

Class of 1922 Has Reunion

WEeping WATER (Special) — The Class of 1922 held a reunion at the Alumni Banquet at the Cass County Auditorium. Mrs. Rasmus Lauritzen gave the toast for the class. She introduced the class, Hazel Pool of Lincoln, Marie Fitzpatrick Duncan of Nebraska City, Ruth Ranney Lingo of Blair, Richard Spohn of Lincoln, Florence Spangler Coon of Mason City, Iowa, Doris Ambler Coppinger of Lincoln and Mrs. Lauritzen.

Following the banquet the members of the class went to the Ramus Lauritzen home for an evening of visiting. The husbands of the women were also guests and Eloise Pool of Lincoln.

Each member of the class brought pictures of their families and told of events of their lives.

Mrs. Lauritzen brought out the yearbook of 1922 (the first yearbook published at the Weeping Water high school). Lunch was served but everyone was visiting so much that very little was eaten.

Mrs. Lauritzen was the editor-in-chief of the first annual.

Busy Homemakers

The meeting of the Busy Homemakers 4-H Club was called to order by Janice Meisinger. Songs were led by Mrs. Wayne Hendrick, after the flag salute.

Roll call was, "Why we would be glad for school to be out."

Marilyn Vinduska gave a junior leader's report on "judging containers for freezing."

Pat Meisinger gave a report on "dealing with courtesies with you and me."

Mrs. Henry Vinduska told the girls about the workshop May 29. They were to start in Weeping Water; and then go to Syracuse after lunch for the rest of the workshop.

Next meeting will be June 14 at 1:30.

Roll call will be "What we are going to do this summer."

The 4-H girls attended church on Rural Life Sunday. They also invited other clubs to attend with them.

Demonstrations were: Carol and Janice Cole, How to make an apron; Elynn Meisinger, Foods Needed in Our Daily Diet; Mary Lochman, Facilities for Trash Disposal.

The older girls prepared asparagus and rhubarb for freezing.

The younger girls judged flower arrangements.

Mrs. Vinduska showed the girls how to make pictures out of figurative cloth or drapery material.

Mary and Mrs. Joe Lochman and Nancy and Mrs. C. A. Tilson served lunch.

Next meeting's hostesses are Anie and Elynn Meisinger. — reporter, Nancy Tilson.
