

THE VALENTINE DEMOCRAT

I. M. RICE EDITOR

Mutual companies pay losses in full. No discount I. M. RICE, Agent.

Scissorsettes from the Western Publisher.

A sentimental editor out in Kansas asks: "Are there any sweeter words in the English language than these, 'I love you'?" Perhaps not; but the words, "Here, that dollar I owe you on subscription," are not lacking in delightful enunciation to the ear of a newspaper man.

A minister in a nearby town on a recent Sunday surprised his audience, says the Atchison (Kan.) Globe, by reading the following notice from the pulpit: "The regular session of the Donkey club will be held as usual after the services. Members will line up just outside the door, make remarks and stare at the ladies who pass, as is their custom." But they didn't that Sunday.

Shawnee County (Kan.) News: An editor works 365 1/2 days per year to get out fifty-two issues of his paper—that's labor. Once in a while somebody pays him a year's subscription—that's capital; and once in a while some dead beat takes the paper a year or two without paying for it—that's anarchy. But later on, justice will overtake the last named creature, for there is a place where he will get his just deserts—that's hell.

A north Missouri newspaper man was missing for several days after the Fourth and the following, which appeared in the first edition of his paper following his celebration was looked upon as a clue to his whereabouts by some: "He spent a dime for powder and a quarter for a gun. He spent an hour loading it, the time was spent for fun. He spent much breath in 'saying things' long ere the noise had fled. His coin's now spent for salves and oils; he spends his time in bed."

The editor sat in his easy chair, lighting his pipe on his Auburn hair. A halo shown over his face so fair, but his knees were out and his feet were bare. And he sang a song both sad and sweet, while the flies died all around his feet, for he had no grub in his shop to eat, and the ground was covered over with sleet. Now, what in the world was the cuss to do? He had eaten the paste and swallowed the glue; he hadn't a drink, he hadn't a chaw, and while he stared his whiskers grew. And the band played on.

The devil of a north Missouri paper has an ambition to become a paragrapher. The other day he produced the following which he submitted to the editor:

There are no hair on a frog. Good apples grow high, also cherries. The bumble bee looks pretty, but cut him out. The farmer who raises wheat kin git full and raise other things. The Lord made the earth, but Morgan and Carnegie owns it. A corn is a wart on your toe. Corns and warts are just the same, only different.

One day the turtle announced that he would walk on the water, and that he would do it at a certain date and place. The turtle was known as a good mixer, being equal at home in the dry and in the wet. He also had a record with the sporty boys on account of a certain affair with the hare, wherein he had won out. So he had lots of friends who were anxious to see if he could get there. When the day came all the fish assembled at the place, while all the frogs sat on the bank and croaked. The turtle stood on the shore and watched the assembling of the multitude which at last filled the stream. Then he approached the water and calmly walked across on the heads of the suckers, sidestepping occasionally to get his foot on a lobster. Moral—That is the way in politics.
