

High School Library Notes:

By Mrs. Mildred Stewart
There are so many important dates and events in the month of October that it was interesting to fix the new Bulletin Boards. The fine display letters arrived and show up nicely, in white ceramic material.

Some of the important days and weeks were: Oct. 12 - Columbus Day with the actual story of his trip entitled "Greatest Voyage Ever Made," National Newspaper Week, the 3rd week; National Bible Week, Oct. 15-21, with the National caption "The Bible Builds Bridges;" Fire Prevention Week; United Nations Day, Oct. 24, with several good pamphlets and two library books; Coyle's "The United Nations and How It Works" and Eichelberger's "UN - The First Fifteen Years," on display. The east stairway was attractively planned for the Halloween

Grandson Will Not Regain Eyesight

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Rhoades received the sad news last week that after examination by an ophthalmologist at the John Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore, there is no hope that their grandson, Marlin Marsh, 15, of Houston, Tex., will regain his eyesight.

Marlin lost his sight suddenly in August and after teams of specialists had worked with him it was decided to take him to Baltimore for a consultation with a specialist in neuro-optic pathways.

The diagnosis was that Marlin has probably come into contact with a chemical poisoning that has destroyed his optic nerves.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Marsh, 919 Ogilvie Street, Houston. His mother is the former Gladys Rhoades, a 1943 graduate of the Plattsmouth high school. The Marsh family visited here last Christmas.

Other recent new additions are: Emmet's Aeronautics & Astronautics; Life World Series The Arab World; Tropical Africa; India; Israel; and Japan; American Heritage Junior Library Series - Steamboats on the Mississippi; Great Days of the Circus; and D-Day, The Invasion of Europe; for the Reference Shelf - South Africa and India; Graves' Greek Gods and Heroes; and other excellent additions.

The Junior High teachers and students have been doing a splendid job in using the Library for term papers and research papers on such subjects as: Civil Defense; Juvenile Delinquency; Japan; Norway; Canada; Horses; Dogs; Communism; Crime; Democracy, etc.

We are pleased to add to our staff of student assistants the following girls: Marilyn Vinduka, Joann Major, and Fay Garlinger. A little later we may use others as the need arises. $251 worth of new books have been ordered this month.

The use of the Library for October is as follows:
Books on Biography, Literature, government, science, History, Applied Science, 893
Reference books, as Encyclopedias, Dictionaries, Atlases Almanacs, Abridged Reader's Guide 802
Fiction 438
Magazines 1325
Totals 3458

Patrons are most welcome to visit the Library when Open House will be held the evening of American Education Week, Thursday, November 15. Children's Book Week is November 11-17. So let us all be aware that good reading is important with Children and Youth, as well as Adults.

Antique Presented To State Museum

LOUISVILLE (Special) - Mrs. Carl Huffman recently presented an antique earthenware jar to the Nebraska Historical Museum in Lincoln.

It was about eight inches high and six inches across and has a handle and a pouring spout, and was used for buckwheat pancake batter.

Mrs. Huffman's forbears brought it from New York to Wisconsin and then to the Tecumseh area where they settled. It is said to be of the type used in the 1850's.

Jr.-Sr. PTA Has Meeting

Junior-Senior High PTA met Oct. 29 in the Central School Cafeteria. President Fred Fischer presided and asked for volunteers to assist in the hearing tests and asked all to sign a get-well card to be sent to Mrs. R. A. Noell in Murray who is secretary of the unit.

The new by-laws were read by President Fischer and approved by the members.

Superintendent Oscar Musman announced that the only approved area for disaster shelter in the three-building unit which consists of Central, the Auditorium and the High School, was in the Central basement. This will shelter 130 people. There are 1,000 youngsters to shelter, and protect. He asked the PTA to recommend a plan for use in case of disaster.

Joe York, Principal, announced National Education Week is Nov. 11-17. Plans are to hold open house at the high school 7:30 to 10:30 p.m. Nov. 15. Teachers will be in their rooms and he urged all parents to attend. Refreshments will be served by the PTA, and Student Senate members will be guides.

Mr. Musman spoke on the school re-districting. "We of Plattsmouth are not opposed to re-districting, as it is one way to improve the quality of Education," he said. "This particular proposal which is now under discussion is not acceptable because it excludes Plattsmouth School District. Our low evaluation and high mill levy has resulted in this exclusion," he said.

Clair Julian sang two solos, and following this Grant Roberts, co-chairman of the PTA Legislation Committee, explained the State Legislative Amendments to the group. This was followed by a question and answer period.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Daisy Richards, Dorothy Mayes, Otto Weber, Roy Engelkemier, Howard Lindquist, Cliff Ahrens, John Brink, Cliff McGraw, William Christensen and Chas. Warga.

The hobby craft at the next meeting will be making logs for floral arrangements and will be held at the home of Mrs. Orland Stohlmann.

POLITICAL CAMPAIGNS

Political campaigns sometimes get kind of heated, and strong words are spoken on both sides. We've heard it said that this is undignified, that truth becomes distorted, and campaigns ought to be conducted on a higher plane.

That may be true in its way. And you could also add that a rough, hard-fought campaign is a lot harder on the candidates. Still and all, a slam-bang campaign has some things to be said for it.

An old-fashioned political free-for-all makes people listen, if the voices get loud enough. Otherwise they might just be too busy. Most people won't eavesdrop on a private conversation, spoken softly... but it's pretty hard not to listen in on a quarrel where the voices are raised. And when we listen, even though we might have to take some of the claims and counter-claims with a grain of salt, we are reminded that we are a democracy, and that we have a choice to make.

They were assisted by the Woman's Auxiliary to the MOE. Rudy Stoll is the hospital chairman of the Canteen and Norma Wilson, of the Auxiliary. The ladies made 100 Halloween nut cups, as tray favors, which with mints, nuts and napkins, were contributed to the hospital for the patients.
