

Louisville Missilemen on SNAP Firing Mission at Ft. Bliss

6TH MISSILE BATTALION, Omaha—Btry B and D left Sunday by commercial air from Lincoln AFB for Ft. Bliss, Texas, with 40 men each to participate in a Short Notice Annual Practice (SNAP).

The Batteries are stationed at Louisville and Davey, Nebraska respectively.

The two batteries are components of the 6th Missile Battalion (NIKE HERCULES), 43d Artillery. While at Ft. Bliss the batteries will each fire one Nike Ajax and one Nike Hercules. The 6th Msl Bn is armed with the second generation Nike missile-Nike Hercules and has the responsibility of Army Air Defense of the Omaha-Lincoln area against aerial attack. Headquarters is at North Omaha Air Force Station.

An "Operational Understanding" trip by 34 University of Neb. faculty members and local Lincoln citizens will have a chance to observe SNAP in exercise when they journey to Ft. Bliss 13-14 for briefings on Army Air Defense and observation of missile firings by SNAP units. The units they watch will not be components of the Omaha-Lincoln Defense.

The SNAP program was undertaken at the missile range last July. Units, accustomed for years to annual return visits to the range for refresher practice firing of missiles against aerial targets for which months of advance warning was given, now were placed on continuous alert for practice firings. Advance notice was slashed to 48 hours prior to departure for McGregor Range, New Mexico, for practice.
