Miss Alice M. Smith, of Minneapolis, Minn., tells how woman's monthly suffering may be permanently relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I have never before given my endorsement for any medicine, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has added so much to my life and happiness that I feel like making an exception in this case. For two years every month I would have two days of severe pain, and could find no relief, but one day when visiting a friend, I ran across Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound,—she had used it with the best results and advised me to try it. I found that it worked wonders with me; I now experience no pain, and only had to use a few bottles to bring about this wonderful change. I use it occasionally now when I am exceptionally tired or worn out."—Miss ALICE M. SMITH, 804 Third Ave., South Minneapolis, Minn., Chairman Executive Committee, Minneapolis Study Club. —$5000 forfeit if original of above letter proving genuineness cannot be produced.

EDWARD VII AN ACTOR.

Made His Appearance Once as a "Yeoman of the Guard."

That King Edward VII. once made his appearance upon the public stage as a chorus man in comic opera is not generally known. Indeed, at the time, not more than half a dozen of his associates behind the footlights were aware that they had royalty in their ranks, and not a soul in front discovered the identity of the burly "beef eater" who was destined to become their king.

Twenty years ago when he was Prince of Wales, his royal highness was a frequent visitor behind the scenes of certain theatres. But his presence was usually kept a profound secret, except to those few players, usually of the gentler sex, who claimed the distinction of personal acquaintance with "the first gentleman of Europe."

When Albert Edward proposed to throw off the galling cloak of royalty and pass a pleasant hour or two in the realms of the "rogues and vagabonds," always, of course, strictly incognito, the management was always informed, beforehand of his intention. Only the experienced and initiated were able to judge by infallible signs that their domain was about to be invaded by "a distinguished personage."

When it was the whim of the prince to take a surreptitious peep into stage-land or to visit some footlight favorite in his or her dressing-room, an air of mystery crept over the proceedings, and should any member of the company or employe of the theater recognize the royal visitor it was as much as his or her place was worth to signify it by a lowering look, a whispered word or a second glance.

The actor who tells the secret of the king's only appearance as a player says he is now divulging it for the first time. In 1892 he was playing at the Savoy Theater, London, as The Colonel of the Dragoons. Albert Edward's most intimate theatrical friend was George Grossmith, the Bunthorne of the opera at the Savoy. The prince was anxious to appear on the stage and look out at the boxes, instead of taking his accustomed view from the boxes to the stage. He urged Grossmith to arrange it for him, but Grossmith was afraid. It was an unheard-of adventure for an English prince. When the "Yeomen of the Guard" went on at the Savoy the prince renewed his supplications. It was finally decided to send him on as one of the guards at the Tower of London—beef eaters, they were called. At the last moment Edward decided he must have Sir Francis Knollys, his secretary, with him. They were fitted out with costumes and went on in the second act. Few members of the company knew it, and the audience never dreamed of it.—New York Telegraph.

SKATING IN NORTHERN EUROPE.

Joyous Sport Practiced by Young People in the Cities.

It is a theory (like many others) that skating came to us from the North; as a matter of fact, the people of the far North skate very little, skate very badly, and, in addition, have only begun to skate in recent years. The skate is native to the middle countries—Spain, Austria, France, Holland, England, Germany—and is only a later-day immigrant into Russia and Norway. The Scandinavian countries, of course, have taken to it with hearty zeal. Nowadays they skate, like the rest of us—for pleasure. For business needs they use the skid or snowshoe—milk vendors, farmers, peddlers skid thus the eternal snow that lies between town and town, between guard and guard. Only in the great cities, in Copenhagen, in Stockholm, in Christiania, is skating a sport; and even there, so modern is it, the younger generation alone knows how to skate. The fact dazed me a bit when it was brought home to me a few years—meaning three—ago. It turned all my preconceived ideas upside down, and stood them on their heads. And yet it is not inexplicable. Winter months in Norway and Sweden are largely indoor months. October is already morose; November and December are horribly gloomy, with their short somber days and the persistent humid cold. Not until Christmas does the sun come back. Then all the world changes—blue sky and the white of the snow and the diamonds that twinkle on the trees. Then for a little while the out-of-door sports hold sway. Above all, skating. Your Swede has gone at it amorously, joyously. He has made himself an adept—the best skater in Europe. The best in Europe, that is quite true. He has taken the pain away from Vienna, where for a century it was held. Moreover, he has added to the sport. He has decorated it. Over the great frozen streams, lakes and gulfs, he flies with a broad sail set.—Illustrated Sporting News.

HOW TWO BEAUTIFUL WOMEN ESCAPED DREAD CATARRH BY USE OF PE-RU-NA.

Catarrh Robs Women of Health and Beauty. Pe-ru-na Makes Women Healthy and Beautiful.

Miss Amanda Johnson.

Miss Flora Hauser, 1632 S. New Jersey street, Indianapolis, Ind., writes:

"I think I must have been troubled with catarrh ever since I was very young, aggravated each time I caught cold. This did not prove sufficiently serious to be obnoxious until last winter. Then my head and nose were so stopped up that I felt I must do something. Pe-ru-na was recommended to me by a friend. I used it for four weeks, and found to my relief that it cured me. I have not had a bit of trouble since. My head is clear, and I can safely affirm that Pe-ru-na cured me."—Miss Flora Hauser.

hundreds of Women Cured by Pe-ru-na of Annoying Catarrh.

DR. HARTMAN has probably done more than any other physician toward popularizing a means of escape from the facial deformities, such as watery eyes, twisted nose, offensive breath, dry, cracked lips, due to the ravaging effects of catarrh.

He has made chronic catarrh a life-long study. His remedy, popularly known as Pe-ru-na, is the most famous remedy for catarrh in existence.

Probably there is not a man or woman, boy or girl, within the bounds of the United States that has not heard of Pe-ru-na. By far the largest majority have used Pe-ru-na.

The multitude of people that have been cured of chronic catarrh by using Pe-ru-na can never be known.

If afflicted with Thompson's Eye Water

Miss Amanda Johnson, Fairchild, Wis., writes:

"I write to tell you how much Pe-ru-na benefited me. For a number of years I had pain in my head around my eyes, and I thought it was because my eyes needed treatment so I went to an oculist and had glasses fitted to my eyes and wore them for some time, but felt no relief whatever. In fact, I felt worse than before, and came to the conclusion that the trouble was not with my eyes, but with my head and that it must be catarrh. As so many of my friends had used Pe-ru-na with benefit for this trouble, I thought I would try it. I was not sorry that I did so, for in a short time I began to improve, and in four weeks my eyes were in splendid condition, my general health was much improved and all the catarrh of the head was gone. I was glad to get rid of this trouble and am glad to endorse such a good medicine as Pe-ru-na."—Miss Amanda Johnson.

Miss Flora Hauser.

Many a girl has regained her faded beauty, many a matron has lengthened the days of her comely appearance by using Pe-ru-na.

Pe-ru-na produces clean mucous membranes, the basis of facial symmetry and a perfect complexion.

The women have not been slow to discover that a course of Pe-ru-na will do more toward restoring youthful beauty than all the devices known to science.

While it is true that Pe-ru-na cures catarrh wherever located, yet it is advisable for everyone to use Pe-ru-na as a preventive and not wait until catarrh has fastened itself in some part of the system.

Pe-ru-na acts quickly and beneficially on the inflamed mucous membranes lining the different organs of the body. Thus it will cure catarrh wherever located.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Pe-ru-na write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.
