Ben Hobson brought in five cars of cattle Sunday which he intended shipping to Omaha, but the storm so delayed trains that he could not get out with them Monday. J. W. Stetter bought the whole bunch.
Bishop W. H. Hare, of the diocese of South Dakota, was in town Tuesday on his way from Rosebud to Pine Ridge. Bishop Hare has charge of all the Indians on the reservation under the jurisdiction of the Episcopal church.

Paid the Bet.
Previous to the election a two-to-one election bet was made between E. J. Dolan, Post gymnasium instructor, and Wallace Craigie, our affable postmaster. If Bryan was elected, Craigie was to wheel Dolan around both parades, and if McKinley was elected Dolan was to wheel Craigie just around the lower parade. It is a fortunate thing for Craigie that McKinley is elected, as Craigie's sylphiform (he weighs 145 pounds) would have been subjected to a great strain in wheeling the voluptuous (his weight is 215
