Lauren Jones the present editor of the Gordon Journal came out last week with his salutation in which he outlines the situation. We have known Mr. Jones about five years and know nothing but good of him. He is modest, unassuming and gentlemanly, a scholar of considerable talent and is in the field where his ability will be appreciated. We wish him success.

The Gordon Journal has swapped editors. The former editor, H. G. Lyon has stepped down without a farewell or a wave of the hand nor does any one seem to care if he'll just stay in the back alleys somewhere and keep out of sight. This part of the country has seen enough of the aristocrat who speaks of his wife's company as having once been a "domestic in our family," and is always trying to solve the servant problem on paper. Down and out with padded aristocracy and let this nation be free.

"Let not Caesar's servile minions Mock the Lyon thus laid low It was no human hand that slew him 'Twas his own that struck the blow."

Uncredited Ram's Horn blasts and Globe Sights don't make an editorial page of a good newspaper but they fit nicely in the setter, once said a printer, of Lyon's paper. The man succeeding Lyon as editor of the Journal is well known as an honest, honorable young man and is well liked by all who know him. If Lyon will let him alone and keep out of the office he will be successful in getting back all the trade that belongs to the Journal, but the people will insist upon knowing that Lyon has nothing to do with the paper.

Valentine Democrat: Strikers do not congregate for lawful purposes. They are insurrectionists and should be handled as such.

You talk like a man without reason and surely like one having no knowledge of the purposes and intents of organized labor. It would satisfy our curiosity to have a phrenologist examine your head. —Ainsworth Star Journal.

This a fair sample from that wild man from Berneo who poses as a great man and nominates a governor in his little insignificant paper. Burleigh thinks he is a great man because he got a job down at Lincoln as proof reader and proceeds to talk about John H. Micky for vice president of the United States and winds up by nominating him for governor to succeed himself. This Burleigh also has a great habit of prating about his brother who is a methodist preacher which he thinks will help to establish the fact that he is a great man. Now Burleigh, posing as a friend to the laboring man, means but little. It's all bullying and bragadocio with him and a spasmodic spasm seizes him when some one says something he hasn't heard before. It's plain that he wants to go with public opinion and would like to be recognized as a great man and friend to organized labor. Yes, he would even follow them in their strikes—stand with them in congregated mobs for the purpose of keeping off other laborers who have an equal right to work and earn a living. Yes, again we would find Burleigh organizing one half of the laboring men to call the other half scabs and using every effort to keep them from earning their bread and butter. Burleigh a friend to the laboring man? You'd better have your

The editor wishes to thank the citizens of Georgia for their royal hospitality in providing for the Modern Woodman who attended the funeral of their townsman and our brother Wm. Wilson.

Card of Thanks.

We desire through the columns of this paper to thank our many friends and neighbors who so kindly assisted us in the sickness and death of our beloved husband and father.

Mrs. E. H. WILSON, AND FAMILY.

Don Kellog has bought W. T. Bullis' store at Britt and takes possession at once. Mr. Bullis will move to Valentine.

H. R. Petit is here this week in the interest of the Banker's Life Association of Des Moines, and paid the M. P. Brosius policy of $2000 to Miss Nettie Brosius for the education of the two youngest boys, according to the wishes of M. P. Brosius designated in the policy. Mr. Petit wrote several applications for insurance in that order and is doing a good business for the company.

W. E. Haley and Geo. Tracewell were at Cody Saturday, Sunday and Monday conducting Heine and Waters' sales. Geo. Tracewell was auctioneer and says he was kept busy. The sale amounted to over $9000. Mr. Haley remembered the M. W. A. boys at Georgia and in getting permission to come down on a special from Cody Monday evening, also got permission to stop at Georgia and take us on. M. V. Nicholson had gone to Crookston with Max Viertel and wife and Mr. Baumgartel so didn't get home until next morning.

A Grand reception was given by the K. of P. Lodge at this place in the Fraternal hall Tuesday night. A large number were present to enjoy the hospitality and music of the Post orchestra. A supper of ice cream, cake and lemonade was served at 11 o'clock which was in keeping with the way the K. of P. boys do things—never by halves. C. M. Hunter and his beautiful bride, who is the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Maloney of the Post, were master of ceremonies and it is needless to say that all enjoyed a good time. Several were kept away by the threatening weather.
