It is reported that Robert Faddis' dwelling was struck and Chas. Sherman who was sitting in the doorway of his livery stable says the cinders flew into his face and he thinks the lightning probably struck in the yard in front of the barn.

Shortly after six o'clock Tuesday evening the dwelling house owned by Robt. Robinson on the north-east corner of Cherry and Virginia streets was struck by lightning in two places. The first visitation ripped the chimney, located in the center of the roof, from top to bottom, a portion of the electric fluid being deflected along the rafters toward the south thence down the south wall into the ground, ripping off a square yard or so of plaster in its passage. Immediately afterwards a second bolt struck the roof near the eaves on the east side, ripping off a few shingles and partly demolishing a screen door at the same time filling the room with a blinding glare of light and partially stunning the family who were at the supper table.

Dr. Seymour realizes the responsibility placed upon opticians. He realizes that wrong glasses ruin sight; that the right glasses strengthen sight. Realizing these things, he could not be careless and inaccurate.

Drs. Seymour & Williams have decided to make our city visits at regular intervals, their next visit being on Monday, September 9. They will be at the Donohoe hotel as usual. Those wishing to consult them should call early. 30

Your automatic blood cooler.

You will never be overcome by the heat as long as your pores are open and active. When the pores are not obstructed, any rise in the temperature of the blood causes an increase of perspiration, the evaporation of which acts as an automatic cooler of the body and prevents overheating. The pores should be kept in an active condition by a daily bath during hot weather. Comfort and safety demand it. The luxury and effectiveness of bathing are doubled by adequate bath supplies. We have everything required: Fine sponges, pure soaps, refreshing sea salt, fragrant toilet waters and good bath brushes that increase the vigor of the skin.
