Ants H ve Peculiar Ways.

Certain kinds of black ants have little yellow ants which do most of their work for them. Once 11 awhile these little yellow fellows will have traveled exceptionally long disgo on a strike and the "blacks" try to force them back to work by cutting off their food supply. If that does not succeed they will attack the strikers in force or make a rai and get another gang of "yellows" into the colony. But the newcomers as a rule join the strikers. The strike ends by the "yellows" escaping and foundnig a colony for themselves.

MEMORIAL TO MRS. EDDY.

Her Followers Purchase House Where "Science and Health" Was Written. The house at Lynn, Mass., where Mrs. Mary Baker G. Eddy wrote her famous book, "Science and Health,"

the law and the gospel of the great Christian Science Church of which she is the originator and head, has just been purchased by her faithful followers in that city and will be preserved as a memorial to their revered teacher. It is MRS. EDDY. to be remodeled into a church. There was talk of tearing down and building a modern church edifice, but the majority of the society favor making such changes as will provide a place of worship and at the same time keep intact as a memorial the room where the creed was born.

The house is 12 Broad street, centrally located and an ideal location for church purposes. It is the mecca of thousands of pilgrims who come from far and near. At present it is occupied by two families, and they have both been obliged in self-defense to forbid inspection of the interior of the premises, except in rare cases where people tances with this in view.

The upper tenement is occupied by a Mrs. Cole, and the tide of travel turns more naturally in her direction than to the lower part of the house, from the fact that he room Mother Eddy oc cupied and where she performed her task is in the upper comment. Some days there is almost a steady stream of callers, and the number increased so rapidly that it took up the time of one servant answering the bell and interfered with household affairs so much that the door had to be closed to all strangers.

"I'm not sure." they replied, "wheth er it is seven or eight," and one of their began to count it over and over on h fingers, with a puzzled look on her face "Well," resumed the blonde girl, say the New York Times, "we worried ove it and worried over it until at last w just counted out the money, each of us I counted out 25 cents and handed to her, and she counted out 18 cents an handed it to me, and that was the only way we could think of to settle it."

From a military viewpoint there is no necessity for troops at that are better off at home, Dick. It's very post, but there are good historic reasons for retaining it as a military station. Fort Marcy is the oldest of the posts of the far Southwestern frontier. The original buildings, long since gone to decay, were on a bluff overlooking New Mexico's ancient capital. They were laid out by Brigadier Genera. Kearney in 1846, shortly after his occupation of the city, and their construction was begun by Col. Doniphan's First Missouri Volunteers and continued by Col. Price's Second Missour Regiment when Doniphan's regiment marched for Chihuahua.

The post for nearly half a century was the headquarters of the Depart ment of New Mexico. At it have been stationed many of the most eminent men in the military annals of the nation. With the decay of the old adobe buildings, from whose sides cannon head. frowned down on Santa Fe. new buildings were constructed at the base of the bluff. The post was named after William L. Marcy, who was War Secretary during Polk's administration. With the new policy of concentrating troops in larger bodies near some great city, Fort Marcy was abandoned, as were a dozen other posts in New Mexco, the allegiance of the Mexican population being assured and the Indian problem having been practically solved.
