Why He Wept.
The extensive authority of parents under the Chinese laws is well known. A Chinaman of forty years, whose aged mother flogged him every day, shed tears in the company of one of his friends.
"Why do you weep?" he was asked.
"Alas! things are not as they used to be," answered the devoted son.

GOOD Short Stories

One of the briefest naval dispatches ever penned was Captain Walton's message to his chief, Admiral Byng, after the defeat of the Spanish fleet off Cape Passaro in 1718, and it ran thus: "Sir—I have taken and burnt as per margin, going for Syracuse, and am, sir, your obedient servant—J. Walton."

Jacob A. Rills tells of an Irish teamster who went to the priest in a fright; he had seen a ghost in the church wall as he passed it in the night. "And what was it like?" asked the priest. "It was like nothing so much as a big ass," said Patrick, wild-eyed. "Go home, Pat! and be easy," replied the priest, soothingly; "you've only seen your own shadow."

Thomas Bailey Aldrich once received a pathetic letter in a feminine hand announcing the death of a little daughter, and asking if he would not send in his own handwriting a verse or two from "Babbie Bell" to assuage the grief of the household. Aldrich sent the whole poem, and not long after saw it displayed in the shop of an autograph dealer, with a good, round price attached thereto.

Little Prince Edward of Wales, son of England's heir-apparent, said, the other day, to a lady who was visiting the royal children in their nursery: "Do you think that great-grandmamma is quite happy in heaven?" "Yes, dear," replied the lady; "don't you think so?" "Well, I am not quite sure," answered he; "you see, she will have to walk behind the angels there, and here she always walked in front."

On one occasion a great public dinner was given to Isaac Hull by the town of Boston, and he was asked to sit for his picture to Gilbert Stuart, the celebrated artist, who was a great braggart. When Hull visited his studio, Stuart took great delight in entertaining him with anecdotes of his English success, stories of the Marquis of This, and the Baroness of That, which showed how elegant was the society to which he had been accustomed. Unfortunately, in the midst of this grandeur, Mrs. Stuart, who did not know that there was a sister, came in with her apron on and her head tied up with some handkerchief, from the kitchen, and cried out: "Did you mean to have that leg of mutton boiled or roasted?" To which Stuart replied, with great presence of mind: "Ask your mistress."

Captain Richard Phillips Leary, U. S. N., who passed away not long ago, issued a number of proclamations shortly after he was made first governor of Guam, which contributed materially to the gayety of nations. Perhaps his most famous order was on the subject of matrimony, upon which subject the natives of Guam did not seem to have very definite ideas. Captain Leary enlightened them in a general order, which was as sensible as it was direct. The proclamation threatened fine and imprisonment for the refractory ones, requiring every one to be married by either church or state, and promising marriage licenses free for six weeks. The order was generally obeyed, and Captain Leary reported that "the divorce court and the hymeneal altar are popular resorts. The court orders and the merry wedding bells are constantly and harmoniously ringing out their decrees."

Catching Red-Hot Rivets.
It would seem not to be a pleasing occupation, even if the rivet is caught in an old nail-peg, yet the feat is constantly performed by workmen on the rapid transit subway in New York. An old riveter described the operation to a reporter of the Sun.

Ordinarily, he said, they catch rivets just as they are doing here, in a rivet-peg or something of that sort. But there are men who catch rivets with a pair of tongs; just reach out for them and nip a red-hot rivet out of the air with the nipper part of the tongs, the same as a bird would nip a flying feather or what not out of the air with his beak.

You might see rivets caught in this manner by riveters at work on the structure of the elevated railroad—thrown up to them from a forge on the ground below. This, to be sure, would not be commonly a very high throw or a long catch, but it takes skill, nevertheless, to catch a rivet with a pair of tongs even at that distance. You might see rivets nipper-caught at greater distances than that sometimes by riveters at work on buildings.

Back Talk.
Mr. Spatz—It's not polite to yawn in the presence of company the way you did.

Mrs. Spatz—I know that, but I put my hand up to my mouth and—

Mr. Spatz—That's not sufficient. You should use something that would completely conceal your mouth.—Philadelphia Press.

Very Similar.
"Have you ever passed through the 'Care of the Winds'?" asked the drummer of the long-haired passenger, as the train approached Niagara Falls.
"Not exactly," replied the l. h. p. sadly. "But I married a Pittsburg widow nearly a year ago."—Chicago News.

Presidents on Postage Stamps.

If President McKinley's portrait is put on one of the postage stamps of the country, as dispatches from Washington have said is likely to be done in case the post office department brings out a new issue, his portrait will be the ninth of a president to be used in that way, says the New York Sun. Ever since Uncle Sam's post office began making stamps in 1847 or thereabouts, the face of Washington has appeared on one of the stamps in every regular issue, and with a single exception on a stamp of low value and general use.

Benjamin Franklin's face has always adorned postage stamps of low value, and has thus become familiar to people who send or receive letters ever since 1847. Presidents other than Washington whose faces have appeared on the stamps are Jefferson, Jackson, Lincoln, Garfield, Grant, Madison and Taylor. Of the stamps of higher values the 8-cent stamp now bears Sherman's picture. The 10-cent Webster's, the 15-cent Clay's, the 30-cent Jefferson's, the dollar stamp Perry's, the two-dollar Madison's and the five-dollar Marshall's.

Earth as a Conductor.

English experiments conducted with what is known as the "Armour" system, are now attracting wide attention, and are believed to have carried telegraphy without artificial conductors far beyond the invention of Marconi. By this plan the electric vibrations are sent through the ground, no poles or receiving points to gather the current from the air being needed to make the system operative.

Faithful Horse.

When the duke of Wellington was fighting in Spain there were two horses which had always drawn the same gun, side by side, in many battles. At last one was killed, and the other, on having his food brought as usual, refused to eat, but turned his head round to look for his old friend, and neighed many times as if to call him. All care was in vain. There were other horses near him, but he would not notice them, and he soon afterward died, not having tasted food since his former companion was killed.

A Postmaster's Discovery.

Lancaster, N. Y., April 21.—Mr. John Remers, postmaster of this village, was taken with Diabetes four years ago. For two years he doctored with local physicians as well as several specialists from Buffalo, but got no better. Indeed he was gradually growing worse. He stopped taking the doctors' medicine and commenced a treatment of Dodd's Kidney Pills. He used in all about ten boxes and is as strong and well to-day as ever he was.

He attributes his recovery to nothing but Dodd's Kidney Pills and says: "If I could only talk five minutes to every one who has Diabetes I am sure I could convince them that they needn't suffer a moment longer when Dodd's Kidney Pills are on sale in every drug store."

"I will cheerfully answer any letters from sick men or women, as I think every Diabetes sufferer should be told of Dodd's Kidney Pills, the remedy that saved my life."

School For Jockeys.
Kentucky turfmen are discussing the advisability of establishing a national school for jockeys, modeled on the same lines as the one operated by the Russian government. The project, to be successful, would have to include as the czar's school does, a "Siberia" for the boys who turn out "crooked," and to that end it might be a good thing.

CONGRESSMAN WILBER SAYS

[To the Pe-ru-na Medicine Co., of Columbus, O.]

'Pe-ru-na is All You Claim for It.'

Congressman D. F. Wilber, of Oneonta, N. Y., writes:

The Pe-ru-na Medicine Co., Columbus, O.:
Gentlemen—'Persuaded by a friend I have tried your remedy and I have almost fully recovered after the use of a few bottles. I am fully convinced that Pe-ru-na is all you claim for it, and I cheerfully recommend your medicine to all who are afflicted with catarrhal trouble.'—DAVID F. WILBER.

Pe-ru-na Preventive and Cure for Colds
Mr. C. F. Given, Sussex, N. B., Vice-president of "The Past-time Boating Club," writes:

"Whenever the cold weather sets in I have for years past been very sure to catch a severe cold which was hard to throw off, and which would leave after-effects on my constitution the most of the winter.

"Last winter I was advised to try Pe-ru-na, and within five days the cold was broken up and in five days more I was a well man. I recommended it to several of my friends and all speak the highest praise for it. There is nothing like Pe-ru-na for catarrhal affections. It is well nigh infallible as a cure, and I gladly endorse it."—C. F. Given.

Gave New Life and Strength.

Mr. Edward Laws, Crown Point, Ind., writes the following:

"I must tell you what a grand help Pe-ru-na has been to me. For over two years I suffered with catarrh of the lungs and throat, and although I doctored for it, nothing brought me relief until I tried Pe-ru-na. One bottle helped me greatly, and three more effected a complete cure, while at the same time it gave such new life and strength to my whole body that I feel like a new man and ten years younger.

"I hope that my testimonial may induce others who are similarly afflicted to try Pe-ru-na."—Edward Laws.
A Prominent Singer Saved from Loss of Voice.

Mr. Julian Weissitz, 176 Seneca street, Buffalo, N. Y., is corresponding secretary of the Sangesonists, of New York; is the leading second base of the Sangesonists, the largest German singing society of New York, and also the oldest.

In 1899 the Sangesonists celebrated its fifth anniversary with a large celebration in New York City. The following is his testimony:

"About two years ago I caught a severe cold while traveling and which settled into catarrh of the bronchial tubes, and so affected my voice that I was obliged to cancel my engagements. In distress I was advised to try Pe-ru-na, and although I had never used a patent medicine before, I sent for a bottle.

"Words but ill describe my surprise to find that within a few days I was greatly relieved, and within three weeks I was entirely recovered. I am never without it now, and take an occasional dose when I feel run down."—Julian Weissitz.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Pe-ru-na, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.
