Calendar: Lions Club, Jan. 28; MYF, Jan. 27.

Jan. 13, Mr. and Mrs. Cloyd Turner of Ashland entertained Mr. and Mrs. John Turner of Lincoln, Mr. and Mrs. Orest Cook and Mr. and Mrs. V. G. Clements. This was in honor of Orest's birthday and the John Turner's wedding anniversary.

The Eastern Star held its regular meeting Jan. 15. The new officers were installed for 1963. The new Worthy Patron and Worthy Matron are Mr. and Mrs. Bert Menchau.

Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Hughes have moved to Lincoln. Their new address is 2915 North 54, Lincoln.

The Fairview Woman's Club met with Mrs. Elbert Miller on Jan. 17. Nine members were present. The Lesson was "Exercises For a Lifetime" and was given by Mrs. Marion Wenzel and Mrs. Dale Miller. They used the record player as an aid in bringing out the lesson.

The Bluebird Club met Jan. 15 at the home of Mrs. Orley Clements. The lesson was "Flag of the U. S. How to Display It and How to Respect It." The "Star Spangled Banner" was read and history of the flag given. Mrs. Charles Marshall was present and told of her trip to Atlanta, Ga., and other places. Assistant hostess was Mrs. Susie Cook and the lunch was very delicious.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kunz and Mr. and Mrs. Orland Bennet and sons were Tuesday evening visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Kirchhoff.

The death of Mrs. James Turner occurred Sunday, Jan. 20th at the Ebeler Nursing Home. Mr. Turner was 85 years of age.

Mrs. Emily Gonzales expects to come home about Feb. 1, having broken her wrist in a fall while at the home of her son, Don Gonzales in Williamsburg, Va.

Rodents Can Do Serious Damage To Young Trees

LINCOLN—Rabbits and mice can cause considerable damage to young trees during the winter and early spring months if you do not apply rodent controls.

Rabbits are capable of girdling trees up to two inches in diameter. They often cut off newly-planted evergreens, leaving the tops lying on the ground, says Karl Loerch, University of Nebraska Extension forester.

Mice also cause considerable damage by girdling. Their work is close to the ground, and usually done under a cover of mulch or snow. One of the best deterrents for mice is a clearly cultivated planting with no protective cover available.

The following means can be used to protect trees from rodent damage: trapping, hunting, poisoning, wrapping the trees, or repellents. All can be effective although wrapping would be limited to a few high value trees.

Probably the most practical control measures involve the use of repellents, Loerch points out. The following materials have proved effective: arasan 42-8; new improved Z.I.P.; seico rabbit and deer repellent; and pater rabbit repellent. These materials can either be brushed on the trees or mixed with water and applied as a spray. Prices range from $3-94 per quart.

Harry S. Truman, former President:

"You never can tell what a congress is going to do. I was there 10 years, and nobody knows what the senate or house will do when the time comes to act."

Benefit Program Held at Elmwood

ELMWOOD (Special) — The Benefit Program was held Saturday, Jan. 19, at the school building. In spite of the extreme cold, a large crowd was present and supper was first thing on the agenda.

In one corner was a fish pond and near by Girl Scouts selling candy, cookies and cakes, others throwing bean bags also a place to play basket ball, conducted by Boy Scouts.

There was a skit by Gwen Vogt, Jeanne Spaulding, Betty Dankleff and the announcer Joan Hill. Three high school girls sang, Marie Rosenow, Judy Reed and Kathy Stubbendick. Each organization in town chose a Mr. and Mrs. Benefit. Dwight and Marjorie Clements were ahead so are King and Queen.

Runnersup were Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Patton and Dr. and Mrs. Glen Knosp. The money will be divided between three causes, Heart, Polio and Cancer Funds.

Game Season's Finished Now

LINCOLN — The state's cottontail and pheasant seasons ended Sunday, Jan. 20, thus bringing all the game seasons in Nebraska to a close.

The Game Commission reminded sportsmen, however, that hunting on fox, coyotes, crows, jack rabbits and other non-protected species remains legal the year around.

Trapping, though, is still under way. The season on beaver and muskrat continues through March 15. They may be taken throughout the state except in areas closed by state and federal law or municipal ordinance.

Carl Johnsons Feted On 62nd Anniversary

EAGLE (Special) — Mr. and Mrs. Carl Johnson Sr. were honored on their 62nd wedding anniversary when their two sons and families and a daughter, the Paul B. Johnson, Junior Johnsons and Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Heier of Alvo, came for a basket dinner Jan. 16.

The Johnsons were married at the home of her parents, Depot Agent and Mrs. Barry who lived in the depot at that time. Attendants were Sam Johnson of Alvo and Ann Towle of Wabash, later Mr. and Mrs. Sam Johnson.

Mrs. Carl Johnson has been quite ill this winter but is considerably improved at this writing.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Schueike of Alvo and a granddaughter, Carlene Johnson, visited the Johnsons on their way home from work in Lincoln.
