Cass County of the Week

Mrs. Rozella Clark, Union, Has Been Countyan 82 Years

By RUTH MILLER
Special Correspondent

Mrs. Rozella Clark was born on the nineteenth of December in 1869 at Chillicothe, Missouri. This year marks her 94 birthday and her 82 year in this area.

Rozella and her family, the E. Kenney's, came from Chillicothe to McFall, Iowa, when she was 12.

McFall, as you know, is just across the river and is where most of the very earliest Cass County business was headquartered. Those of you who consider a trip of that length quite a jump even today, consider what it must have been like to a twelve year old girl riding in a jolting wagon or walking along the prairie behind their slow moving mode of transportation.

Rozella had relatives, an aunt and uncle, living on the Nebraska side of the river and when she was 14 she came to Rock Bluff to the Ivan White family to work and to share a private tutor with the White children.

The education gained under a tutor at old Rock Bluff is one of the memories she likes to recall. Rock Bluff provided her with entertainment too. She recalls having a pony which she rode about the bluffs, often finding and killing snakes, and one time killing a rattler.

In 1882, Rozella married a young barber, C. W. Clark. Her two sons, Cain, who died in February, and Ira, who now lives in Union, were born on the Iowa side. In 1895 the Clark family moved across the river to Union and here their daughter, Mrs. Ora Guerra, was born.

How many of you can now recall the old Singing Schools? They were, until the 1900's, one of the most popular means of getting together. Hearty voices joined together to make the rafters ring at old Sclota singing school south of town when Mrs. Clark was young. But they learned the principals of music, too. Mrs. Guerra says that until just a few years ago her mother could still pick up any new song and sing it, using the old singing school method of reading music.

About 1906 the Clarks opened a business which meant a lot to train travelers, the hotel and restaurant. It required many long hours of hard work but until she was 80, Mrs. Clark worked diligently to keep the business thriving.

They gave their daughter Ora a fine music education which she in turn is passing on to the children of Union now.

Mrs. Clark has four living grandchildren: Mrs. Harry Speck, Nelawka; Ted Clark, Nebraska City; and George and Charles Clark, Portland, Ore. There are 7 great grandchildren and 3 great-great grandchildren.

Mrs. Clark led a busy life and was never one to sit idle. At times when the hotel or restaurant or her family weren't taking her time she would sit down to her loom and weave yards and yards of rag carpeting. Many of these rugs can be found in use in homes in the Union area.

Mrs. Clark has always enjoyed excellent health. Mrs. Guerra reports that her mother has never had a broken bone and never been hospitalized. Although, at 94, her eyesight has failed her, she is still able to be up and about a good deal.

Mrs. Clark has raised a fine family, helped to manage a business which provided for many travelers who stopped in Union, and provided comfortable carpeting for many homes in her spare time. A very active, very busy woman well deserving of recognition as this week's "Cass Countyan."

State Fair Begins 6-Day Run at Lincoln Saturday

LINCOLN (Special)—Gate to the state fair will swing open Saturday, Aug. 31, through Sept. 5 at Lincoln for the 1963 edition of the Nebraska State Fair—an edition that promises to be the biggest and the best in the entire history of the exposition.

A record industrial show already has been assured. Due to the demolition of old buildings, an industrial exhibit space has been made available and it has been filled. Millions of dollars worth of new products for the farm and the home will be displayed.

Advance entries indicate that all agricultural departments, including the 4-H Club and Future Farmers of America shows, also will be well-filled, both as to quality and quantity.

An unusually large number of special displays will be one of the highlights of this year's Fair. The University of Nebraska State Museum, for example, will exhibit a complete 35-foot skeleton of a prehistoric dinosaur, along with many other unique items.

The State Fair Board will sponsor a special display showing the culture of corn and its uses for food. The complete cycle from planting to bin to processor and back to the consumer will be portrayed and explained.

The Hall of Health, operated by the State Medical Society and cooperating groups, this year will include free hearing tests, sponsored by the Sertoma Clubs of Nebraska in conjunction with the University of Nebraska speech and hearing laboratory.

Other special exhibits will include expanded displays by the State Historical Society and State Game Commission; commemorative stamps by the U.S. Postoffice Department; and a full-scale mock-up of the U.S. Navy's TALOS missile.

Entertainment headlines will be TV and Recording Star Jimmy Dean; Country Music Veteran Roy Acuff and His Smoky Mountain Boys; and Ginny Tiu and her Family. They will be featured, along with a sparkling array of other variety acts, in State Fair Varieties.

Jimmy Dean will be featured the evenings of Sept. 1 and 2; Roy Acuff and His Smoky Mountain Boys, the evenings of Sept. 3 and 4; and Ginny Tiu, the evenings of Sept. 1 through 4. Other acts that will appear all four nights include Sonny Moore and his Roustabouts, a comedy animal act; The Romaneras, America's favorite square dance group; Dieter Tasso, balance artist; extraordinary; The Six Guitars, slapstick comedians; Ray Conlin, Jr., master of ceremonies; and Dan Belloc and his orchestra.

Other grandstand entertainment highlights will include Big Car Races the afternoons of Sept. 1, 2 and 5; Stock Car Races, the afternoon of Sept. 4; two special Children's Shows, the afternoons of Aug. 31 and Sept. 3; and the Aut Swenson Thrillcade the evenings of Aug. 31 and Sept. 5.

The William T. Collins Shows will bring new rides and shows to the Midway; free radio and TV shows will be presented daily in the Open Air Auditorium and Coliseum; and two drum and bugle corps and 17 bands will provide music throughout the Fair.

PO Eyes Measures If Rails Struck

Plattsmouth Postmaster Vern Hendricks announced today that planes, trucks, and buses will be pressed into service to move air and first-class mail to its destination and to move other classes of mail within a 150 mile radius of Plattsmouth in the event of a nationwide strike.

However, Hendricks noted that he has received instructions not to accept mailings other than first-class, air mail and air parcel post which are destined for points more than roughly 150 miles from Plattsmouth for the duration of the rail strike if it occurs.

"We are prepared to handle any letter or parcel addressed to any point provided first-class or air mail postage is paid on the item," the postmaster said.

But he cautioned that service will be temporarily suspended on second-class magazines and newspapers, third-class matter, fourth-class parcel post packages addressed to points beyond the second parcel post zone—extending 150 miles from point of mailing—as part of the national post office contingency plan for operating under a rail strike emergency.

Hendricks advised mailers that any emergency shipment, such as medicine or badly needed spare parts, should be sent first-class or air mail during the strike, if it occurs, and if the shipment demands delivery beyond the 150 mile limit. Perishable items such as baby chicks and honey bees should not be mailed for the duration of the strike, if it occurs, he recommended.

Mailing of items covered by the temporary and limited service suspension if deposited at the post offices immediately prior to a strike will be made at the risk of the mailer. The Department cannot guarantee early delivery of perishable items and other than first-class or air mail parcels, letters and other matter if they are in transit at the time of strike or within the post office of acceptance at the time the strike commences.

Hendricks noted that Grand Island, and Kansas City are among cities within the 150 mile zone of Plattsmouth which will continue to get mail service from this post office if and when the strike occurs. He urged the public and large mailers to call the post office, Phone 2153, for detailed information and to get answers to technical questions involving their particular mailing problems.
