Central City Democrat: Where Mickey is known they are not very enthusiastic in his support. He will lose his own county, township, city and ward. A man whom neighbors refuse to endorse is poor material for governor.

Mr. Mickey does not have to foreclose a mortgage on a well in order to be sure of having a hole he can crawl into on November 5. On November 4 the voters will furnish him a deep, roomy and solitary hole which he can enter and pull in after him.—Alliance Herald.

It is estimated that one million union men marched in Labor Day parades. If this number of organized workmen would vote for their own interests instead of allowing themselves to be tricked by designing politicians they could formulate the political policies of the country.—Alliance Herald.

Ewing People's Advocate: Patrick H. Barry, who left an arm on the battle ground while fighting for his country and who is now the people's candidate for congress has asked Moses P. Kinkaid, for fourteen years judge of the district court and twice the defeated candidate of the moneyed power for congress, to meet him in joint debate. Will the dignified judge accept.

Aurora Sun: The old soldiers of Polk county are drawing the line on Mickey and will not support him for governor. The only love he has had for the old soldiers of his home county has been that 2 per cent racket he has been working on them for the past twenty years. It is a fact freely predicted by those who know Mickey, that he will not carry his own county.

So far we haven't heard anything from Moses, but a wagon load of mail was unloaded Tuesday of this week at the First National Bank of Valentine which came addressed to M. P. Kinkaid and re-addressed to C. H. Cornell. We suppose those are the facts and figures why Kinkaid ought to be elected and they will bother every postmaster to death in the district trying to elect Moses.

Newport Eagle: Gen. Patrick H. Barry, a hero of Antietam and Petersburg who carries as his credentials honorable scars of those great battles, is sneeringly referred to as "Grandma" by the republican press, simply because he is old enough to wear the "red badges of courage". This is considerably different from the reception accorded to republican veterans who are candidates for office and shows the hypocrisy of the "old soldier" cry, so long and so effectively used by the opposition.

Dr. Nicholson, of Ainsworth, a traveling dentist who has the reputation of being a populist and a republican draws upon his imagination upon every opportunity to tell those about him that the Mickey of the republican party will be elected this fall, but when asked about Mickey's career as county treasurer, drops his head and says he doesn't know anything about that. There are a few of this class of republicans who are claiming a great deal and some even predict that Kinkaid will have a majority in the Big Sixth. The people know better and only laugh at these wild men from Bozard.

We don't blame the republican manager for thinking the fusionists are real mean when they challenge republican candidates to debate the issues with fusion candidates. Joint debates have been unfashionable in republican circles ever since Bryan walloped Connell, Thurston and Field. Besides, the average republican is so busy debating with himself and trying to make his position of yesterday square with his position today that he hasn't any time for debates with a fusionist.—Alliance Herald.

Did you ever see the hand writing on the wall Moses? Has the time come when you are called upon to lead the people out of the wilderness? Here's the wall. Yet a few more days and Moses of O'Neill will be overthrown. Well Moses is a nice fellow boy. If you don't believe it, look at his picture that people are sticking up for you to look at. Do you see what a pretty face he has when he sits for a picture? That's no joke, but Moses wants to go to congress pretty bad and if he can't get you one way he will another. See! Kinkaid has not answered any questions that have been asked him and has refused to come out in joint debate with General Barry and discuss the issues. We haven't forgotten the joint debates of Green and Norris Brown four years ago and perhaps Moses is thinking of them too. If Green was right and Norris Brown was wrong then, why isn't the republican party still wrong. Kinkaid won't discuss the matter with Gen. Barry nor will he come out and tell the people in open speech what he expects to do when he goes to congress. He is following the same plans of Norris Brown, in refusing to say what he would do with the government, land leasing bill, "the Fowler Bill" and whether or not he will favor a revision of the tariff. You know D. P. Henderson says the republican party is all right and that their course is right, but his constituents are clamoring for a revision of the tariff. You know Iowa republicans are beginning to open their eyes and are not so near the manufacturers and capitalists as Speaker Henderson which may in part account for differences of opinion. Now come Kinkaid and tell us what you'll do about these things. We want to know and think we have a right to know. Will you tell us?

The Song of Moses in the Bull Rushes
 I've wandered up and down these plains
 For nearly forty years;
 I've made a fortune with my brains
 Among my noble peers.
 But lately there has come to mind
 The fact I'm growing old
 The wheels of congress I must grind
 A seat in congress hold.
 Now voters hear my little song
 I'll sing it very nice
 To each and everyone belong
 A different kind of spice.
 I'll salt it down to suit your taste
 Give each a private spile
 No general declaratious waste
 To mix me in the deal.

Stanton Register: Last year the voters tried an experiment of selecting an unknown man for governor. Do not make that mistake this year, but cast a vote for W. H. Thompson.

Ewing People's Advocate: There is only one way in which to make the railroads pay a just share of the taxes of the state of Nebraska, and that is by electing men to office who will raise the valuation of the railroads so that the railroads and private individuals will pay on the same proportionate share. W. H. Thompson and the rest of the nominees of the ticket stand on a platform pledged to raise the valuation of the railroads of this state from $26,000,000 to $40,000,000. This is an increase of about 50 per cent. When that condition is brought about there will be no cause for complaint. Both the corporation and individual will be contributing to the support of the state in the same proportion. Vote for the populist nominees.

Charles E. Littlefield, the Maine Congressman, whom President Roosevelt has designated to draft a law to check the trusts, in his speech opening the campaign in Maine, has given us the first breath of what he intends to do with the trusts, or rather what he does not intend to do with them. He says that they cannot be reached through the tariff. Then they will not be reached at all. Everybody knows and the republicans themselves know, in the words of Secretary Root "that there seems to be but one way to deal with the trusts directly and that involves adjustment of the tariff on the products of the trusts." It will be remembered that Mr. Littlefield is the gentleman who denounced the democrats for not supporting his anti-trust amendment, and who turned directly around and says now, "that if that bill was brought up now, he would vote against it. The truth of the whole matter is simply that the republicans are bluffing the people into believing that they are opposed to trusts, while deep down in their hearts they are courting the trusts for campaign funds right along. They will not apply the feasible remedy, which Secretary Root and all the liberal-minded republicans admit is the only direct remedy. Unless the shelter of monopoly is removed the trusts will continue to become oppressive as the days go by. The republicans will not remove that shelter. They will not aim at the heart of the trouble but prefer to graze the clothes and say to the people "My but didn't we give them a close call."—Ex.

A. M. Morrissey, of Valentine, is the candidate of the populist and Democratic parties for senator of the 14th senatorial district. A better man could not have been chosen for the place. He has served the people of Cherry Co. for four years in the capacity of Co. Attorney and was tendered a third nomination this fall which he declined. He is a man who knows the needs of the people of the district and there is none better acquainted with the conditions which will have to met and dealt with in the coming session of the legislature and will give his voice and vote more conscientiously for those measures which will be for the betterment of his constituents.

On account of failing health I will sell at public auction at my place four miles northwest of Crookton, Saturday October 4, 1902; 20 head of cattle, 26 head of mules, 25 head of brood mares and colts, and 18 head of brood sows and shoats. J. R. AYERS.

P. Sullivan, of Cody, was nominated at Norden last Friday for representative of the 52nd representative District. Mr. Sullivan was for several years county commissioner of this county. He was a popular man in the county because of his honesty and fair dealing, being a friend to everyone and rendered his decisions without prejudice or malice. Every one can say a kind word for Mr. Sullivan and they will. He is a ranchman of considerable means but has made his money in cattle, land, and loans some money. Though now a man of mature years he is still strong and hearty. His friends cannot say too much good of him and if elected to represent us in this district Mr. Sullivan will truly represent with honor and credit to our people for having selected a man of his worth and standing.
