Judge Tucker, E. J. Davenport and T. C. Hornby went to Norfolk Tuesday to see Senator Thurston and talk over matters of interest to Cherry county.

J. W. Stetter and J. C. Stotts came down from Cody yesterday. It is reported that a "blind tiger" is running in Cody, and these gentlemen should be protected.

Put a cross in the circle under the cottage next Tuesday, and vote for honesty and economy in government.

Kashlallah and Long Pumpkin, two Indians, had a cutting match at their camp south of the track Friday night and Long Pumpkin got the worst of the fray.

J. W. Stetter had a new sidewalk built in front of his lot on Main street north of McDonald's store. Now let the good work go on from the saloon to the postoffice.

This paper has purchased a 50th font of type like that in which this item is set, and if subscribers will do their duty 100 pounds more will be added to our outfit soon.

Woodruff Ball was in town Monday on his way home from Omaha where he had been with several cars of cattle. Mr. Ball struck the market at an "off" time and sold for $3.75.

Judge Walcott went to Cody last night to be present at the preliminary hearing of a cattle case preferred by an Indian named Geureux against Albert Nenzel. We failed to learn all the particulars of the case.

Our fellow townsman G. P. Crabb has again been honored by Gov. Holcomb, this time being appointed associate delegate to the 18th session of the Farmers National Congress to be held at Fort Worth Texas, December 6 to 14.

Stanley Ray stopped in town Monday while on his way home to Chadron after his discharge from the Second Nebraska. Stanley also visited Pierce on his way here, and his sister Pearl accompanied him to Valentine for a short visit.

Felix Nollette, one of our good democrats from Kewanee, was in town Monday and reported that the fusion ticket is a winner in his section of the country. While in town Felix purchased a new Moline wagon for use on his farm.

P. O. Parsons, the photographer is at Shaw's old stand and will remain next week. Hereafter he will be here regularly on the 1st of each month and remain until the 12th. Parsons is doing some fine work, his enlarged photos being especially good. He sells frames of all descriptions too.

For Sale—320 acres of good land, 10 miles from Valentine and 3 miles from railroad station. 130 acres fenced; good well and windmill; plenty of hay and range for either sheep or cattle. Frame house, log barn, good sheds, corral and other improvements. Address this office.

A. W. Scattergood was in town from Ainsworth Tuesday and although we are old and good friends will never let us know he was in town. It is a pity that such a good man as Scattergood should be engaged in the kind of politics he was while here. He ought to know that Senator Mutz will be re-elected by a far larger majority than he had two years ago.

A Roub' House.

Hon. W. B. Price, who spoke here last Friday was for many years prior to '96 a republican worker in Lincoln. Thursday night he was billed to speak at Woodlake and made his appointment. Shortly after the meeting began the door was opened and to his surprise in walked Bill, John and Jim Dorgan, of penitentiary scandal fame, Councilman Webster, of Lincoln, John Fairchild court reporter, and Jas. Parker ex-chief of police. The crowd had come in from the lakes where they had hunting and proceeded to make a rough "house" for Price, all these worthies being "under the influence" except Webster. Nonsensical questions and impudent interruptions occurred until Mr. Price was compelled to call a halt. The meeting was destroyed by this gang and we presume our republican friends think they won a great victory.

Mutz and Price.

A fair audience greeted the above named gentlemen last Friday night when they appeared at Cornell Hall, and Senator Mutz spoke first. He made a masterly and eloquent address and gave a full and complete account of his stewardship. He told what had been done, and gave an outline of what he proposed to do if re-elected. His remarks upon revenue reform opened the eyes of his hearers to the abuses of our tax laws as practiced in the eastern part of the state, and proved by figures from the grand assessment roll that the west pays from 50 to 100 per cent more than its equitable share of taxes. He outlined his remedy for this state of affairs and his remarks were greeted with great applause. He told of his work in behalf of the stock men of this state, and outlined the work of the investigating committee of which he was a member and showed that the state had got more than "value received" for what money the committee had spent. Senator Mutz made many friends by his frank and open talk. The chairman next introduced Mr. Price, who in 1895 was private secretary to Lieut. Gov. Moore, but couldn't stand the rottenness of the old republican party and in 1898 worked for Bryan. Mr. Price is employed in the state auditor's office, and gave some very interesting facts in connection with the management of our state government by republicans. He continued his remarks principally to the state questions and speaking of the claim that the old ring had no more to do with republican politics in this state, he said the mourners who had been following the g. o. p. had lost the corpse and were following a scavenger wagon instead.

Put a cross in the circle under the rooster next Tuesday and you will never regret it

Can it be possible that since the exposure of W. D. Morgareidge's ignorance that his friends have induced him to hide himself from public view? It would not surprise even his most intimate friends if he is violating the law of this state by holding teachers' examinations every Saturday in different parts of the county. No doubt he thinks he can run the office to suit his own fancy regardless of law.—Republican.

The above is about the meanest and most contemptible piece of "politics" that ever came under our notice, and stamps the author, who is not Bro. Barker, as being not only devoid of common sense but lacking in decency besides. A man who would be guilty of expressing the sentiment contained in the second sentence is unworthy of being recognized as a man. Will Morgareidge has a reputation that is unsullied, and is known far and wide as a man who would not knowingly do a wrong act, or speak an untruth. He has done nothing that country superintendents the state over are in the habit of not doing, and the records of his office show scores of precedents for his actions—in every respect since he has been superintending. This vile attempt to convey the impression that he is an habitual law breaker could proceed from the brain of none but a person so lost to decency that his only fit companions will be found among the lowest of the low.

Democrats and populists have tried to make this a clean an honest campaign. They have thrown no mud, and cast no slurs. They have said nothing about Miss Brown's second grade certificate, and have not dwelt upon the method of her appointment by a republican committee who dared not trust her name to a convention, but this and other vile rot almost compels that retaliatory measures be used.

During the last four years Ed Clarke has drawn from the county treasury the sum of $1,706.90, and he now wants to make another grab. His only means of sustenance has been the tax-payers, and these he has fooled and bamboozled to his heart's content. He himself admits that he will not know what to do if he fails to be elected. Mr. Morrissey is diffident. He has a business which is a good one, and it will be taken care of. He doesn't try his cases on the street corners, and when he is retained by a man that man will receive good service in his cause. He does not live by trickery, but by legitimate means. A vote for Morrissey is a vote for honesty, honor, sobriety and industry; a vote for Clarke is the opposite.

Three years ago the Republican nearly had a fit because Miss Stoner, a woman, was running for office. Five years ago it wasted half a column of space trying to prove she was not eligible to the office, because she had not accepted a contract to teach, in this county, until she went to Osceola and found she could do better here. Now it is supporting a woman, and one who is a resident here only by virtue of her position as a teacher.

Tom Kelly's argument against Shore is this: "True enough, John Shore knows how to drive cattle, and raise calves, but what part of a man would he be in sassaety, and what do a cattle driver know about parliamentary rules? Oh am the candidate of the republican party, and yees moost all vote for me." Tom is the laughing stock of all the people he approaches, and is generally known as "Pettijohn's O. K." candidate.

Many people have wondered why Gen. Joe Wheeler "fell down" before the war investigating committee and eulogized the conduct of the late war. Perhaps the fact that his son, Second Lieutenant Wheeler, was jumped over the heads of 1716 other officers and made Major of Ordnance had something to do with it.

The State Journal and other republican papers published full accounts of the Alger whitewash committee when the reports were all good, but now that the committee is beginning to uncover some of the infamy of the administration during the late war, testimony of witnesses is boiled down until it is very dry.

A. H. Metzger in the commissioner's office means economy and sound business sense in the management of county affairs. A man of few words, he is a man of deeds, and we believe he will make a record as a friend of the people which can be surpassed by none. Vote for him.

Once again we rise to say that we like Miss Brown, but her politics and political associates have forever destroyed her hopes of filling the position left vacant by Miss Stoner. She was wise in holding on to her job in the public schools.

W. F. Morgareidge is a Cherry county boy, and a tax-payer. What money he earns is spent almost entirely here. He does not go to Iowa every summer to dispose of his earnings. His opponent has never claimed this as her home.

"Vote for Kelly because he didn't want the office" is a republican song. "Vote for Clarke because he can't get along without an office" is another. The two don't harmonize.
