Dig Those Crazy Cats!

Two musicians from Faribault, Minn., on a road circuit tour probably will remember their visit to Plattsmouth Tuesday evening for some time to come.

The men, enroute to Hastings, Nebr., by car, stopped off for the evening in Plattsmouth. They had in tow a trailer which contained an organ insured for $5,000. As the night progressed, the men decided to unhook the trailer and after doing so drove about Plattsmouth, spending the night sleeping in their car.

Wednesday afternoon, they decided to leave Plattsmouth but couldn't remember on what hill they had parked the trailer. After a vain search they contacted the sheriff's office for assistance.

A search of the city hills failed to produce the missing trailer with its valuable cargo, so the search spread out to adjoining county roads.

About 6 p.m. Wednesday, the trailer with its load intact was found parked six miles South of Plattsmouth on the Rock Bluff road where the men had unhooked it the night before.

The men were allowed to continue after the sheriff's office relieved them of one of two sets of 1962 Minnesota license plates found in the car and a check had been made with Minnesota authorities.
