ADDITIONAL LOCAL

J. W. Groves is in the city today.
Miss. Dora Pease is clerking in the postoffice this week.

Mrs. C. S. Reece returned from Manhattan, Kan. last week.

E. C. Cole and C. L. Nicklin were in our city from Cody last Thursday.

G. S. Foxworthy, of the Country Publishers called on us last Friday while in the city.

Geo. Tracewell and family visited Martin Becker's family north east of town Easter Sunday.

Misses Elsie and Ethel Sherman were confined to their home a few during the past week with the measles.

John Bachelor and family are moving out on the ranch this week to stay for a while during the summer.

Bert Pike, of Crookston, brought in the ladies' cape last Saturday that was advertised as lost a couple of weeks ago.

Misses Maud and Byrel Tracewell expect to attend the Normal school here this summer and teach in the fall.

Dave McNichols, a brother of Mrs. Haley, came up from O'Neill last week and is looking after his homestead west of town.

Chas. Yinst has brought his cattle from the ranch and is herding them down east of town. He says some are dying of black leg.

John Porath tells us today that he has just completed a well for Frank Sedlacek on the Johnson place southwest of town.

Jos. Langer, of Norden, was in our city last Saturday getting some building material for his house that he is building on his farm.

P. Sullivan, a pioneer of this county, made us a pleasant visit yesterday while in our city on business and visiting his numerous friends.

Henry Sauerwein of Crookston was in this city Tuesday, the first time that he has been out from home since his severe attack of Pneumonia.

Miss Viola Brosius called this morning to tell us that her father and mother returned from their visit in Pennsylvania and to not send their paper there any longer.

J. H. Sears is recovering slowly from his recent attack of the grip. His son-in-law, Richard Grooms, and wife have been staying at the City Hotel a part of the time helping with the work and caring for the sick.

J. E. Thackrey started for Hot Springs last Saturday afternoon taking his two boys, Wallace and Joe with him. Mrs. Thackrey will remain here until he gets settled and will then go up on the train to join him.

The Cyrus B. Newton lecture last night amused a crowded house at the church. It failed as a lecture but afforded pleasure to those who like to laugh at the overdrawn and un-natural picturing of conditions that never existed.

The contest filed against Mrs. Arvilla Lewis' homestead by Mr. Dair, one of D. A. Hancock's hired men, came off March 20, 1903 was won by Mrs. Arvilla Lewis, now known as Mrs. R. A. McQuade. The attorney for the plaintiff was F. M. Walcott and for the defense Co. Attorney E. D. Clarke.

One of the sights on our streets yesterday was a bunch of 50 hogs driven to the stock yards by our local shipper J. W. Stetter. The hogs are as good as generally found anywhere.

Dean Efner and wife came down from Chadron last Friday and visited at W. E. Efner's and with friends until Sunday evening. We acknowledge a fraternal visit from Dean. He had been out on his homestead south east of town.

Rev. Clark, a Presbyterian minister, was here Sunday to preach at the Presbyterian church. Messdames Quigley, Gracewell, Hoening and Ward are soliciting subscriptions to engage his services for the coming year. They are meeting with success and will probably have the minister's salary mostly promised this week.

C. M. VanMeter called Tuesday while in town and subscribed for THE DEMOCRAT. Mr. VanMeter has placed an advertisement in the DEMOCRAT of his home grown trees which you will find in another part of this paper. His trees are said to be good, as those who have tried them can testify. It will pay you to see his trees if you contemplate putting out an orchard.

Henry Brown from down the Niobrara came up to town yesterday to do some trading and brought his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Brown, up with him and they had some teeth pulled by Dentist Daily. Mr. Brown made us a pleasant visit and tried some of our Missouri smoking tobacco which he pronounced fine. We credit him with a couple of dollars on subscription. Mrs. Brown will visit with her daughter, Mrs. H. McCrey, for a few weeks.

John D. Rockefeller has offered to give two-thirds of one hundred thousand dollars to the University of Nebraska for social and religious purposes, provided friends of the institution will donate the other third. All donations must be made by Jan. 1, 1904 and paid in by July 1, 1904. Rockefeller has drawn plans for the building and has based his estimate of cost upon those plans which contemplate a building similar to the Lincoln library.

Dr. Peters and Mr. Ashburn entertained and instructed a large number of farmers and citizens at the Farmer's Institute Tuesday. Those present were Messrs. Shellenbourn, Bowden, Fee, Hipple, Bliss, Haley, Perkins, Wilson, of Georgia; Jordans, of Arabia; Peterson, Latta, Daniels, Baumgartel, Bachelor, Heth, Vincent, Ayers, Davis Smith, Pike, Cramer, Swain, Cyphers, Higgins, Austin, Jeffers, Flinaux, Reece, Tracewell, etc., some of whom we couldn't call by name.

C. H. Faulhaber writes us from Brownlee that he has sold all of his bulls of 1902 crop advertised and could have sold twice as many more as a result of his advertisement in the DEMOCRAT, and will have no more bulls for sale until fall. Mr. Faulhaber says grass is growing fine and he had plenty of hay left after wintering his herd in good shape. He adds that the little white faces are everywhere in evidence, and encloses $5 dollars to pay for another year's ad and changes the name to The Loup Valley Hereford Ranch. Success to our friend C. H. Faulhaber, is the wish of the DEMOCRAT.

Perry King Dead.

Perry King died at the home of his parents in the west part of town last Sunday afternoon of consumption at the age of 23 years past. Perry had been failing rapidly since his brother Nat died a year ago last December. The funeral was held at the St. Nicholas church Tuesday at 10 o'clock a. m., Rev. F. Lechleitner officiating. A large number of friends gathered and followed the remains to Mount Hope cemetery where interment was made. The bereaved parents, sisters and brother have the sympathy of the entire community.

Dr. Barnes, the Optician, Eye Specialist of Omaha, will visit Valentine, on his way to the Black Hills, April 22nd. All examinations will be free on this trip. Office at the Donohoe hotel.

The New Era, published by Frank Mullen at Rosebud Agency, began with last Saturday. A. E. McFarridge is the editor and Wm. Thunder Hawk the printer. It is well gotten up and will be a welcome visitor at this office. A part of the paper is printed in the Sioux language.

The leaves of a diary of a certain local reformer were found in front of our office recently. The contents show that the writer is a scientific political philosopher. The entries are as follows: January 1—I am a wicked man. January 10—There are others. January 20—I'm not so worse. January 30—Be good and you'll be lonesome. February 28—There's no use living in the world unless you're in it. March 10—I'm in it.—Ex.

J. M. Lane has returned from an extended visit in Minnesota and northern Iowa after nearly a year's absence from this county. Mr. Lane visited his two daughters at Spirit Lake and spent a part of the time at Jackson, Minnesota. He expects to make his future home in Nebraska and will be content to stay here rather than any place he has been during his visit. Mr. Lane was formerly the proprietor of the meat market at Cody and is well known in our county.

The following is a pretty good story that is going the rounds, which you need not believe if you don't want to: A farmer in Indiana had a novel experience. A few years ago he built a small barn and in its construction used green willow posts at the corners and along the sides. For some time nothing unusual was noticed, but after a year he saw that whereas he had laid the floor near the ground it was three feet above the soil. He discovered that the willow posts instead of being dead, were alive; had taken root and were growing. In their upward movement they had carried the barn along. Last spring the barn was on stilts nine feet high and he put in a new floor and surrounded the posts with siding, thereby making a two-story affair. There is now a space of seven inches between the new floor and the ground and the owner expects to have a three-story barn in the course of time.—Ex.

Dr. Seymour wishes to call special attention to the fact that he will be here but one day only. His patients and friends should keep this in mind, and call upon the doctor in ample time to permit a thorough examination to be made. Consultation free.

Where To Get The News.

I was thinking just this evening, As I laid the paper down, What a blessing is a local paper, In the country and in town. Where the news are not all extracts, From one printed a month ago, But of everyday lives and doings, Of people whom we know.

It's not filled up with "Its reported," "We have heard" or "It is said," But tells you in plain simple words, Who is married, sick or dead. Of the rise and fall in prices, Of the temperature high or low, In fact it always tells you, All you really need to know.

And when we've pursued its columns, All its pages have unfurled, We find it alive to the workings, Of the busy outside world. Of the strikes, the trusts, the tariffs, And of things that are to be, Of the wars in foreign countries, Many miles across the sea.

So don't let advertisements fool you, Or idle talk your brain confuse, But stop and listen while we tell you, Just where to get the local news. If you wish to know the simple facts, And to get the news down pat, We refer you without partiality To THE VALENTINE DEMOCRAT.

An Editor's Dream.

Last evening I was talking, With an editor aged and gray, Who told me of a dream he had, I think 'twas New Year's day. While snoozing in his office, The vision came to view, For he saw an angel enter, Dressed in garments white and new. Said the angel, "I'm from heaven, The Lord just sent me down, To bring you up to glory, And put on your golden crown. You've been a friend to everyone, And worked hard night and day, You have enlightened many thousand, And from few received your pay. So we want you up in glory, For you have labored hard, And the good Lord is preparing, Your eternal just reward." Then the angel and the editor, Started up toward Glory's gate, But when passing close to Hades, The angel murmured, "wait. I have got a place to show you, It's the hottest place in hell, Where the ones who never paid you, In torment always dwell." And behold! the editor saw there, His old subscribers by the score. And grabbing up a chair and fan, He wished for nothing more. He was bound to sit and watch them, As they sizzle, singe and burn, And his eyes would rest on debtors, Whichever way they'd turn. Sain the angel, "Come on editor, There's the pearly gates I see." But the editor only muttered, "This is heaven enough for me."
