

GAINED HIS FREEDOM

THE FETTERS OF PAIN WERE BROKEN.

A Marvelous Change—How a Future of Gloom Was Averted—The Present Full of Joy and Hope.

From the Herald, Helena, Mont.

As rugged and hard as one of the pine-which grow in the Rocky Mountain region is G. E. Ticknor, of Helena, Montana. For twenty-four years he has resided in the mountain country, but his vigor is not due altogether to the bracing air of Montana. Last fall Mr. Ticknor was what might be termed a physical wreck. For eight weeks he lay on his bed suffering from a severe attack of sciatic rheumatism in one of his hips. Physicians and medicines gave him no relief and the future looked gloomy. Added to his troubles was the anxiety concerning the care of a large family. By chance one day Mr. Ticknor saw an account of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. He said to a Herald reporter that he was not in favor of proprietary remedies, but in this instance something in the article caught his attention and he determined to give the pills a trial. In the interview with the Herald representative the most emphatic terms of the marvelous change in his condition. "Before a week had gone by," he said, "I was able to get out of bed and move about. I had hardly used one box of the pills. By the time I had taken three boxes I felt twenty years younger. In fact, I was a new man and had been perfectly well ever since. I can't say too much for Pink Pills, and I never miss an opportunity to praise them."

When the Herald representative saw Mr. Ticknor he was making some repairs on the school building on Benton avenue. He swung his carpenter's hammer with all the vigor of a lusty young man, and looked as hale and hearty as any man of his years to be found in the entire Rocky Mountain country. He is fifty-nine years old and is able to do a day's work at his trade. He said that Pink Pills can always be found in his house. Mr. Ticknor lives at 1419 Boulder avenue, near the American Biscuit Manufacturing Company's plant, where he will be glad to see anyone who wishes to verify this account of his experience with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain, in a condensed form, all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. Pink Pills are sold in boxes at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, and may be had of all druggists, or direct by mail from Dr. Williams' Med. Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

Theodore Roosevelt has made a collection of all the cartoons about himself that he could get hold of and has pasted them on the walls of a room at his home. He says he gets a lot of fun out of showing his "cartoon room" to his friends.

OF A GREAT STATE.

NEWS FROM ALL PARTS OF NEBRASKA.

Men and Women of Waverly Pass Resolutions Strongly Condemning the Actions of Two of Her Prominent Citizens.

Women and Men Protest.

The citizens of Waverly are in a state of indignation over the recent elopement of Dr. G. A. McCandless and Druggist E. R. Vining. Nearly a month since they left, clandestinely accompanied by two young ladies of Waverly, Misses Alice Miller and Nancy Ward. The citizens hired a hall recently for the purpose of expressing their disapproval of the conduct of the two men. Two committees, one of women and another of men, were appointed to draft resolutions, which they did, and which were of a scorching nature. Both sets of resolutions were adopted unanimously. The committee of women comprised Mrs. S. J. G. Riddell, Mrs. Hattie W. Hawley, Mrs. L. J. Loder, Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Miller.

It is said that McCandless has hired a man to officiate as bodyguard, who remains close to him night and day. There is violent indignation expressed over the fact that Dr. McCandless has returned to the village of Waverly.

Found Dead in His Room.

William C. Badger, a harness maker of Omaha, and resident of that city for over twenty years, died suddenly at his room at 119 Fourteenth Street. Badger had been subject to heart disease for several years. He had been confined to the house for some time and the doctor had called at different times, but Badger steadfastly refused all medicine. Monday morning his landlady went up stairs to call him at the usual time and receiving no response she pushed open the door of his room. She discovered him lying on the bed; from all appearances he had been dead for several hours. Considerable money was found among his effects. There was also a certificate of deposit for $100 in the German Savings Bank. The remains were taken to the morgue. Badger has no relatives living in Omaha.

Has a Record in Nebraska.

The news of the arrest of James E. Alpaugh at Perry, Iowa, on the charge of forgery, was received with much interest by Lincoln County citizens. James E. Alpaugh was the county clerk of Lincoln County from 1876 to 1878. The latter part of his term of office was marked by sensational charges being preferred against him of issuing fraudulent certificates of bills allowed by the county commissioners, although the grand jury did not sustain the charge. It is said so many crooked transactions turned up that he found it convenient to leave the county, and it is believed he settled in Perry. The old timers of Lincoln County are well acquainted with him and his misdoings there.

Coroner Investigating a Physician

So many strange circumstances surrounded the death of J. F. McKim, who died at David City after an operation had been performed by F. Englehard, that the brother demanded a thorough investigation of the case, and the coroner impudently a jury to investigate the manner of treatment and the facts in the case. No death certificate had been filed with the city clerk, which, under the health ordinance of the city, is punishable by a heavy fine.

Forced to Care for His Father.

Word comes from Schuyler that John Vavra of Wilson precinct had his father before the board of insanity. The board was not long in determining that the 65-year-old father was no more insane than the son, who, it seemed from the evidence, was endeavoring to have his father declared a public charge after having control of all the property the old gentleman had. The father was dismissed and the son given to understand that he was to take care of him.

Church Organ Cause of a Quarrel

Last Sunday morning the Presbyterian Church at Graham was found draped in mourning. Investigation disclosed the fact that the church organ had been taken out of the church to be used at a dance in the opera house. The organ was taken out under instructions from one of the officers of the church. However, the trustees are indignant over the affair, and are of the opinion that the organ will not be accepted again.

Victim of a Lamp Explosion.

Mrs. Harmon of West Point, while visiting at Kearney, met with a terrible accident. A lamp exploded, throwing the burning oil over her entire body. Her cries immediately brought friends to her assistance, but not before every particle of clothing was burned from her body and her flesh badly blistered and burned from the soles of her feet to the top of her head. It is doubtful if she can survive.

Implement House Fails.

Charles Stone, who has been running an implement house in Hastings for a number of years, and who was one of her very best business men, was forced to the wall by several large chattel mortgages sold by the Adams County Bank. This includes all his elevators and places of business at Roseland. The total liabilities have not been made public yet.

Preference for Home Products.

O. C. Holmes of Omaha appeared before the State Board of Purchase and Supplies at Lincoln to urge upon the members the importance of giving home products the preference in buying goods for state institutions. Mr. Holmes is secretary of the Manufacturers' and Consumers' Association of the state.

Hartington School House Burns.

The fine large school building at Hartington was burned to the ground Tuesday evening. There was a heavy northwest wind and the fire company was unable to save any part of the building. Insurance $3,500 in the Home Fire, New York.

Wealthy Farmer Commits Suicide

Peter Stander, the wealthiest farmer in the vicinity of Plattsmouth, committed suicide at his home, by hanging. Ill health and despondency were the cause. His estate is valued at $150,000.

Sandy Griswold Is Acquitted.

In the district court at Plattsmouth, before Judge Chapman, the jury exonerated S. G. V. Griswold from the charge of any criminal complicity in the death of Fletcher Robbins.

An Unsuspecting Damsel.

A few days ago a tall, slim individual, resembling a minister in many respects, accompanied by a lady of rather small stature with auburn hair and well dressed, alighted from a train at Plattsmouth. They were shown to a hotel, where they registered as C. W. Hill and wife, and designated Lincoln as their home. After partaking of dinner the man left the hotel and went direct to the depot, where he boarded a train for Omaha, and has not been heard of since. The lady, after spending the night at the hotel looking for her companion to return, decided that she had been deserted and her financial condition compelled her to make her plight known. According to her story she had met the man with whom she was traveling some four or five days before at the Capital, he pretending to be an advance agent for some theatrical company in search of chorus girls, and had contracted to go east with him and join the company at some point in Iowa, but stopped at Plattsmouth pretending to be waiting for her tickets for which he had taken her measure and had ordered them shipped to them at that point. Before leaving he also took with him a fine gold ring the young girl had, saying he wanted to get a diamond ring the same size, all of which he took with him. The girl left for her home in the west, having left nearly all of her property as security for her hotel bill and an additional amount of cash to pay car fare to Lincoln, where she has relatives.

Robbers Held Up an Operator

Night Operator Newlin was held up at the Burlington depot at Pawnee City by two robbers. He was sitting in the waiting room, when the window near was broken in and a revolver poked under his nose. The robbers proceeded to ransack the office. They first visited the express company's safe and badly damaged it in an unsuccessful attempt to open it. Then they procured the keys of the money drawer from Newlin, and on opening it secured $5. Newlin's back, containing a silver watch. When they had finished their pilfering they took an eastern course from the depot. Newlin managed to get to the section foreman's house, opposite the track, and aroused him. They started in pursuit, but lost track of them. This is the second time the Burlington night operator has been held up in that city.

Ex-Senator Brownlee Insane.

The commissioners of insanity examined Robert G. Brownlee, a former state resident near the village of Douglass, and found him to be demented. The man some years ago turned all his property into money and squandered it by traveling aimlessly around, making a trip to Europe and returning immediately, going clear across the country to California. He claims now that the Government owes him $60,000,000 which he will receive in a few years. Brownlee was sent as senator to the state Legislature by the Republicans a number of years ago, and has been a leader in politics.

Must Pay Entrance Money.

J. S. Scott, owner of John R. Gentry, and John G. Taylor, owner of Joe Patchen, were ordered to pay the Lincoln Park Association, Lincoln, $75 each, entrance money for breach of contract, and it was also ordered that the owners, with their horses, be suspended until the order is complied with. This decision was reached by the board of appeals of the American Trotting Association in session at Chicago.

Fairbury Machine Shops Burned.

The machine shops of the Fairbury iron works were destroyed by fire which started in the office. The building was owned by H. H. Todd, and was worth about $2,000 with $500 insurance. S. A. Seymour had about $4,000 worth of machinery in the building which is probably ruined; partly insured. Charles Simpson, who operated the shops, lost $500, without any insurance.

Sensational Suit for Damages.

A most interesting case has just been finished in the district court at Chadron, before Judge Bartow, wherein Dr. J. I. Leas, a prominent citizen, was sued by a young man whom he had hit over the head with a cane on account of alleged slander preferred against him, for $1,000. The jury was out only a few hours, and returned a verdict in favor of the defendant.

Kearney Thief Sentenced.

In the district court at Kearney Frank Sanberg pleaded guilty to stealing silverware from the California wine house about a year ago and was sentenced to eighteen months in the penitentiary. R. W. Reese, who was found guilty of forging orders for county warrants, was denied a new trial and sentenced to four years.

PROTECTS USERS OF "ROYAL."

Baking Powder Company Wins Its Case in United States Court.

The decision of Judge Snowwater in a recent case that came up before him sustains the claims of the Royal company to the exclusive use of the name "Royal" as a trade mark for its baking powder. The special importance of this decision consists in the protection which it assures to the millions of consumers of Royal baking powder against inferior and unwholesome compounds. The excellence of this article has caused it to be highly esteemed and largely used almost the world over. Its high standard of quality having been always maintained, consumers have come to rely implicitly upon the "Royal" brand as the most wholesome and efficient of any in the market. The cupid of other manufacturers is excited by this high reputation and large demand. Very few of the hundreds of baking powders on the market are safe to use. If their makers could sell them under the name of a well known, reliable brand, incalculable damage would be done to the public health by the deception. The determination of the Royal Baking Powder Company to protect the users of Royal baking powder against imitators by a rigid prosecution of them makes such imitations of its brand extremely rare.

Editor Quigg's Faux Pas.

Speaking of Caruth: "He is the gentleman who rather disturbed the serenity of that metropolitan editor and statesman, Lemuel Eli Quigg."

"The Republican party, Mr. Speaker," shouted Mr. Quigg on an occasion when, metaphorically speaking, he was sailing and soaring in the heavens of the house, "the Republican party, Mr. Speaker, on that occasion of the nation's greatest peril, stood like a gladiator, belted and buckled, booted and spurred."

"Will the gentleman," interrupted Caruth, with the look of one who was taking a consuming interest in Quigg's speech, and wanted full information on all points as he went along, "will the gentleman please mention where and when it was that the gladiators wore boots and spurs?"

The house, as usual, full of approving delight, yelled its glee over the interruption, and all very much to the confusion of Lemuel Eli Quigg.—Chicago Times-Herald

Sitting Bull as a Soldier.

"Do you know," says an old army officer, "that if Sitting Bull, the old Sioux chief, had been a white man he would have been called a general? In fact he was a great natural soldier—a sort of Napoleon. Sitting Bull was not a regular chief; that is, he wasn't a war chief. He was a medicine man; what the Indians call a medicine chief. But he had great natural capacity as a commander. His surprise and cutting off of Custer would have been called a great achievement if a white general had in some way performed the feat. It is significant of Indian character that Sitting Bull would never tell the story of the fight at all; wouldn't say a word about it, although I suppose the question was put to him a thousand times by all sorts of people."

His Weapons Whisky and Onions.

A citizen of Green township, Hamilton County, Ohio, notified Postoffice Inspector Salmon the postmaster had refused to let him have his mail unless he quit eating onions. The complainant said as an American citizen he proposed to eat onions and also get his mail. An inspector was detailed on the case and reported the indignant citizen had quarreled with the postmaster and had drunk a lot of whisky and ate several onions, and thus armed went to the office for his mail. When the postmaster said "Good morning," the indignant citizen blew his breath into the postmaster's face. The inspector's report exonerates the postmaster and the complainant is stamped "justifiable."

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from ten drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. It cures over one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. Controlled by a Hair.

One solitary human hair seems a very small thing, but it is the most important part of an important machine in the Capitol at Washington. The machine warms and ventilates the House, the Senate, and the various committee rooms and runs several electric dynamos. Its most curious feature is the appliance for telling the proper temperature of the air in the building. A dial arranged like a clock marks different degrees from zero to 100. Zero means perfectly dry air, 100 saturated air; i. e., air carrying all the moisture it will hold. Human hair absorbs moisture like a rope, becoming shorter when it is wet. The hair here is six inches long. The difference in length between it when wet and when dry stands for the 100 degree of moisture on the dial, and as the moisture of the hair varies the pointer on the dial moves. According to the necessity more steam is thrown in or steam is allowed to escape, the atmosphere being in this way regulated and kept at a healthy point.

Lord Scully, familiarly known as Rackrent Scully, of Ireland, has taken out naturalization papers in New York, presumably that he may have a legal right to acquire more land in this country. He now owns 100,000 acres of land in Illinois, owns more than a whole county in Kansas and has large possessions in Nebraska and Missouri.

A Singular Form of Monomania.

There is a class of people, rational enough in other respects, who are certainly monomaniacs in dosing themselves. They are constantly trying experiments upon their stomachs, their bowels, their livers and their kidneys with trashy nostrums. When these organs are really out of order, if they would only use Hostetter's Stomach Bitters they would, if not hopelessly insane, perceive its superiority.
