

Give Warning of Approach of More Serious Trouble.

Do you experience fits of depression with restlessness, alternating with extreme irritability, bordering upon hysteria? Are your spirits easily affected so that one minute you laugh, and the next fall into convulsive weeping?

Do you feel something like a ball rising in your throat and threatening to choke you; all the senses perverted, morbidly sensitive to light and sound; pain in the ovaries, and especially between the shoulders; sometimes loss of voice; nervous dyspepsia, and almost continually cross and snappy, with a tendency to cry at the least provocation?

If so, your nerves are in a shattered condition, and you are threatened with nervous prostration. Undoubtedly you do not know it, but in nine cases out of ten this is caused by some uterine disorder, and the nerves centering in and about the organs which make you a woman influence your entire nervous system. Something must be done at once to restore their natural condition or you will be prostrated for weeks and months perhaps, and suffer untold misery.

Proof is monumental that nothing in the world is better for this purpose than Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; thousands and thousands of women have written us so.

How Mrs. Holland, of Philadelphia, suffered among the finest physicians in the country, none of whom could help her—finally cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—For over two years I was a constant sufferer from extreme nervousness, indigestion, and dizziness. Menstruation was irregular, had backache and a feeling of great lassitude and weakness. I was so bad that I was not able to do my own work or go far in the street. I could not sleep nights.

"I tried several splendid doctors, but they gave me no relief. After taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I soon began to feel better, and was able to go out and not feel as if I would fall at every step. I continued to take the medicine until cured.

"I cannot say enough in behalf of Lydia E. Pinkham's medicine, and heartily recommend all suffering women to try it and find the relief I did."—Mrs. FLORENCE HOLLAND, 622 S. Clifton St., Philadelphia, Pa. (Jan. 6, 1902.)

Another case of severe female trouble cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, after the doctors had failed.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I was in poor health for several years. I had female trouble and was not able to do my housework alone. I felt tired, very nervous, and could not sleep. I doctored with several doctors. They doctored me for my stomach, but did not relieve me. I read in your book about your medicine, and thought I would try it. I did so, and am now cured and able to do my work alone, and feel good. I was always very poor, but now weigh one hundred and fifty pounds.

"I thank you for the relief I have obtained, and I hope that every woman troubled with female weakness will give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. I have recommended it to many of my friends."—Mrs. MARIA BOWERS, Millersville, Ohio. (Aug. 16, 1901.)

Will not the volumes of letters from women made strong by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound convince all of the virtues of this medicine?

How shall the fact that it will help them be made plain? Surely you cannot wish to remain weak, and sick, and discouraged, exhausted with each day's work. You have some derangement of the feminine organism, and Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you just as surely as it has others.

For Aged People.
Bellefonte, Mo., July 6.—Mr. G. V. Bohrer of this place has written an open letter to the old men and women of the country, advising them to use Dodd's Kidney Pills as a remedy for those forms of Kidney Trouble so common among the aged. Mr. Bohrer says: "I suffered myself for years with my kidneys and urinary organs. I was obliged to get up as many as seven or eight times during the night. I tried many things with no success, till I saw one of Dodd's Almanacs and read of what Dodd's Kidney Pills were doing for old people. I bought two boxes from our druggist and began to use them at once. In a very short time I was well. This is over a year ago, and my trouble has not returned, so that I know my cure was a good, genuine, permanent one. I believe Dodd's Kidney Pills are a splendid medicine for old people or anyone suffering with kidney and urinary troubles, for although I am 84 years of age, they have made me well."

Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

A Schoolboy's Mistake. In a public school in the northwest section of Philadelphia it is the custom for the supervising principal to receive "Good morning" and "Good afternoon" from the pupils on entering and leaving the school. It was rather repulsive for one boy, who evaded the custom as often as possible. One Friday afternoon he saluted the principal with this startling farewell, "Go to the devil," professor, and ran out of the school. The professor became very angry over the affair and thought over several plans of punishment to mete out on the following Monday morning. Monday morning came, and with it the boy, who sat on a bench outside the classroom. When the professor appeared he began to cry, and loudly exclaimed: "Oh, professor, don't expel me; we were going to move away from here on Friday, and now we ain't." It is needless to say he was not expelled.

CRAZE FOR NOVEL READING.

Publisher Thinks "Literary" Courses Drive Many to It.
"It is a bad day for the publisher when the book buyer begins to read," is the epigram of a New York publisher. The author of the epigram discussed in the Times the increase of novel reading and its effect upon the demand for books other than fiction. Only within the last ten years, he said, had the great demand for fiction been the most striking fact of the publishing and book-selling business. Long before that time fiction had become the most important item in the United States, but never before had so many successful novels been published.

He set down the increased circulation of novels to the growth in population, wealth and education, and was hardly inclined to allow a suggestion that on the average the quality of fiction had greatly improved within twenty or twenty-five years. Never before was the financial success of novelists so much talked about and written about, and the effect was to stimulate novel writing. Not only are there more novels than ever before published, but there are vastly more than ever before rejected by the publishers.

It was doubtful, the publisher thought, whether the increase in the reading of fiction had lessened the reading in other departments of literature. Many of the new readers of fiction are persons who would read nothing else, and lovers of poetry, criticism, history and biography have not been drawn away from their favorite subjects by the fact that unknown young men and women write novels that sell by the hundreds of thousands. A large part of the most intelligent and cultivated readers gives very little time to new fiction. The fact that the colleges and universities are giving more attention to the study of fiction as a literary manifestation has given fiction an importance that it did not once have.

Another thing that the colleges are doing, the publisher thought, had lessened the reading of books proper to literature—that is, the requirement that students preparing for college shall read and study by way of task masterpieces of literature which most such young persons in the natural course of their development would not reach for years after they had finished their preparatory course. The effect was to drive many such students away from literature and make it hateful to them because they associated it with a distasteful task. Doubtless many such young men and women fled joyfully from the classics of the language to the lightest and most ephemeral of modern novels.

RELIC OF SHAKESPEARE IS SOLD FOR A HIGH PRICE

An interesting Shakespearean relic recently sold in London was the armchair made from the wood of the mulberry tree planted by Shakespeare in New Palace garden, Stratford-on-Avon. The pedigree of the chair is unquestionably authentic, since its history can be traced right from the time of the famous tree being cut down to the present day. It formerly occupied an honored place in the "Stratford Arms," Stratford. When the proprietor died, in 1845, it passed into the possession of his daughter, then to that daughter's niece, by whom it was for some time exhibited in Sheffield public museum, Weston Park. At the sale this relic was sold for $750.

"Captain," exclaimed the rich philanthropist, in a burst of generosity "I want to do something to assist you in your noble work. What shall it be?"

St. Paul, Neb., April 19, '03. National Medical Co. Gentlemen: This is to certify that I have used Liquid Koal for ergot disease in cattle and believe it to be a cure for this disease. Several instances of its efficiency have come under my personal notice. JOHN HARVEY, Ex-Mayor, Seaward, Neb., Dec. 18, 1902.

I consider Liquid Koal one of the best articles for all around purposes on the market. For mites and lice in the chicken houses and for lice on calves and horses it is the best and cheapest thing I have ever found. Liquid Koal ought to be on every farm. CHAS. BERGMAN, Coleridge, Neb., Dec. 8, 1902.

I can say that your L. K. is the best insect destroyer that I ever used. It will not injure the eggs when used on setting hens. I find it the best all around stock medicine that I ever had on the place. I advise every farmer to keep a supply on hand. G. B. GROFF.

Hartington, Neb., Dec. 10, 1902. National Medical Co., York, Neb. Dear Sir: I am a user of Liquid Koal and am well pleased with it. I would not try to do without it as I find it useful in a great many ways. I have had no sick hogs since I commenced using it a year ago. In my opinion it is the best and cheapest hog cholera preventive on the market today. You can use this as you wish. Anyone wishing to know more about this please write me. ENOCH ELY.

Seaward, Neb., Nov. 28, 1901. To Whom It May Concern: This is to certify that I have bought the third lot of Liquid Koal from the National Medical Co., and think it the best germ destroyer, appetizer and disinfectant that I have ever used. I have had occasion to use it on two different horses this summer for very severe wounds and found it the best and cheapest remedy I ever tried; would not be without it on my premises. W. E. FRANCIS.

Delmont, S. D. I have used your L. K., and think it is a good preventive and disinfectant. I used it as an aid for all kinds of stock and chickens. I had two cows that were sick and would not eat and I used L. K. and it helped them. I also used it as a hog cholera preventive, and think it is all right. G. H. PATRICK.
