SAC Drill
Team To Be Here Sunday

The Strategic Air Command Drill Team will appear here Sunday as a feature of the Civil War Centennial Co. A. Nebraska Volunteers, Muster-Day observance.

Scheduled to appear at 3 p.m. following the re-enactment of the mustering ceremonies of Nebraska's first Civil War troops, the SAC Drill Team is a hand picked group from the 3902nd Air Police Squadron of Offutt Air Force Base.

The team makes many public appearances at outstanding civic events honoring the military services. Their precision drill performance includes a complete repertoire of drill maneuvers; Queen Anne Salute, Wheel Formation, Spinners, John Square, Counter Marching, and many others. All of these maneuvers are performed with fixed bayonets. The interest of the spectators is always heightened once they become aware of the possibilities of danger that could result from the use of bayonets.

The Drill Exhibition can be tailored to meet the demands of any occasion and regardless of space limitations. The SAC Drill has, on occasion, performed for as long as 20 minutes of continuous drill. The parade routine can also be adapted to any occasion.

The Team is composed of 21 members, all of whom were picked for excellent military bearing, appearance and drill precision. In addition the team is accompanied by a four man Color Guard. The Color Guard is well versed in all phases of colors presentation and retreat ceremonies. Normally, they carry the United States and the SAC Colors in all parades in which the drill team participates.

Distinctive in attire, the team is the only one in the United States Air Force which wears an Air Force Blue beret with miniature SAC Crest, and blue web belts accented by a highly polished chrome buckle with SAC Crest. The rifles and bayonets, also highly chromed, are the M-1903A1 Springfield type.

Many hours of hard work go into perfecting the maneuvers which have made this precision drill team nationally known. Summer and winter finds them practicing on the historic parade ground of Old Fort Crook, now the home of the Strategic Air Command.

Formed early in 1957, this group has performed in many of the civic celebrations in cities in Nebraska, Iowa, Kansas, Wisconsin, Minnesota, California, Louisiana, and Florida.
