Mr. and Mrs. Ardon Ruhmann visited Friday evening at the Jerry Paasch home near Union. I am sure most everyone has read the story of the Lazy Farmer, so I would like to end today's news about the story of the Fishing Farmer—Charles Mead.

It seems a few of his Murray friends are to "quote him, contributing to the delinquency of an old man" by supplying him most of the time with minnows for fishbait. And now the weather seems to be a contributing factor, also, after deluging this area with rain over the weekend, so that fisherman Charlie need not feel that he is guiltily neglecting his farm duties in participating in his favorite sport.

"What pond or creek does he cast his reel into," you might ask. Well—that is his deep dark secret.

How nice Mr. Mead has a good sense of humor!
