FOR THE LITTLE ONES.

Ferocious Jack and the Little Girl Who Loved Animals.

A girl of fourteen was sont to the and hock was a great towny St. Bernard dog dozing and snapping at the occasional fly that disturbed his dreams. "Oh, you beautiful old doggie! What a darling you are!" exclaimed the girl, and in another moment she was his lion head and her yellow braids decorations. half buried in his brown coat. The dog opened his sleepy eyes, licked her other hand and wagged his tail, thereby signifying that, though he had not previously had the pleasure of her acquaintance, he considered her a very nice girl indeed.

"Come here, Jack!" he added sternchild's father. "He was left to mind the till, and he would have torn any one else limb from limb. I cannot understand it." "But I do," replied the reason why Jack and the young heroine are the best of friends even unto this day.—New York News.

If I Were a King.

"If I were a king," said a child, "I would have a castle built that would reach to the clouds."

"And I," said another, "would wear only clothes made of silver and gold."

"And I," said a fat fellow, "would eat nothing but sausage and cakes." "And I," said a little girl, and she blushed a little, "would take care of all the poor children and would give them enough to eat and to wear."

A Sweet Singer.

Marshall Brigham, an Indianapolis (Ind.) boy, is creating considerable enthusiasm as a singer. From the time he was four years old he displayed marked musical talent, and even at that early age he was singing before church audiences. On June 6 last at a concert given by a chorus of 600 pupils of the Indian-apolis public schools he sang the verses of the "Battle Hymn of the Republic" as a solo. An Indianapolis paper spoke of his sweet voice and unspoiled manner as captivating the audience. Another paper | do not eat them. But when it was over and all the toys Had settled again upon the shelves, Where Jack and the dolly could not hear, They talked about it among themselves.

ALL OVER THE HOUSE.

Clothless Tables Decorated With Natural Flowers.

Following the fad for table clothless luncheons came the innumerable changes rung without ceasing on mats, doilies and lunch cloths, all gayly embroidered to imitate natural flowers.

Now comes an innovation more startling still—the needlework imitations are discarded for the real things. Flowers alone in endless variety of contrast and harmony kneeling by him with her hand on | are the latest development in table

An entire covering of daffodils, for instance, was the only "cloth" used at a pretty luncheon recentlya very coth of gold, indeed. Another showed nothing but a rosy bed of carnations strewn all over the bare board.

"I wouldn't form a complete circle of dainty have taken that risk for all that I woodland green. Upon this was possess," he said afterward to the set a huge bowl of roses. The effect was picnickly appetizing.

At another house the woodland idea was carried still further. The centerpiece was the usual bevel edge the girl. "I love animals and am mirror, and about this were sprayed not afraid of them." Maybe that is the ferns, dipping down lovingly as if into a still pool in their native haunts.

Fumigate Your Rooms.

Every house is better and the health of the family benefited by a good fumigation of the rooms now and then.

A hygienic sulphur fumigator comes in the form of a small cake, of a light yellow, which stands on a tin. You light the raised center and burning the carpet or floor. Close the doors and windows tight. Open the windows after fumigating. This fumigator is said to be excellent for purifying the air, and it is always wise to give the rooms a thorough fumigating when the house is reopened after the summer vacation. Another virtue ascribed to it is its effectiveness in banishing mosquitoes .- Philadelphia Times.

Just a Few Hints.

Here are some hints for house-Corks steeped in alcohol and vaseline are an excellent substitute for glass stoppers. Acid in no way affects them, and chemical fumes egg applied with a sponge will restore the luster to morocco. A tiny bit of cotton in the finger tips of lisle and silk gloves will make them wear longer. An alcohol sponge bath is an excellent stimulant for delicate and tired women. Many a cold may be averted if the shoulders and arms are bathed with it before donning a low cut evening

Cross Eyes Straightened

WITHOUT AN OPERATION. It is not frequent that grown people can receive the benefit that a child can, but the following very interesting case ic certainly worth reading, and those wishing to investigate the matter for themselves, will find the young lady in question at 1446 Q street. Miss Haas came to me two years ago to learn what I could do for her. Besides being blind in her right eye, which had been a condition since birth, the eyes were quite badly crossed. The treatment of this case was undertaken and after scientific adjustment of lenses her letter will best tell the results and express her feelings in the matter. After two years, it can safely be said that her eyes have been straightened and the sight of the good eye very much improved, as anyone who will call on her can readily see.

LINCOLN, Neb., Jan. 31, 1900.-Dear Mr. Seymour: The glasses you made for me two years ago have proved the greatest blessing that ever came into my life. It was bad enough to be blind in one eye, besides being cross-eyed, but the thought of possibly losing the good eye worried me very much when I first came to you for help. I am delighted to say that my one eye is very much stronger today than ever before and money would not induce me to part with my glasses or go to any one but you should I have further trouble with my eye, or be so unfortunate as to lose my glasses. I broke the bows not long ago, and could scarcely wait until they could be repaired, my eyes were so uncomfortable when I was obliged to go back to the old condition. I thank you a thousand times for what you have done for me and shall be very glad to answer any inquiries in regard to my eyes. Your sincerely, MISS LIZZIE HAAS,

Dr. Seymour wil be accompanied by a very noted ear, nose and throat specialist, and you who are in need of the services of a specialist should remember the date and cal on them. CONSULTATION FREE.
