A dog fight scared Hans Uhlrich's team Tuesday and they ran away. They started in the alley back of Hans' house and ran down the same and up Main street when they were turned and ran into the billboard across from this office, where they stopped. Hans' young daughter was in the wagon when the team started and pluckily stayed with them until the windup. She had them headed for the open prairie and said she would have given them all the run they wanted if she had got them out there.

Republicans are rejoicing that the state of Nebraska has been redeemed. Does this mean that they want another robbery of state funds? Every one knows what Republican rule in the state was when the populists got control. Not a crooked act can be cited in the populist administration and now they say "the state has been redeemed."
The board of county commissioners met Tuesday to attend to such business as should come before them. Several claims were put in for keeping poor people and a claim by Gottfried Smith of Wood Lake, for damage on account of a public road being laid out on his land.
