99.2 Is 3-Year High Here

By P. J. DINGMAN

It didn't make it up to 100 Monday, ONLY 99.2 degrees. This was the warmest day here since 1911 on July 4, 1960.

Omaha and Columbus recorded 101.

The outlook for the Fourth is for clear skies and a high of about 97, another "unbearable" day.

Drownings Reach 5 with Teen-Aged Girls' Deaths

Cass County's deaths by drowning mounted to five for the year (all last weekend) with the discovery Monday afternoon of the bodies of two Omaha girls, 14 and 15, in a lake at Holman's Beach north of here near the Platte River.

They were Linda Vanlaningham, 15, and Phyllis Russell, 14, believed to have drowned some time Sunday evening.

The girls were last reported seen about 5:30 by an Omaha man who said they were at the lake nearest the highway south of Holman's Tavern.

When they were reported missing Monday morning, Sheriff Fred Tesch and County Surveyor Bill Conkey used the county's equipment to drag the lake with hooks but without result.

Monday afternoon, the bodies were seen floating near the surface of an adjacent lake.

The girls were not reported missing earlier, it was reported, because their families thought they may have left on a trip to Texas with a friend.

They had been taken to the beach by Willie Vanlaningham, Linda's brother, about 5:30 p.m. Sunday. He left soon to return to Omaha for a sister and friend and didn't return until about 7:30, the Sheriff was told.

The girls could not be found then.

Their deaths were preceded by drownings of three other Omahans Saturday and Sunday.

Saturday, Lyle Paulsen, 20, drowned at nearby Merritt's Beach.

Sunday about 4 a.m., Mrs. June Moe, 43, and Carl H. Sporn, 52, drowned at Holman's Beach where they entered after hours. The Sheriff said a cable barring the entrance had been taken down.

The bodies of the Omaha girls were taken to Caldwell Funeral Home here for local arrangements. Funeral services in Omaha were today for Miss Vanlaningham, will be Friday for Miss Russell.

Pastor Wehrmann, Scribner, Honored For Long Service

Members of St. Peter's Lutheran Church of Scribner, Neb., honored their Pastor, Otto Wehrmann on June 30, with a special service for 25 years in their church.

District President Frederick Neidner of West Point was the speaker at the service. The children's choir sang and also the Senior Choir sang the benediction at the close of the service.

A dinner was served at the Auditorium in the new Scribner Public school at noon.

A Roving German Band of several members of the young people of the congregation provided old time German folk songs, much to the amusement of the assembly during the noon hour.

Later in the afternoon a program was given — "This is your Life Pastor Wehrmann" which was open to the public and was more or less humorous.

Many letters of congratulations were received, among them a letter from Pastor J. F. Boerger in the name of Trinity Lutheran Church of Murdock, the home church of Pastor Wehrmann.

Mrs. Marilyn Mathis of Lincoln, niece of Pastor Wehrmann told about his childhood days that recalled memories of his youth down on the farm near Murdock.

Slides were shown of some of his college days, and many incidents humorous and of interest in the history of St. Peter's were related of his 25 years in their midst.

Special recognition was also given to Mrs. Wehrmann for her faithful work in the church, secretary for Pastor Wehrmann, assistant organist and many others.

At the close of the program a cash gift was presented to the honored couple for their faithful work in the church.

Pastor Wehrmann was born and raised on the farm near Murdock going to Trinity Parochial School, later attending Murdock Public School, before entering college. He was ordained in the ministry at Haxton, Colorado where he also served the Holyoke Colorado mission for about 5 years. He then was called to Madison, Neb., where he served until 1938 when he came to Scribner.

Munch Feed Service Started At Murdock

MURDOCK — A new mobile feed milling service has been started in Cass County by Mr. and Mrs. Gene Munch of Murdock, formerly of Lincoln.

It is known as Munch Feed Service and features a Seco mobile feed milling unit to "bring the feed mill to the farm and eliminate the chore of hauling grain and fodder to a mill for processing and then back to the farm," Munch said.

Mr. and Mrs. Munch have taken training at Seco Company's school in phases of mobile milling and feed nutrition.

Munch Feed Service will be agent for Cooper Feeds of Humboldt.
