Sandy Griswold and other city sports are urging the legislature to so amend the game law of the state that the open season for chicken and grouse will begin August 1, one month earlier than at present, and close December 1. And this they are urging upon the ground that it will be a protection to the game. The trouble with sports of this class is that they cannot shoot a full grown chicken while on the wing, and they want an opportunity to come up here and kill them with clubs. If the game law is amended, the open season should be made October to January, rather than earlier.

Judge Kinkaid held a special term of court here Tuesday and did considerable routine business in the foreclosure line. In order to expedite matters at the regular term he took this occasion to appoint Clarke & Tucker as counsel for Andrew Christiansen, now in jail. Lena George applied for a divorce from Edmond George, who has been in the penitentiary for some time for stealing cattle. About the most important case decided was that of Reinert vs Cherry County, an appeal case growing out of the law passed two years ago requiring road overseers to fill old wells in their districts. The court gave the plaintiff judgment for $77.20. It is the first case of the kind that has been decided and was submitted to the court last fall.
