Conis Tells of Guatemala Trip

George Conis Tuesday noon told fellow Rotarians about a trip he took to visit his daughter and family in Guatemala City, Guatemala.

He said he found the "man in the street" friendly and pro-America. "You don't have to worry about the Communists there," he said.

Conis told of the five-day Independence Day celebration, the holiday being Sept. 15. During that time he met the president of Guatemala and took part in dedication of a housing development.

He said he found the climate delightful, with temperatures varying between 60 and 80 degrees and farmers growing three crops of corn a year.

He said he attended Rotary Club meetings in Guatemala City and was made to feel welcome, although the whole affair is conducted in Spanish. He testified to the unifying spirit of Rotary.

His son-in-law is in the diplomatic service in Guatemala City.

Guests at the Rotary meeting here Tuesday were John B. Peterson, Ashland farmer, and Jerome Shellenbarger, son of club president C. E. Shellenbarger.

High School Rotarians the past month told of their plans—Jim Waterman to study teaching at the University of Nebraska in the fall and Larry Engelkemier to study agricultural engineering, also at the University.

Scouts Urge: Aid Good Turn For Goodwill

Boy Scouts will be doing another good turn March 3 when they will leave Good Will Bags at Plattsmouth door steps.

They are asking citizens to do a good turn and join in helping the handicapped at Goodwill Industries.

When a Scout leaves a bag at your home, won't you help him to do his biggest Good Turn of the year? Fill a bag, with your discarded clothing and shoes, and leave it on your porch. If you do not get a bag, fill a box and mark it for the Scouts.

Pick-up day is Saturday, March 10.

In addition to the aid to Goodwill, William Spradlin Scoutmaster, asks that contributors give their papers and magazines as an extra good-will offering to assist Troop 94 in financing an achievement of Religious Award.

The meeting was opened by the president, Ronda Coulter, with the flag salute and pledge. Roll call was "My Favorite TV Program."

Laura Parsons and Carolyn Piner demonstrated making of yeast rolls, later served to the group.

Rogene Coulter demonstrated how to pin and baste.

Mrs. Piner's class made a pin cushion.

Mrs. Parson's class learned to make cording and how to quilt. They also discussed french seams and a continuous placket made by Sheila Baker.

Refreshments were served by Laura Parsons.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Woods are both home from the hospital now, returning home Saturday. Mr. Woods underwent surgery and Mrs. Woods was a patient following the breaking of her left arm.
