Hot Springs.

It was our pleasure to join the editors in their trip to Hot Springs after the E. V. E. A. at Rushville June 3. Styled the Karlsbad of America and it is where the people of every land find amusement and rest. Hot Springs is noted as a health resort but more people go there for pleasure and recreation than for medical treatment. Two of the finest plunge baths in the world are found here. The water is 92° in the Mammoth and 94° in the old plunge and is even temperature the year around. Magnificent scenery abounds. The green hills covered here and there with pine trees, and mountainous peaks alternating with valleys and canyons in the distance lend enchantment to the office prisoners who seek rest in sequestered shady nooks or a plunge into the limpid waters to drown care and smooth wrinkles. Wind cave is only a couple of hours drive from Hot Springs and everyone who has not been through it should go. Hotel accommodations are ample at any time and they take good care of their guests.

Holcomb-Bristol.

Elmer G. Bristol and Myrtle B. Holcomb were united in holy matrimony at the home of the groom Wednesday evening, June 14, 1905. The house was beautifully decorated with roses, ferns and snowballs. Exactly at 8:30 o'clock the bridal party marched in to the strains of a wedding march, played by Miss Zadia Elliott. The bride and groom were preceded by two ribbon bearers, Misses Gertrude Quigley and Julia Bristol, and the bridesmaid and best man, Miss Margurete Quigley and Ervine Pont. They took their places under a beautiful canopy of roses and carnations where the solemn and impressive ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Carpenter, after which they received congratulations from the fifty guests that were assembled to bid them God speed throughout their journey through life. The groom was attired in a plain black suit and the bride was elegantly gowned in a cream colored dress and carried cream roses. Many beautiful and valuable presents were received from their many friends. The bride has resided with us the past two years and is known as one of Valentine's most charming and talented young ladies. The groom was raised in this community and his steadiness, integrity and honesty are known to all. The outlook for their journey through life is bright and promising and THE DEMOCRAT extends congratulations to the happy couple. They will be at home after July 22, at their home on Macomb street.
