Jerald Heim

In the announcement to Don Hansen, high school vocational agriculture instructor, Glen Strain, State FFA Advisor said, "I am happy to inform you that Jerald Heim is being selected as one of the Star Farmers of Nebraska. This is one of the highest awards made in the State each year, and you can be justly proud."

Only four of the over 5,000 FFA members in Nebraska are selected by the State Association of the Future Farmers of America to receive this honor. One of the four selected Area State Star Farmers will receive the award of State Star Farmer. The award is based upon Jerald's outstanding achievements during his four years of work in vocational agriculture in the Plattsmouth High School.

Jerald is presently president of the local chapter of FFA and has been active in showing his purebred Yorkshire hogs at the state fair for the past three years.

After graduation from high school this spring he will continue to rent land and farm. His farming program has consisted of swine, wheat, corn, soybeans and oats.

School Bd. Hears Plea For Vo-Ag

The Plattsmouth School Board Monday night at its regular meeting heard objections to announced discontinuation of the vocational-agriculture program at the High School.

A delegation of persons interested in continuing the program was present.

The Board agreed to investigate feasibility of ideas presented for continuing the program—one was that space outside the school plant be rented for the program.

Discontinuation, the Board had said, was necessary in order to secure classroom space for next year's influx of students.

The Board's Buildings and Grounds Committee reported spirea bushes were to be purchased for planting on the upper and lower playground areas at Central School.

Russell Nielsen said, weather permitting, Boy Scouts will do the planting April 15.

The Board approved the contract of Mrs. Gloria Noell as an elementary teacher.

Tuesday, April 18, was set as a meeting date for the Finance Committee to begin work on the 1961-62 school budget.

St. John's School Honors Athletes

The third annual St. John's athletic banquet was held at St. John's auditorium Tuesday at 6:30 p.m. Thirty-one athletes and their parents were the honored guests.

The auditorium lights were decorated with red and white Chinese coolie hats and the stage curtain had a large red Jaybird, the team emblem, as a central theme, flanked by the word "Jays" in large red letters.

The letters which were later given to the athletes were also fastened to the stage curtain.
