Surviving are her sisters, Mrs. R. A. Kuehn, of Elmwood, Mrs. Newton Lang, of Moscow, Iowa, and Mrs. John Schwin, of Sand Point, Idaho; daughter, Mrs. G. R. Eveland, of Elmwood; and grandchildren, Mrs. Howard Pool, of Elmwood, and Paul Eveland, of Ames, and six great-grandchildren.

DON'T RUB SPOT

LINCOLN — When you spill something on garments containing silk-blot—don't rub, advises Miss Gerda Petersen, Extension clothing and textiles specialist at the University of Nebraska. If you rub silk while it is damp, the surface fibers are easily broken or stretched. This raises fibers which should lie flat, causing a different light reflection which looks like a discoloration, she explains.
