Q T's 4-H Club

The 4-H Q T's Club held an all day work shop meeting for their Year-End Breads Project April 3 at the home of their leader Mrs. Frank Nickels.

The meeting started at 9 a.m. so member's could complete the full process of bread baking at the meeting.

Ellen Winscot baked white bread, Velda Nickels baked whole wheat bread, Carol Dasher made the standard roll recipe, and Mary Smith made the richer roll dough.

From the standard roll recipe, the girls made clover leaf rolls, fantans, crescents and other specialty rolls. A Swedish tea ring and a cinnamon loaf were made from the richer roll dough.

The girls really enjoyed working together and this work shop gave the advantage of learning first hand the procedure of bread baking. They especially enjoyed making the specialty rolls and Swedish tea ring. They also enjoyed judging the finished products.

At the close of the meeting they served the tea ring for lunch, all agreed it was delicious proving again that the proof of the pudding is in the eating.

The next meeting will be April 24 at Carol Dasher's, the lesson to be on sewing projects — reporter, Velda Nickels.

Legion To Sponsor Junior, Midget Baseball again

There'll be American Legion Junior and Midget baseball here again this year.

Plattsmouth Post 56 of the American Legion met Thursday night and voted to sponsor the baseball program again.

Clark Finney, manager last year, will manage again this year. He was presented a citation for service in the baseball program, by Commander Kenneth Young.

Reports were heard from James Begley, chairman of the Americanism Committee, on Boys and Girls County Government Day this Wednesday; Service Officer Alva Linder; E. O. Vroman, member of the Citizens Advisory Committee on Schools; and Art Warga, on Finance and Sick Call.

Clem Krolecki who was injured in a tractor accident several months ago was present.

Young announced a meeting of the Cass County Legion would be held in Louisville April 28 at 8 p.m.

Boys 14 Also In Baseball Program Here

There have been many requests from boys 14 to play in the Summer Recreation Baseball Program here.

Because of this, Director Ray Simons said today, a decision was made to change the age limits.

Boys can participate who will not be older than 14 by Dec. 31, 1961.

The younger age requirement is at least 7 years of age by Jan. 1.

Entries must be in at the Chamber of Commerce Office by April 15.

Emergency Feed Data Gathered

LINCOLN — Information as to how the new Emergency Feed Grain Legislation will apply in Nebraska should be available in about three weeks, according to the State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office here.

Therefore farmers are urged to withhold questions until specific details of the program have been established at the county and state levels, according to Wilfred Askew, State ASC office manager. In fact, work on the new program will be speeded up if farmers refrain from contacting local ASC offices at this time.

County ASC committees over the state now are gathering information which will be used to determine the basis of payments to farmers on land taken out of production of corn or grain sorghum for grain fodder or silage.

Under the new program, farmers who wish to participate must divert at least 20 per cent of their base acreage of corn and grain sorghum to soil-conserving uses. Cooperators also may divert land in excess of 20 per cent.

The payment on land diverted from production of corn and grain sorghum will be based on the individual farm in relation to other farms in the community and county.

Basis of the actual payment will be county average yields for corn and grain sorghum, the price support for corn and grain sorghum in the county, and the productivity of the soil on each farm.

Present indications are that the national average corn support price will be 14 cents above a year ago and grain sorghum will be 41 cents a hundred pounds above a year ago.

The farmer who does not participate in the program will not be eligible for price support on corn, grain sorghums, oats, barley, or rye of the 1961 crop.

26 March Traffic Deaths

Twenty-six persons died as a result of traffic accidents in Nebraska during March. This figure brought Nebraska's traffic death toll for the year to 62, compared with 44 or the same period last year. Twelve deaths were recorded during March of last year.

Col. C. J. Sanders, Nebraska Safety Patrol, in commenting on the March and 1961 increase in traffic deaths, stated that this increase was evidence of the twenty per cent increase in traffic this year over last year and an "open" winter with better weather and road conditions.

He added, "Too, this increase over last year is not too far out of line in that we experienced 70 deaths for the same period in 1951, 71 in 1954, 68 in 1955, 76 in 1956, 60 in 1958 and 59 in 1959. And today we have more motor vehicle registrations and drivers than we have had before."

"Of course, any traffic death is one too many—especially when they are due to violations and carelessness of the driver. If Nebraska is to have a successful traffic-wise year, motorists are going to have to observe all traffic laws and make safe driving a moral responsibility," Col. Sanders said.

The Safety Patrol report showed that 16 of the March total were the result of two-car accidents, 8 deaths were in one-car accidents, 1 was a pedestrian, and 1 was a farm tractor driver.

Seventeen of the March traffic deaths occurred on state highways, 5 were on county roads, and 4 were on city streets.

Daytime accidents during March accounted for 13 deaths and 13 were the result of nighttime accidents.
