Life's journey is so tiresome that a man is generally out of breath when he reaches the end of it.

Senator Carter, of Montana, proposes to abolish small bills—ones, twos, and fives—in order to create a demand for silver. That is one way out of the difficulty.

Hanna says he saved Senator Foraker from going to jail, and as one good turn deserves another, Senator Foraker will now save Hanna from going to the Senate.—Wahoo Democrat.

Six Mohammedans were recently refused admission to this country, because they believed in polygamy. Now if the government will refuse admission to all who believe in living without working the country will be much better off.

Since August 1 the deficiency under the Dingley bill is over $32,500,000. This is not so bad, only about $10,000,000 a month. After congress gets in its work next month it will be increased a few millions per month and then the government can issue a few more bonds.

The national democratic party is a thing of the past. As a party it will be seen no more. The principles advocated by it will still be advocated by members of it, but the question which most agitates the public mind to-day is: "With what party will the national democrats vote?"

Ninety-nine out of every hundred cattle killed by lightning receive the shock from standing too close to wire fences. If farmers would run a ground wire every six feet they would prevent the killing of their live stock and also save their posts. Telegraph companies run ground wires from telegraph poles for the protection of their property.

The Chicago Chronicle was last year the rankest gold standard democratic paper in the United States. In fact, it boasted that it was responsible for the Indianapolis convention. Recently, however, it said that "any kind of financial legislation would have been better for this country than the Dingley bill," and it is now in line for the regular democracy. When it comes to a choice between democrats and republicans, the national will almost to a man support democracy.

A democratic member of the Ohio legislature says he will not enter into any combination to defeat Hanna. He thinks that "Hanna in the senate would do more to bring about democratic success in 1900 than any other man the republicans of Ohio could send to represent them in that body." It is rather hard on Ohio and on the senate to purchase party advantage at such a cost, but there is no doubt that Hanna in the senate as a big and shining example of latter-day republicanism would be worth more to the democrats in 1900 than a hundred ordinary stump-speakers.—New York World.

The Rev. John Adams, New Milford, Ill., says: "Postal savings banks, in my opinion, would be a particularly good thing for the country places. Take my own town, for instance—New Milford. We are six miles from Rockford, where there are savings banks, but our working people cannot afford to take the time to go there, and consequently have no other place than an old stocking or chimney to put their little savings. When these people are saving any money it is particularly necessary that they should have a perfectly safe depository and this would be afforded by the government postal savings banks."—Omaha Record.

REINERT'S TO BLAME.

Acknowledging that a fusion of the democrats and populists in the county would have been a good thing this fall, who is to blame for there not being any fusion?

No man or set of men, could, or had a right to bind the party save the conventions themselves.

Then why didn't Mr. Crabb and Good, chairmen of the two parties, call the conventions on the same day, and each convention appoint committees to arrange equitable terms of fusion, and have both bodies nominate the same ticket, on the same day? Echo answers why? Who was to blame? Mr. Crabb called the populist convention for October 2, and Good, instead of calling the democrats to convene on the same day, called them to meet a week after the populist convention had adjourned; thus acting the part which to a man up a tree, looked like he was opposed to fusion.

This is Reinert's apology for defeating fusion. What do you think of it? Now let him apologize for fighting against Miss Stoner both before and after the convention, and the thing will be complete.

Georgie attempts to crawl out of his part of the deal, and throws the blame for fusion's defeat upon Good and Crabb. Let us investigate a little and see about the facts in the case. The committee appointed by the populists to confer with the democrat committee was composed of Reinert, Ray and Carlson. When these two committees met, it was expressly stated that the action of the committees was not to be considered binding upon the parties represented, it was merely to get at the sentiment of the two parties. Every democrat expressed himself freely on the question, but Reinert said now a word. Time went on and the populist convention to send delegates to Lincoln was held. The committee reported the proposition made by the democrats, and again Reinert said not one word. The only opinions he was ever known to express were against fusion.

All indications pointed to the fact that fusion would be defeated, hence Good did not feel called upon to call the democrat convention on the same day with the populists. Time went on again as it has a habit of doing, and the county convention was held. Reinert was made chairman, and before the afternoon meeting he pledged Good that he would do all in his power to bring about a fusion, but when the question was raised he used his power as chairman to kill it. Time went on again, and it was proposed to fuse on superintendent, judge, etc. The chairman of the populist committee, and all others interested were in favor, but Reinert held out for over two hours, and even then Good had hard work to make him file the proper certificate of nomination. These are four distinct steps in the fusion movement where Reinert was found with the opposition. There are others, but they are of a more private nature and will not be used unless necessary.

Georgie cannot deny that the above statements are correct—may he will not deny them, and if he acknowledges them as true, he stands self convicted and we will let the case rest with the public without the introduction of further testimony.

HOW DOES IT DO IT. Republican newspapers contend that the Dingley bill has made this country prosperous, but we have yet to see one which tells how it has done so. The Dingley bill certainly didn't raise the price of wheat, because we export millions of bushels of the cereal, and every sensible man knows that a duty on an article of that kind does not raise its price. The Dingley bill has not lessened the deficit in the treasury—it couldn't do so, because if imports are checked, customs receipts are bound to fall. It has not opened a single factory which would have remained closed without it. It has not raised the wages of the coal miners, but it has raised the price of coal. It has not raised the wages of laborers, but it has raised the price of the goods they buy. It has not increased our exports, but it has caused foreign nations to retaliate by placing a duty on our goods. It has not established a single new sugar factory, but it has made millions for the trusts. How then has it brought prosperity to our land?

Congress meets one week from next Monday, Dec. 6. Two bills will come before the body both of which should be passed. One is the postal savings bank bill and the other is the Loud postoffice bill regulating the mailing of second class matter, with the intention of skimming out the penny dreadfuls and fake story papers from the cent-a-pound rate. Every newspaper in the United States should write its congressman to work and vote for this last named bill.

Senator Carter, of Montana, proposes to abolish small bills—ones, twos, and fives—in order to create a demand for silver. That is one way out of the difficulty.

PLenty OF ROOM During the last two weeks no less than a dozen parties have come to us with complaints about the new school house, and asked us to "roast" the board for its negligence or carelessness in one way or another. Most of these complaints have been based upon the assumption that there is not sufficient room in the new building to accommodate the pupils, many persons positively asserting that the new building would not seat as many pupils as the present accommodations.

We were startled by these assertions and have made a careful investigation of the facts in the case, with the following results: The report that the new building has but five school rooms is wrong. The building has six, with dimensions as follows: Five rooms 24 x 32, one room 27 1/2 x 37 1/2. In addition to these is a recitation room 12 x 24, which can also be used as a library. And further, if necessary a recitation room can be fitted up on the third floor of the building. As to seats, we discovered that the various rooms will have seats as follows:

Table with 2 columns: Room Type and Seats. High School... 40 seats, 26 in. aisles. Grammar... 32 " 19 " " Intermediate... 32 " 21 " " 2d Intermediate... 32 " 21 " " 1st Primary... 36 " 24 " " 2d Primary... 36 " 24 " "

These are all double seats, and as there are 208 of them, the seating capacity will be 416. Besides, there will be 24 front seats without desks. These figures provide for two foot side and rear aisles, with 10 foot space in front for desk of teacher. By crowding a little, extra seats may be placed, and the capacity raised to 476. There are at present about 270 pupils enrolled, and each of the rooms is crowded. It will be seen that without any crowding the new rooms will have a capacity of 136 more pupils than are enrolled at this time. It will not be necessary to use all the rooms until next year, and if the scholars were transferred to-day, there would be 56 more seats in the five rooms used, than there are in the five now occupied. We believe this will put a stop to the nonsensical talk now going around. If you doubt the figures given, investigate for yourself.
