Avocans from Europe Seek Citizenship

AVOCA (Special) — Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kover, Avoca, said recently they like the United States and want to become citizens. They are from Austria and Hungary.

The couple has three sons—Mike, 17; Joe Jr., 12, and Daniel, 6. Kover is a carpenter.

The Kovers and Mike came to the U. S. in 1950 and Wednesday went to Nebraska City to be fingerprinted to apply for citizenship.

Kover worked for the U. S. Air Force in Austria and could speak English when they came to this country. Mrs. Kover worked as a censor in Austria for the U. S. She speaks Yugoslavian, German, Austrian, Greek and Russian.

Both have brothers and sisters living in Europe. The Kovers are also applying for citizenship for Mike. If the parents become citizens, the children born here won't need to be naturalized.

The couple says the first problem they encountered on arrival here was proper spelling and pronunciation of the name "Kover." At the time, Mrs. Kover spoke no English. The name was changed to "Koever" and then back to "Kover."

Mike is a 1962 graduate of Avoca High School. He's anxious to get his citizenship papers and enlist in the Air Force.
