car Newsom, and Mr. Edward Hays each presented a brief account on the five objects of PTA, the membership of Columbian PTA, and the Life Membership respectively.

It was noted that the PTA had won two awards this year, a membership recognition award and a progress award.

The program was highlighted by the introduction of the two recipients of the Life Membership which was done by the presentation of two skits, the first written and presented by Mrs. Raymond Smock with the help of Mesdames Hays, Glaze, Bernhardt, Newsom, and Schalk which portrayed the busy and useful life of Mrs. Peter Nettelmann in community and school affairs.

This was followed by the presentation of the membership pin to Mrs. Nettelmann by her husband, and the certificate by Mrs. Smock. A courtroom scene entitled "Day in Court" written by Mrs. Wayne Green, introduced Mrs. Ralph Wehrlein.

Mrs. Beryle Shanholz presided as judge and found the honoree, Mrs. Wehrlein guilty of contributing many outstanding and useful services to her school and community.

She was then sentenced to receiving a Life Membership pin which was presented by her husband, and the certificate presented by Mrs. Shanholz.

Mrs. Nettelmann in closing, gave two very inspiring readings entitled, "The Constitution of the United States" and "The Birthday of Founder's Day" which was followed by the singing of "America The Beautiful" by the group.

Talk about By-Pass, Cedar Creek Road Sought with State

A discussion with the State Dept. of Roads concerning the Highway 73-75 By-Pass and the approach of the Cedar Creek Road to the highway is being sought by the City Council.

An ordinance to pave Cedar Creek Road (Avenue B) was passed recently by the City Council and there was no objection to formation of the district. The city's street maintenance, however, will end about 30 feet from the highway paving at the state's right-of-way line.

The Council is seeking a visit from the Dept. of Roads to talk about the state's paving that short stretch to the By-Pass, about the possibility of turnouts in the area of the Cedar Creek Road because of increased traffic due to opening of Winterset Inn and about the possibility of a reduced speed zone between the Cedar Creek Road area and Highway 66, also because of increased traffic.

CAPITOL CORNER

By Rep Glenn Cunningham

WASHINGTON (Special) — Construction of classrooms continues at a record rate — without Federal aid to education.

Last year 72,000 more new classrooms were built. It is interesting to recall the Presidential message on education to the last Congress, which estimated that 600,000 new classrooms would be needed in the 1960's, or 60,000 new classrooms per year.

Without Federal aid for school construction, the local school boards and the citizens who elect them have not only met this goal, it has been exceeded by 20 per cent.

Republican members of the House who began their service in January 1957 belong to what we call the 85th Club, named after the 85th Congress when we began our service.

I was honored to be elected president of this group for the next two years. It was this group which organized and presented a detailed study of the rules and procedures of the House of Representatives plus concrete suggestions for their updating and improvement last fall.

We plan to make this one of our principal projects during this Congress. Many people in and out of government are concerned about the inefficient operation of the Congress. I am very hopeful that we can lead the way toward many reforms of the rules, some of which date back more than a century.

I was also appointed by the Speaker of the House last week to serve on the U.S. Territorial Expansion Memorial Commission. I will be the only House Republican serving on this body for the next two years.

The Commission was first established in 1934. Among its duties are planning for suitable memorials to the men who made possible the territorial expansion of the United States, particularly Thomas Jefferson and others who negotiated the Louisiana Purchase, the explorers Lewis and Clark, and the hardy hunters, trappers, frontiersmen and pioneers.

While original legislation placed St. Louis as the only site for such memorials, and work is progressing there on a major project financed mainly by private funds, I believe it would be equally important to consider the possibility of other sites within the Louisiana Purchase area, which of course includes all of Nebraska.
