'Talent' Topic
For Fair Board

Discussion by the Cass County Fair Board at its most recent meeting included talent for Fair performance and beautification of the grounds around the auditorium.
The Board "feels there is a lot of talent in Cass County wanting a chance to perform in public, such as boys quartets, girls quartettes, barber shop quartets and vocal and instrumental soloists. It is not known if any remuneration can be made unless organizations or businesses would want to contribute something appropriate to the talent."
The Board "would like to hear from any person or group that would like to help in this enter-ment."
A civic organization has asked to beautify the auditorium grounds and the Board "appreciates this and is giving it consideration, thinking of protection of flowers and shrubs at Fair time."

'Seed Is Key
To Efficient
Crop Production'

LINCOLN—It may be too late for New Year's resolutions but it is not too late to resolve to use only the best seed, says Dean Lancaster, secretary of the Nebraska Crop Improvement Association.
"It is surprising to learn how many farmers go to the trouble and expense to test their soil, apply the fertilizer needed, use herbicides to control weeds, and then use out and soybean seed which has not been tested for either germination or purity," he points out.
In the most recent Nebraska Drill-Box Survey it was found that 41 per cent of the oat samples had not been cleaned or processed. In other words, 4 out of 10 farmers were reseeding all the weed seeds and other crop seeds which were harvested with the crop the previous season. Only 24 per cent of the samples were tested for germination. Approximately 11 per cent of the samples germinated below 90 per cent, and one was as low as 3 per cent.
However, the whole story is not told in the laboratory, Lancaster states. To get the final comparison, the certified and non-certified samples should be tested side by side in the field.
In Nebraska it has been found that on a three-year test average, the certified seed samples yielded 12 per cent more than non-certified seed.
Purdue University found that certified seed wheat averaged 9.5 per cent higher yields than did non-certified. Stated in another way, the average return from the use of certified seed was $6 more per acre than where non-certified seed was used after adjusting for the difference in the price of the seed used.
Another comparison was made at Clemson College, South Carolina. In these studies the investigators found that the certified seed samples from the survey produced 20 per cent more oats, 16 per cent more barley and 13 per cent more wheat than the non-certified seed of the same crop.
With this laboratory and field data all favoring certified seed, any farmer who will take a moment to face up to the preponderance of evidence can ill afford to take chances with seed of unknown quality, Lancaster emphasizes.

VA Issues Flags
In Nebraska

The VA issued 153,183 burial flags during the calendar year 1962 of which 741 were issued in Nebraska. "The total is about 10,000 more than the preceding year when 143,260 were issued A. H. Duxbury, VA Regional Office Manager at Lincoln," said today.
These American flags are used to drape the caskets of deceased veterans with wartime service conditions other than dishonorable, or who served at least one enlistment during peacetime, unless discharged or released from duty for disability in the line of duty.
