

A TRAINED NURSE

After Years of Experience, Advises Women in Regard to Their Health.

Mrs. Martha Pohlman of 55 Chester Avenue, Newark, N. J., who is a graduate nurse from the Blockley Training School, at Philadelphia, and for six years Chief Clinic Nurse at the Philadelphia Hospital, writes the letter printed below. She has the advantage of personal experience, besides her professional education, and what she has to say may be absolutely relied upon.

Mrs. Martha Pohlman

Many other women are afflicted as she was. They can regain health in the same way. It is prudent to heed such advice from such a source.

Mrs. Pohlman writes:

"I am firmly persuaded, after eight years of experience with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, that it is the safest and best medicine for any suffering woman to use."

"Immediately after my marriage I found that my health began to fail me. I became weak and pale, with severe bearing-down pains, fearful headaches and frequent dizzy spells. The doctors prescribed for me, yet I did not improve. I would blot after eating, and frequently become nauseated. I had pains down through my legs so I could hardly walk. It was as bad a case of female trouble as I have ever known. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, however, cured me within four months. Since that time I have had occasion to recommend it to a number of patients suffering from all forms of female difficulties, and I find that while it is considered unprofessional to recommend a patent medicine, I can honestly recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, for I have found that it cures female ills where all other medicine fails. It is a grand medicine for sick women."

Money cannot buy such testimony as this—merit alone can produce such results, and the ablest specialists now agree that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the most universally successful remedy for all female diseases known to medicine.

When women are troubled with irregular, suppressed or painful periods, weakness, displacement or ulceration of the female organs, that bearing-down feeling, inflammation, backache, bloating (or flatulence), general debility, indigestion, and nervous prostration, or are beset with such symptoms as dizziness, faintness, lassitude, excitability, irritability, nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, "all-gone" and "want-to-be-left-alone" feelings, blues and hopelessness, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once removes such troubles. No other female medicine in the world has received such widespread and unqualified endorsement.

The needless suffering of women from diseases peculiar to their sex is terrible to see. The money which they pay to doctors who do not help them is an enormous waste. The pain is cured and the money is saved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

It is well for women who are ill to write Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. The present Mrs. Pinkham is the daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham, her assistant for many years before her decease, and for twenty-five years since her advice has been freely given to sick women. In her great experience, which covers many years, she has probably had to deal with dozens of cases just like yours. Her advice is strictly confidential.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Succeeds Where Others Fail.

Feeling in His Art.

The singing teacher was visiting the school, and as this was an important event in the district, the pupils had been instructed to memorize a verse or two to recite for the entertainment of the visitor.

During the delivery of his lines, one small boy was especially noticeable for the action with which he accompanied his words; so much so that the teacher, surprised at his efforts, commended him highly on the ease with which he spoke and the apparent practice which he must have put on the piece.

"It was fine," she exclaimed, in closing, "and shows a large amount of rehearsal! But, Johnny, where did you get the gestures?"

"Tain't the gestures," replied the young genius, with a twist, "tain't the gestures; it's the hives."

COUNT SUEED FOR DIVORCE.

Castellane's Wife, Formerly Anna Gould, Asks for Separation.

Countess Boni de Castellane (formerly Anna Gould) entered a plea in Paris for divorce from her husband. Representatives of the countess and the count appeared before a judge, who, according to the French law, endeavored to arrange a reconciliation before allowing a definite suit to proceed.

Rumors have been current for a long time that the countess had decided that continuation of her relations with her husband was impossible and her removal from the Castellane residence to a hotel in the center of Paris gave support to the belief that she had decided to complete the separation.

With reference to the count's conduct the name of a prominent society leader of Paris, a woman of high standing, has been mentioned. But the greatest reticence has been maintained by all the parties concerned relative to the progress of the negotiations looking to a conciliation. It now appears that the efforts of those interested in bringing about a settlement without an appeal to the courts have been unavailing.

Almost on the same day which brought the news of the Yerkes-Mizner nuptials came the story that the worthless Frenchman of the empty pocket and empty title, who married, and has squandered, from $10,000,000 to $20,000,000 of the wealth which a great American brain had accumulated, is to be divorced by his wife. Following are some of the ways in which Count Boni spent the Gould millions:

Paris residence	$3,000,000
Art curios	1,820,000
Pau chateau	300,000
Cards and race track	100,000
Yacht Valhalla	200,000
Political campaigns	300,000
Clothes	100,000
Stable	150,000
Costume fete	300,000
Stock speculations	600,000
Owed money lenders	860,000
Entertaining King of Portugal	200,000
Bachelor dinner	100,000

LABOR'S GREAT TRIUMPH.

Trade Unionism Creates a New Order in British Politics.

The greatest surprise in the recent elections in Great Britain was the large number of labor representatives returned to Parliament. Hitherto labor has been a rather negligible quantity in British politics, notwithstanding the fact that workmen have sat in Parliament since the early '80s, but now it must be reckoned with both within and outside legislative halls. Before the onslaught made by labor in the British constituencies, Unionists, titled, knighted and moneyed, went down; Conservative strongholds were carried, and Liberals were either defeated or had their majorities reduced.

A cotton spinner captured Sir James Ferguson's seat in Manchester; a mill hand beat Sir Ernest Flower in Bradford; printers headed the poll at Norwich, Burnley, Manchester and Deptford; a navy, who was once employed in excavations for the Manchester ship canal, is member for Stoke-on-Trent; a railway guard has a majority of over 7,000 at Newcastle-on-Tyne, where Mr. Morley once suffered defeat. An obscure collier distanced a mine owner; a cotton operative vanquished Lord Goschen's son at Bolton; a stonemason's son and a warehouse clerk each won by 7,500 votes at Leicester over Sir John Rolleston; a plaster in a boot factory carried a Wolverhampton seat against Sir Alfred Hickman; miners have been victorious at Morpeth and in Glamorganshire; a furniture maker, who had begun life in a mineral water factory, triumphs at Leeds; and a man who has been carpenter, shipwright, steel smelter, sailor, engineer, mechanic, pitman and even newsboy, are sent to Parliament in place of university men, baronets with large estates, ship owners, manufacturers, bankers and the sons of earls. They may not be working at their trades now, but they have sprung from the toiling millions, and their election in such numbers is a triumph for Democracy.

CHICAGO P. O. SWAMPED.

Lack of Clerks Causes Conditions to Grow Serious.

Chicago, with one of the finest post-office buildings in the country, is utterly unable to handle its mail business. For the first time in four years the full force of 900 clerks in the mailing division was required to work last Sunday to relieve the congestion that has clogged the machinery. Although the clerks have been working from ten to twelve hours a day, hundreds of bags of mail are left undistributed each night. Pneumatic tubes in the new postoffice which cost $120,000 to install are practically useless because there are not enough clerks to take the mail promptly to them, and they are idle much of the time. Machinery in the new building which cost $200,000 is also proving more of a hindrance than a benefit because it requires quite a number of clerks to operate it, and that number has been taken from the regular force, which was inadequate before.

HIGH CLASS DRUGGISTS AND — OTHERS.

The better class of druggists, everywhere, are men of scientific attainments and high integrity, who devote their lives to the welfare of their fellow men in supplying the best of remedies and purest medicinal agents of known value, in accordance with physicians' prescriptions and scientific formula. Druggists of the better class manufacture many excellent remedies, but always under original or official names and they never sell false brands, or imitation medicines. They are the men to deal with when in need of anything in their line, which usually includes all standard remedies and corresponding adjuncts of a first-class pharmacy and the finest and best of toilet articles and preparations and many useful accessories and remedial appliances. The earning of a fair living, with the satisfaction which arises from a knowledge of the benefits conferred upon their patrons and assistance to the medical profession, is usually their greatest reward for long years of study and many hours of daily toil. They all know that Syrup of Figs is an excellent laxative remedy and that it gives universal satisfaction, and therefore they are selling many millions of bottles annually to the well informed purchasers of the choicest remedies, and they always take pleasure in handing out the genuine article bearing the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—printed on the front of every package. They know that in cases of colds and headaches attended by biliousness and constipation and of weakness or torpidity of the liver and bowels, arising from irregular habits, indigestion, or over-eating, that there is no other remedy so pleasant, prompt and beneficial in its effects as Syrup of Figs, and they are glad to sell it because it gives universal satisfaction.

Owing to the excellence of Syrup of Figs, the universal satisfaction which it gives and the immense demand for it, imitations have been made, tried and condemned, but there are individual druggists to be found, here and there, who do not maintain the dignity and principles of the profession and whose greed gets the better of their judgment, and who do not hesitate to recommend and try to sell the imitations in order to make a larger profit. Such preparations sometimes have the name—"Syrup of Figs"—or "Fig Syrup"—and of some piratical concern, or fictitious fig syrup company, printed on the package, but they never have the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—printed on the front of the package. The imitations should be rejected because they are injurious to the system. In order to sell the imitations they find it necessary to resort to misrepresentation or deception, and whenever a dealer passes off on a customer a preparation under the name of "Syrup of Figs" or "Fig Syrup," which does not bear the full name of the California Fig Syrup Co. printed on the front of the package, he is attempting to deceive and mislead the patron who has been so unfortunate as to enter his establishment, whether it be large or small, for if the dealer resorts to misrepresentation and deception in one case he will do so with other medicinal agents, and in the filling of physicians' prescriptions, and should be avoided by every one who values health and happiness. Knowing that the great majority of druggists are reliable, we supply the immense demand for our excellent remedy entirely through the druggists, of whom it may be purchased everywhere, in original packages only, at the regular price of fifty cents per bottle, but as exceptions exist it is necessary to inform the public of the facts, in order that all may decline or return any imitation which may be sold to them. If it does not bear the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—printed on the front of every package, do not hesitate to return the article and to demand the return of your money, and in future go to one of the better class of druggists who will sell you what you wish and the best of everything in his line at reasonable prices.

DEATH SEEMED NEAR.

How a Chicago Woman Found Help When Hope Was Fast Fading Away.

Mrs. E. T. Gould, 914 West Lake street, Chicago, Ill., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills are all that saved me from death by Bright's Disease, that I know. I had eye trouble, backache, catches when lying abed or when bending over, was languid and often dizzy and had sick headaches and bearing down pains. The kidney secretions were too copious and frequent, and very bad in appearance. It was in 1903 that Doan's Kidney Pills helped me so quickly and cured me of these troubles and I've been well ever since."

Editor's Vacation.

"Did I go away for my vacation?" repeated one of the editors on a certain morning newspaper, "not I. I stayed right at home and got acquainted with my wife, courted her all over again, and even dug out our old marriage certificate. You see, most of the year I sleep daytimes, my profession keeping me at the office most of the night. The neighbors have even expressed curiosity about the mysterious man who comes to my house in the wee sma' hours with such haunting regularity. It was quite novel, almost exciting, to sit on my own porch in the broad daylight, and by way of more boisterous delights I walked up and down my green-sward, 'wid the sun a-shinin' bright.' Every year I put in my vacation time convincing my wife that she is a married woman, and has a real, live husband, thereby reconciling her to the remainder of the year."—Chicago Inter-Ocean.
