Your Brother's Keeper

Angels adorning Christmas trees in hundreds of homes across the nation will be darkened again this year by the shadow of the Angel of Death.

It is indeed a sad commentary on our present-day culture to note that a time of rejoicing and religious reflection must carry as well the stigma of being a time of killing and maiming.

The disheartening toll of Christmas holiday auto accidents is presented to the public regularly by the press and such organizations as the National Safety Council. Each year drivers are admonished to be extra careful during this extrahazardous period. . . to refrain from mixing drinking and driving. . . to observe more closely all the rules of safe and sane driving.

But how many of us stop to consider the moral and ethical implication of these rules?

We might pause also to reflect upon another rule, invoked more often in the pulpit than on the editorial page: Do unto others as you would have them do unto you.

The Golden Rule appears in the teachings of all faiths — Christian, Jewish, Moslem, Buddhist. . . wherever the obligation of man to God and man to man is recognized.

Safe driving is a cardinal example of the Golden Rule in practice. The moral obligation to drive safely is a logical extension of this consideration.

May we then — taking advantage of the spirit of the season — speak on the plane of morality, and ask that you regard this obligation to yourself and to others when driving during the coming holidays.

As Howard Pyle, president of the National Safety Council, has put it: "Let us be crossroads Christians — on the streets and highways, we literally must be our brother's keeper."

Suits seeking damages in the amount of $66,150 have been filed in the U. S. district court in Omaha. The suits grow out of a car-train accident on October 9th in Cass County and naming the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific railroad and Roy Ensign as co-defendants. Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Zabel of Murdock and Hazel Grubb of Demopolis, Alabama, are plaintiffs. The trio were riding in a car that was struck by the train. They allege that no warning was given of the approaching train, no signs at the crossing, vision of the tracks was obstructed by tall weeds — Hunters on a large island in the Missouri river near this city, killed a 710 pound hog grown wild through two years of wandering. The hog was one of a litter of hogs born on the island two years ago, since that time George O. Troop and D. N. Babbitt, owners of the hog have been searching for it all over the island. Some Omaha hunters wandering over the island came on the animal and George Blum of Omaha was the hunter that shot the animal. The dead animal was brought to Plattsmouth and taken to the Long Lockers where John Hobscheidt dressed it and placed it in the lockers — Basketball season was opening at the high school with the opening battle with the South Omaha Packers. Veterans of the squad are Captain Stanley Cole, Merle Dasher, Ray Koubek, Dick Kalasek, John Ahrens, Jon Schuetz, Tom Conis, Bob Wondra, Dick Beverage, Ronald Eiserman, Clifford Kennell will assist in seeing that the Blue and White show well this year — Saturday, December 2nd at Hiawatha, Kansas, occurred the marriage of Miss JoAnn Hynes, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. S. C. Hynes of Gilbertville, Kentucky, and Joseph Noble McMaken, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph G. McMaken of this city. The wedding was very quiet they being attended by Mr. and Mrs. Richard R. Noble of Omaha.

Mrs. Amelia Sherwood, 82, resident of Plattsmouth for many years, died at Omaha where she had made her home for seventeen years. She was born in Greenwich, England, January 17, 1848. She spent her younger years in England and where she was married to Robert Sherwood. Fifty-eight years ago she came to the United States with two children in arms to join Mr. Sherwood who had preceded the family here, and for many years was engaged in the shoe business. Mrs. Sherwood was mother of twelve children, eight of whom were living at the time of her death — The junior class of the Plattsmouth high school presented as their class play, "Seventeen," immortal story of Booth Tarkington, a chapter out of life, showing the attitude of youth of that age to the future. Miss Mary Jane Tidball was director of the play. Those of the class taking part were: Edward Wehrlein, Janet Vallery, Helen Virginia Price, James Nowacek, Robert Warren, Helen Wurga, Madge Garnett, Louis Knoflicek, Aulton Rolland, Harold Seay, Anna Knieke, Ralph Timm, Catherine Terryberry, Edward Egenberger. Specialities were given between acts by members of the class, Clarence Troy, Helen Schulz, Eleanor Swatek, Agnes Brix. The music for the evening was furnished by an orchestra composed of Margaret Nelson, Gwendolyn Hansen, Clarence Troy, William Henrichsen, Cecil and James Comstock, Otto Stodola, Kenneth Armstrong — Mr. and Mrs. Joe Wales, of Omaha, former resident of Plattsmouth, were badly injured while returning home after visiting here with her mother, Mrs. Josephine Kalasek and family. The car in which they were returning home was overturned in the loose gravel near Oreapolis. The accident was revealed when Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Ghrist, returning from Omaha found the overturned car along the roadside. Mrs. Wales was caught in the car and Mr. Wales, with his face covered with blood from a gash in the cheek endeavoring to extricate the wife from the car. The injured parties were brought on to Plattsmouth where they were attended. The Omaha couple were later returned by taxi to their home in Omaha.

Fertilizer Investment

LINCOLN — Farm wage rates have increased more than 300 per cent since 1940, whereas fertilizer prices have gone up only 55 per cent. And, farm real estate prices have risen 140 per cent and farm machinery costs have gone up 106 per cent.

These contrasting trends in the farm "cost-price squeeze" situation have been cited by agricultural observers as backing up the use of more fertilizer.

The phrase, "I can't afford to fertilize with prices going down," is discounted by the Midwest Division of the National Plant Food Institute. Usually, fertilizer applications reduce per unit costs of production, it is pointed out. And profits can be maintained under dropping prices only when output is produced at lower per unit costs.

"Regarding plant food use, the question should more nearly be, 'Can I afford not to fertilize?'" the Institute believes. As an example, about $2.5 profit is returned for each $1 invested in fertilizing wheat, according to several Kansas tests.

Seat Belt Could Save A Life!

Christmas gift suggestion for the man who has everything — almost:

Buy him (or her, if your friends a hep woman driver) an auto seat belt. It could mean a really merry Christmas for someone — by saving a life!

"The motorist who has everything (except a seat belt, that is) could wind up with nothing but trouble if he gets in a traffic accident," said the National Safety Council.

The Council, a nongovernmental agency organized in 1913 to prevent all kinds of accidents, heartily endorses seat belts at Christmas — or any other time of the year, for that matter.

"Seat belts," it said, "are the No. 1 device now to reduce the number of traffic deaths and injuries.

Elmwood School Notes

ELMWOOD (Special) — Nov. 17, 18 and 19, I was privileged to receive the honor of attending the Nebraska Music Educators Clinic at North Platte.

The group of 500 singers, 200 band members and 200 orchestra members stayed the three days at private homes. We practiced all morning and most of the afternoon every day. On Friday night, there was a concert and mixer held for the students attending. Saturday afternoon a dress rehearsal was held in the Junior High Auditorium.

The big night came and everything went perfectly. The orchestra played, the chorus, of which I was a member, sang its nine numbers and then the band played. I really felt sorry to leave. Everyone had worked very hard.

I would like to give credit to Miss Margaret Hillis, the chorus director. Miss Hillis had directed the Chicago Symphony Orchestra, the New York Philharmonic and the Symphony of the Air. She did a wonderful job and was responsible for some beautiful music.

I really had a wonderful time. — Gary Clements.

Dec. 8, Thursday, at 8 p.m., the Elmwood Elementary School will present its annual operetta, "When Toys Come To Life."

This is directed by Eunice B. Stock.

It is a happy Christmas story which you will enjoy. There is no admission charge.

"Use of seat belts by every driver — and the day may come when this will be nearer reality — could cut the traffic death toll by 5,000 a year, the number of injuries 80 per cent.
