'Giveaway' Request Due, To Recover Fumble

By Rep. Glenn Cunningham—Sashington, D. C. (Special)—

The House will soon be asked to approve a multi-million dollar giveaway to benefit Chicago. Some years ago, despite doubtful traffic engineer recommendations, the City of Chicago built the Calumet Skyway, a toll road. Not enough cars have used the toll road to cover the costs and pay off the $101 million bond issue used to build it. In fact, only about half the annual amortization charges have been raised and the Skyway defaulted on its last bond payment.

So the City of Chicago has come begging to the federal government and wants the nation's taxpayers to pour millions of dollars to make up for the mistake Chicago made in building this Skyway. This is the worst kind of boondoggle, based on the idea that when a city makes a mistake, all of us should pay for that mistake.

A Cuban exile group reports that the Castro regime is now actively training Latin American nationals as paratroopers. Exiles estimate that 600 men are now being trained in new camps, many of the men being Venezuelans, with smaller groups from Colombia, Brazil, Peru, Panama and Bolivia.

Ironically, U. S.-made weapons are used in training these men. The training as paratroopers has been added recently to the course of instruction, including that these men are to be dropped in jungles along the coast of Latin American nations. Then they will set about their work of sabotage, propaganda activities and training of others in hope of overthrowing the existing governments.

During the first half of this year, imports of meat to this country from foreign countries were up 18 per cent over last year. This means 100 million more pounds of meat came in during the first six months this year than last year.

To me, this is a direct result of the free-trade bill which was passed last year, although I voted against it. I only hope that the Tariff Commission will begin to support American industries one of these days. To date not one case taken to the Tariff Commission has resulted in favorable action for American workers.

Last week the Senate confirmed the nomination of two new members of the California Debris Commission. That's a new one on me. Maybe they are supposed to clean up the beaches after the beach parties in southern California???
