turning in, they soothe one another with lullabies, communicating with cries and gestures.

The two towers of the famous Chartres Cathedral are topped by totally dissimilar spires — one Romanesque and one Gothic. The Cathedral was built during a surge of religious fervor in the 12th and early 13th centuries.
