'Nebraska Has More than 4,200 Retarded Children'

There are between 4,200 and 5,400 mentally retarded children and adults in Nebraska, recent surveys show, according to Mrs. Robert Morton, director of the Helping Hands School for Retarded Children near Murray. She gave these figures in a talk to members of Plattsmouth Lions Club Tuesday evening. Mrs. Morton, who lives at Union, is a former Nebraska City school teacher. Of the retarded children in the state, she said that they could be divided into three classes, educatable, trainable and totally dependent. There are 3,000 known retarded children in Cass County, she said. The Helping Hands School now has 8 pupils. At one time it had 12 pupils but some have moved away and others have been unable to attend because of problems of travel to and from the school. The students range in age from 6 to 17 years. The school has two full time teachers in addition to Mrs. Morton who acts as director and operates on a budget of $3,500. This fund was raised by their county-wide drive last fall. No state or county funds are available. The teachers are not specially trained for this work as there is now no facility in the state to train teachers for this work. Neither is there any educational help in the state for the retarded children. Mrs. Morton stressed the difference in mental illness and mental retardation. She also told of the overcrowding at the Beatrice State Home at Beatrice where she said there are over 2,400 mentally ill and retarded children. Many of these are in wards with 100 children and only one supervisor. The Helping Hands School will move in the near future to a school building which has been a rural school but which has consolidated with the Weeping Water District. The Weeping Water District will allow them to use the school for a token payment of only $1 per year, she said.

Three members of the Plattsmouth Volunteer Fire Department, on their way home from a Mutual Air fire meeting, Tuesday night saved at least 10 persons from possible death by fire. Bill Brittain, Pete Austin and Leo Hohman were driving back to Plattsmouth about 11:30 p.m. from Ralston where they had attended the meeting when they saw black smoke coming from the Holiday Motel across Highway 73-75 from Wilson Concrete near the junction of the Papiilon Road. They turned around and sped to the motel. The men broke down the door of one motel unit and helped an elderly man who had been sleeping get out; then awoke nine other occupants of units in the 24-unit motel, forcing some doors. Four to six units were destroyed by the fire. Eastern Sarpy County Fire Company (Avery) was called by the Highway Patrol. About 3,500 gallons of water was used to get the fire under control about 2 a.m.

Dr. Amato Bowls 1st 300 Here

Dr. L. A. Amato, whose profession is helping people make the most of their visual capabilities, had his own eye sharp on the pins Wednesday night as he broke the 300 barrier of bowling in Plattsmouth. The 46-year-old optometrist registered the first perfect game ever bowled here. He has been bowling 10 years, the same amount of time the Bowlero has been in operation. His 300, which included several Brooklyn hits which Dr. Amato calls "his best side," followed games of 158 and 164 for Kent's in the Independent League. His total was 622, the most he's ever scored in league bowling. Dr. Amato said he "felt good the whole three games" and had no doubts the last game "from the 9th frame on" despite the fact he was "shaking some" and "had a little trouble letting the ball go," especially on strike No. 12. It was a cross-over and the sound of the Doctor's strike was the only one in the jam-packed Bowlero until the pins all went down. When he got up to throw his last ball, there wasn't another motion in the place as his own league and the league waiting to go on next watched. The perfect game included three or four cross-overs for the right-hander and his hit in the eighth frame was a little light and a kick-back took the last pin down. The Doctor's summation: "A real thrill!" His big game topped his own previous high for the alleys for sanctioned league bowling—a 275 several years ago. P.S. Plattsmouth's new Mr. Bowling wears glasses.

TRANSPORT DEMOLISHED—No one was hurt but a semi-trailer auto transport which had become stalled across the 18th Street (Maiden Lane) crossing of the Missouri Pacific Railroad was demolished when it was struck by a freight train Tuesday about 7:25 a.m. According to the Police Department's report, the truck driver lost his way and drove out West Main to seek the highway. His truck became "high centered" on the tracks when he tried to go north on 18th which has a sharp grade crossing the tracks. He said he put out a flag but the engineer of the eastbound Missouri Pacific train did not see it in time to stop.

TRUCK DRIVER RONALD C. ANDERMAN of Independence, Iowa, looks for belongings in overturned cab of truck which was thrown about 60 feet along the south side of the railroad embankment.

ALSO DEMOLISHED was the automatic crossing signal on the north side of the tracks, evidently leveled by the truck as it was spun around and thrown to the other side. Engineer of the train was W. H. Miller of Falls City. Damage to the front of the Diesel engine was slight.
