In Holland, Huntsman Needs 80 Acres Land

THE NETHERLANDS (Special)—Sportsmen pay a great deal for the privilege of hunting in this tiny European country, M. O. Steen, Game Commission director who is on a Nebraska promotion tour of Europe, reports.

No one in Holland may hunt unless he can meet stringent requirements. Steen noted: Hunters must have 80 acres of land (in one piece) owned or leased and must then buy a hunting permit, which costs 75 guilders.

That is $21 when converted to American money. Steen pointed out "But a guilders means about as much to a Dutchman, and takes about as much work to earn, as a dollar in the United States and to our own people," he said.

Finally, Steen observed, those who enjoy better hunting raise and release their own game on their own land, although there are limited populations of pheasants, hare, partridge, and ducks in the wild. NEBRASKA hunters truly have an advantage over their counterparts in The Netherlands.

THERE'S A TD THERE!—Plattsmouth's Roger Heedum (extreme right rear) beat the official to the draw in signalling Plattsmouth's first touchdown Friday night. Leland Pritchard was somewhere under the goal-line pileup, having negotiated the final yard of a 40-yard advance to a 6-0 lead for PHIS.

Quick Strikes Ruin Devils' Upset Try; Crete Wins, 28-13

Plattsmouth High, turning in what Coach Norris Hale calls "the best defensive effort since I've been here," saw the glimmering of a major upset here Friday night, but lost, 28-13.

Lightning strikes for touchdowns by an opportunistic Crete High eleven overcame a well-planned bid for a Plattsmouth victory.

The Blue Devils threw a scare into the Twin Rivers Conference favorite when they led 6-0 in the first quarter after quarterback Leland Pritchard sneaked over from a yard out to complete a 40-yard touchdown drive.

But, Crete stormed back to score in nine plays, quarterback Raphael Christil running the last 13 on second down, Leon Muff punched in for the extra point and Crete led, 7-6, making the Devils' missed point-after opportunity loom large.

The Cardinals made it 14-6 a minute and one-half later when they stole a pass and ran it to the Plattsmouth 5.

Don Dakan, a 203-pound tackle converted to fullback, hurdled four yards to the one and Muff plugged over on second down. Christil ran the point.

The game went into the second half on that score and the Devils came back fighting. They moved 70 yards in seven plays. The scoring play was Tom Hansen's 22-yard run on fourth and 8. Gary Christensen kicked the extra point and the Devils were alive, 13-14.

But, Crete threw the damper on Plattsmouth hopes. Muff took the ensuing kickoff on his 16, got good blocking to midfield and then outran the other Plattsmouth defenders for an 84-yard touchdown.

Christil plunged for the point and Crete was ahead by 8 points, 21-13.

It was a big play, the game decider. Plattsmouth had to pass after that and finally Christil pilfered an aerial near midfield and ran down the sideline to score. It became 28-13 with 1:45 left.

Hale had praise for his line-of-scrimmage defense but said offensive mistakes hurt. Fumbles early in the game ruined the Devils' chance to protect their lead and other mistakes gave Crete scoring opportunities.

Now, Plattsmouth prepares for its first road game of the season, Friday at 8 p.m. at Beatrice. Beatrice surprised last Friday by clobbering Falls City, 47-0, in the Twin Rivers after an opening loss to Crete, 24-7.

TIME TO RETIRE

Louisville, Ky. — Having reached the age of 100, Robert Howell has decided it is time to retire, this time for good. When he reached 80, he left an oil refinery job, took a restaurant job, then became a delivery man at the age of 92. Now he thinks he should retire and take it easy.

PERU LETTERMAN—Dave Wilson, who was a halfback as a Plattsmouth High football player, is one of two guard lettermen on the Peru State Teachers College squad this year. He saw lots of action last year on offense, this year is playing both offense and defense. He's 5-7 and weighs 190. He is a junior.

Mayor Proclaims Constitution Week

Mayor L. W. Moore today proclaimed Sept. 17 Citizenship Day and the period Sept. 17-23 Constitution Week and called on local residents to hold appropriate ceremonies and activities in schools and churches so that citizens may have a better understanding of the Constitution and of the rights and responsibilities of United States citizenship.

He urged that each citizen "pledge himself anew to the service of his country and to being ever vigilant in the defense and preservation of the Constitution."

Here, the DAR is sponsoring promotion of Constitution Week and Citizenship Day.

Fontenelle Chapter DAR will host the District DAR Convention here Tuesday, Sept. 17. The convention will convene in the Fellowship Room of the Presbyterian Church with registration at 9 a.m.

Plattsmouth merchants are requested to display the American Flag on Tuesday.

Mrs. Fred Vincent is the Fontenelle DAR Regent.

Tourism Stamps Not for Postage

LINCOLN — NEBRASKA and tourism promotion stamps, issued by the Game Commission, are good for a lot of things—their original tourist intention, decorations, and stamp collections, to mention a few.

Two women overheard discussing the stamps at the Commission's exhibit at the State Fair, however, are both wrong as to their use. The women were engaged in a debate over whether the stamps were for use as straight mail or airmail postage.

Least anyone confuse the NEBRASKA stamps with Uncle Sam's own, the Commission reminds people that they are replicas of historic, scenic, and recreational points in the state. The stamps may NOT be substituted for regular postage, but should be added to letters as an attractive invitation to visitors to see Nebraska.

According to Commission officials, the stamps were selling extremely well and exhibit visitors expressed an enthusiastic interest in the project.

Sheets of 21 stamps may be purchased for $1 at stores throughout the state displaying the sign reading "Selling NEBRASKA and Is Our Business."

Hog and Cattle Prices Expected To Hold Steady

LINCOLN—Fed cattle prices and hog prices are expected to hold steady during September and October although the seasonal weakness in hog prices may develop.

That's the opinion of Everett E. Peterson, University of Nebraska Extension economist who points out that "cattle-on-feed reports show that marketings will be large enough to the end of the year to prevent any substantial price gains. Farmers should continue to sell cattle at the minimum weight for the grade."

"Feeder cattle prices are likely to hold up for another 6 to 8 weeks. Last year's fall increase will not occur, but bargains will be scarce. Both buyers and sellers are waiting to see what the weather and the slaughter prices do this fall," Peterson states.

Sept. 27-28 Are 'Fly Safe Dates' in Cass County

LINCOLN—University of Nebraska entomologists have announced the average safe planting dates for wheat to reduce damage by Hessian fly.

"Fly safe dates are not absolutely sure precautions, but over the years they are practical," states Robert E. Roselle, University Extension entomologist.

"A Hessian fly safe date is determined by observations over the years of when the adult Hessian flies emerge from the summer flaxseed stage. After 90 percent have emerged into adult flies, the safe date is determined. Planting after this percentage of emergence allows wheat to come up after the greatest danger of egg laying has passed."

"Fly safe dates have been established for most counties of the State except those in the Panhandle where dates are not in accord with the planting practices necessary in the area," he points out.

Roselle explains that where two or more dates are listed for a county, the first date applies to the northern and western parts of the county.

The Cass County dates: Sept. 27-28.

Delaware was the first state to ratify the U. S. Constitution and North Carolina and Rhode Island were the last. Rhode Island and North Carolina refused to take part in the new government until the first Congress had begun to adopt a bill of rights.

Older Veterans: Better Check Beneficiary Data

In the event of the death of an older war veteran, will his GI insurance funds be distributed in accordance with his current wishes? Not in more than 50 percent of the cases, says A. H. Duxbury, VA Regional Office Manager at Lincoln as the result of a recent survey.

The VA had directed a reminder letter to GI policyholders 80 years of age and older to check on the beneficiary choices the veteran had originally made as well as his selection of a lump settlement or payments over a period of time.

In 55 per cent of the veterans' replies, changes were requested to bring the insurance settlement in line with the veterans' current wishes. Most common cases were those in which marriage had subsequently taken place but the mother of the veteran was still listed as a chief beneficiary. In numerous other cases, the veteran had remarried but his former wife was still listed as the beneficiary.

Under the law, Duxbury emphasized, the VA must make
