Good Blood!

Your heart beats over one hundred thousand times each day. One hundred thousand supplies of good or bad blood to your brain.

Which is it?

If bad, impure blood, then your brain aches. You are troubled with drowsiness yet cannot sleep. You are as tired in the morning as at night. You have no nerve power. Your food does you but little good.

Stimulants, tonics, headache powders, cannot cure you; but will. It makes the liver, kidneys, skin and bowels perform their proper work. It removes all impurities from the blood. And it makes the blood rich in its life-giving properties.

To Hasten Recovery.

You will be more rapidly cured if you will take a laxative dose of Ayer's pills each night. They arouse the sluggish liver and thus cure biliousness.

Write to our Doctors.

We have the exclusive services of some of the most eminent physicians in the United States. Write freely all the particulars in your case.

Words Enough.

In a recent talk about the Algonquin language Dr. Edward Everett Hale observed that 600 words of any language are enough for human communication. "Six hundred words," he said, "are said to be sufficient for the couriers in Europe, and it is the outside limit of the vocabulary of the Italian opera. It is true that this is the minimum of human inteligence, in both cases; but still it answers for the conveyance of thought. In the book of Judges, for instance, there are not 700 different words."

Cost of Nicaragua Canal.

The estimates for constructing the Nicaragua Canal vary from $115,000,000 to $150,000,000. How different are the estimates of the people as to the value of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. It is agreed that this remedy is unsurpassed for indigestion, biliousness, constipation, nervousness and sleeplessness. It is such an agreeable medicine to take.

One of Many.

She—Were you wounded at Santiago?

He—No; I was wounded at Washington.

She—Why, how could that be?

He—I was wounded in my vanity. You see, I failed to get the promotion I expected.

Landor, the poet, says in one of his sweet little sonnets: "We are what suns, and winds, and waters make us;" but unfortunately suns will scorch, winds will roughen, and waters will not remove the injurious effects of the other two upon the lovely complexion of the fairer sex. For ages chemists have tried to distill from herbs and minerals an elixir of beauty, but they have failed, and it was left to modern times to find a cosmetic which should remove every speck and blemish, and leave a soft and pearly loveliness upon the roughest skin. Gouraud's Oriental Cream does this, and while so perfectly harmless that spring water is not more so, it has a magic influence upon the complexion which cannot be overestimated or believed until realized. To our lady readers we simply say, would you be as lovely as kindly Nature intended? Then use the Oriental Cream.

Also from the noted star actress:

Philadelphia, Nov. 22, 1883.

"I cordially recommend Dr. T. Felix Gouraud's 'Oriental Cream, or Magic Beautifier,' as it is perfectly harmless."

Sincerely, LILLIE HINTON.

All the year around chronic or neglected rheumatism hangs on. It is worse in chilly, damp weather, but never so bad that St. Jacobs Oil can't promptly and effectually cure it.

After-Effects of the GRIP

Grip is a treacherous disease. You think it is cured and the slightest cold brings on a relapse.

Its victims are always left in a weakened condition—blood impure and impoverished; nerves shattered. Pneumonia, heart disease and nervous prostration are often the result.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People will drive every trace of the poisonous germs from the system, build up and enrich the blood and strengthen the nerves. A trial will prove this. Read the evidence:

When the grip last visited this section Herman H. Eveler, of 811 W. Main St., Jefferson, Mo., a well-known contractor and builder, was one of the victims, and he has since been troubled with the after-effects of the disease. A year ago his health began to fail, and he was obliged to discontinue work. That he lives to-day is almost a miracle. He says:

"I was troubled with shortness of breath, palpitation of the heart and a general debility. My back also pained me severely.

"I tried one doctor after another and numerous remedies suggested by my friends, but without apparent benefit, and began to give up hope. Then I saw Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People extolled in a St. Louis paper, and after investigation decided to give them a trial.

"After using the first box I felt wonderfully relieved and was satisfied that the pills were putting me on the road to recovery. I bought two more boxes and continued taking them.

"After taking four boxes of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People I am restored to good health. I feel like a new man, and having the will and energy of my former days returned, I am capable of transacting my business with increased ambition.

"Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are a wonderful medicine and any one suffering from the after-effects of the grip will find that these pills are the specific." H. H. EVELER.

Mr. Eveler will gladly answer any inquiry regarding this if stamp is enclosed.—From Cole Co. Democrat, Jefferson City, Mo.

HOUSEHOLD DEPARTMENT

How to Roast a Turkey.

Turkey or chicken roasted beyond a certain point becomes dry and tasteless. A certain test of their being done is when the leg begins to cleave from the body. They may be tried from the second joint, using a skewer or knitting needle, which is one of the cleanest things you can use in a kitchen. In roasting allow twenty minutes to a pound. If the fowl is covered it will require no basting; but if uncovered it should be basted every ten minutes.

In making a sausage stuffing for fowl allow as many dried crumbs to the stuffing as it will take up. If pork is used in the stuffing, chop fine and use capers, pickles or parsley with it. Sage should always be used with either a pork or sausage dressing.

An Ironing Table.

Where the ironing has to be done upon the ordinary kitchen table great inconvenience is usually experienced because of lack of room. To gain more space, the device shown may well be adopted. It is an extra "leaf" of large size, made to fit one side of the kitchen table, being attached by side hooks and supported by two square pieces of wood that fit into iron straps screwed to the bottoms of the table legs and the underside of the "leaf." Such an addition can be put into place or removed almost instantly.—Ladies' World.

To Cure Earache.

Take equal parts of glycerine and laudanum, slightly warmed, and pour into the ear from a teaspoon; insert the cotton afterwards. This is better than wetting the cotton with it, because it will reach the innermost parts of the ear and soften the wax, which is frequently the cause of the pain. If the ear itches inside do not insert any hard substance, but chew until soft one end of an ordinary wooden toothpick and use that instead. Again, if a bug or gnat or any foreign substance gets in the ear, immediately fill the ear with melted lard (not too warm). This will instantly kill any insect, which will, by turning the head to one side, pass out with the lard.—Orange Judd Farmer.

A Fruit Soup.

Soups made of fruit are a Swedish dish, and worth trying. To make one of these soups take a cupful of dried evaporated apples, two tablespoonfuls of uncooked rice, a tablespoonful of raisins, three or four whole cloves. After the apples have been thoroughly soaked, put them with the other ingredients in a sauce-pan with three pints of water and cook for one hour. Then rub through a sieve, add a little salt and a trifle of sugar and serve.

Hints.

Sharpen all kinds of fish sauce with lemon juice.

A dash of black pepper greatly improves vanilla ice cream.

When using vanilla for flavoring add half a teaspoonful of peach extract.

Put sugar in water used for basting meats of all kinds; it adds flavor, especially to veal.

Add a cup of good date vinegar to the water in which you boil fish, especially if it is salt fish.

When baking fish place on the top thin slices of salt pork; it tastes the fish and improves the flavor.

To give an appetizing flavor to a broiled beefsteak rub a cut onion over the hot platter with the butter.

Chocolate is greatly improved by adding a teaspoonful of strong coffee just before serving.

Three tablespoons of freshly made tea, with a pinch of nutmeg, imparts an indescribable flavor to apple pie.

To improve sweetbreads and give them a fine flavor soak them in mild lemon juice water an hour, and then broil twenty minutes in beef stock.

To take ink stains from white cotton goods wet the garment in water, rub common soap on the spot and pour spirits of turpentine on. Lay aside a while. Rub gently, adding more soap and turpentine until the spot disappears.

It is, perhaps, not generally known that gems may be made from fresh sweet corn as well as from Graham flour or cornmeal. To the grated pulp of about three ears of corn, a cup of milk, two eggs, well beaten, a little salt and a cup and a half of flour may be added. The mixture is baked in gem pans for half an hour.

Decorative Don'ts.

Don't put borders on carpets for small rooms.

Don't believe for a moment that expensiveness is essential to beautiful effects.

Don't make a table a pivotal point from which the rest of the furniture radiates.

Don't make a narrow doorway narrower with a heavy drapery. We drape too much.

Don't use decided patterns for upholstery if you have done so for wall and floor coverings.

"Kit and Kit's Sister."

Kitty Riley and her sister Maggie had been married on the same day nearly two years ago. Both had married honest workingmen, with steady positions, and the wages of both husbands were about equal. Each had been presented with a son and heir, and both the sisters ought to have been happy, but while Kit and her husband were always in good spirits, light-hearted, contented and pleased with their lot, there seemed to be a shadow hanging over the household that was ruled by Kit's sister.

It was not that any trouble or misunderstanding existed between Maggie and her husband. Far from it. They loved each other dearly, and were always happy in each other's society, as true wives and husbands ought to be, but there soon crept into the young wife's eyes a careworn, worried look that betokened secret sorrow of some kind. Between care for her baby and her household duties her time was fully occupied—indeed, it was noticed that she did not take her infant out for an airing anything like as often as did her sister Kit. At first her husband, John Clarke, was too busy to notice any change in his wife, and it was only when Kit's husband, Tom White, began to ask if Maggie was ailing that poor John directed his attention to his wife's appearance.

"Maggie," he said one evening in a self-reproachful way, "I have been rather neglectful of you of late, I am afraid, and I haven't been taking care of your health and comfort. You are beginning to look pale and thin, and, now I notice it, the baby is not as healthy looking as he ought to be. You'll have to go out more. You don't get enough of fresh air, and neither does the child! Why don't you put him in the baby carriage and take him out for an hour or so in the mornings and afternoons?"

"I haven't time, John," replied Maggie, in a sad tone of voice. "There is so much to be done in the house, you know, and between that and the baby I don't have a minute to spare."

"Well, your sister Kit has just the same to contend with. She keeps her house clean and attends to little Tommy, and yet she finds time to take a run in the park every day with the boy, and she is as blooming and fresh in appearance as a new-blown rose."

"I know she is, John, and I can't understand it." (Here a tear crept into the little woman's eye and her lip trembled.) "It isn't that I don't feel well, but somehow or another I am always tired. I am trying to keep things clean and straight all the time, and yet I never seem to get ahead. God knows I would often like to take baby out for a blow of fresh air, but I don't seem to be able to afford the time!"

"Well, see here, now, Maggie," said her husband kindly. "Your health and the child's is of much more importance to me than the house work. Don't do so much cleaning! It isn't a bit necessary. I've noticed you scrubbing and rubbing many a time when I couldn't see the use of it. Take more healthy exercise and do less hard work."

"No, John, that will never do," answered Maggie; "I'm quite willing to have some restful exercise, but not at the expense of a clean house. I like my home to be scrupulously clean at all times."

"Well, it is clean; I'll give you credit for that," said her husband quickly, "but then you are too particular. Give as much care to yourself and the baby as you do to the housework, and you'll feel better and so will I! Now just get baby and yourself ready, and we'll walk over to your sister's—there's a good girl."

Maggie rose and dressed the baby and handed him to papa while she prepared herself. In the midst of her preparations she said: "Really, John, I don't see how I can afford the time to go! That kitchen floor ought to be scrubbed to-night and I was going to clean up all the door knobs and brasswork."

"Let the brasswork be—photographed!" exclaimed John, somewhat testily. "You'll keep on rubbing and scrubbing, and brushing and cleaning until you drop into the grave! Hereafter you'll have to go out every day for at least two hours. I insist on it, and I'm going to ask Kit to come over and take you with her regularly from this day."

At Kit's house they naturally met with a cordial reception from Tom and his wife. The house was as trim and neat and straight as busy hands could make it, but Kit and the baby had been out in the park all the afternoon! John Clarke sighed as he noticed the different complexions of Kit and her sister. The one was ruddy with health, the other pale, wan and sickly looking.

"You poor dear!" exclaimed Kit, commiseratingly, "I'm sure she must be ill, John, or she would not look so tired and weary."

"I am not ill, Kit—indeed I am not, and you know I never was lazy, but somehow I don't seem to keep up with my work, and yet you get ahead of yours always. I was always as strong as you were, and naturally as quick, but I honestly cannot understand how you manage to get through all your housework and yet have so much time to yourself."

"Perhaps," said Tom White, as a light gleamed in his eyes, "perhaps this secret is easily solvable after all. Tell us, Maggie, do you use Sapolio in your housecleaning?"

"Why no! I use almost anything I can buy at the store."

"There," cried Kit, triumphantly, "that is really the secret of your troubles! You just use Sapolio as I do, Maggie, and you'll find the work easier in every way. You'll have lots of time to yourself, and therefore you'll feel better, and enjoy good health!"

What a Former Resident of Cascia County, Idaho, Has to Say Regarding Western Canada.

Mr. T. A. Tolman of Lacombe, Alberta, N. W. T., a former resident of Cascia County, Idaho, who moved to Western Canada in July, 1894, writes as follows:

"I brought here thirty-four head of cattle, fifteen horses, two wagons, two sets of harness and one hundred and fifty dollars in cash. I homesteaded the southeast quarter of section 28, township 40, range 26, west of the fourth meridian, also purchased a quarter section of Canadian Pacific Railway land. I have been farming more or less nearly all my life and I am convinced that you can raise crops 40 per cent cheaper here than where I came from. My capital at present, counting everything, is about five thousand dollars. The yield of my grain all round in 1897 was 69 bushels per acre. This year (1898) yield of wheat per acre 37½ bushels, oats 50 bushels, barley 35 and potatoes 400 per acre. I consider this is a much better country for a man than where I came from, provided he is industrious. You get a free homestead here and Canadian Pacific Railway lands are cheap and the terms easy. I have now made my seventh payment on the land purchased by me and am much pleased with my purchase, as the land has already much more than paid for itself. School law here is decidedly ahead of where I came from, and there are schools wherever there are settlers."

TUMOR EXPELLED.

Unqualified Success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Mrs. Elizabeth Wheelock, Magnolia, Iowa, in the following letter describes her recovery from a very critical condition:

"Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—I have been taking your Vegetable Compound, and am now ready to sound its praises. It has done wonders for me in relieving me of a tumor.

"My health has been poor for three years. Change of life was working upon me. I was very much bloated and was a burden to myself. Was troubled with smothering spells, also palpitation of the heart and that bearing-down feeling, and could not be on my feet much.

"I was growing worse all the time, until I took your medicine.

"After taking three boxes of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Lozenges, the tumor passed from me.

"My health has been better ever since, can now walk quite a distance and am troubled no more with palpitation of the heart or bloating. I recommend your medicine to all sufferers from female troubles."

It is hardly reasonable to suppose that any one can doubt the efficiency of Mrs. Pinkham's methods and medicine in the face of the tremendous volume of testimony.
