Talk of the Town.

Joseph Kalbringer was in town Tuesday.

Don Kellogg and wife were in town yesterday.

Ed Pike of Crookston was in town yesterday.

Jake and Aetna Breachbill were in town Tuesday.

Geo. Foster and his bride were in town yesterday.

The farmers of North Table hauled in a lot of hogs last Saturday.

James Smith of Crookston called to renew his subscription to THE DEMOCRAT Tuesday while in town.

H. M. Cramer is rebuilding his house that was damaged by fire recently and has it nearly completed.

Nels Austin, the blacksmith, is recovering from typhoid fever slowly and is much better than last week.

M. E. Hall returned Sunday from a visit back east and stopped over for a day in town before returning to Cody.

The horses advertised last week in this paper were found a few days later. It pays to advertise in THE DEMOCRAT.

Max E. Viertel, the Crookston merchant, came down Tuesday and stayed for the play at Church's opera house, "The Prince of Liars."

Miss Nellie Easley has accepted a school in the Sam Woodward district near Gordon and departed yesterday to take up her position as teacher there.

J. S. and George Carr were in town Monday for a load of coal and other supplies. The former called to renew their subscription to THE DEMOCRAT.

John Foster is selling case knife and scissors sharpeners around town and called the other day to show us how they worked. It is a new and novel method.

James Mangan of Ft. Niobrara was in town last Saturday and purchased two of the three quarters of land which were sold at sheriff's sale. I. M. Rice purchased the other quarter.

The cases against the saloons for having screens and obstructions before their windows came up Monday in Judge Towne's office, and for want of sufficient evidence or prosecution were dismissed.

Geo. Hunter fell from the top of a 35 ft. telephone pole near the depot where he was working yesterday and lit on his left hip in the sand. Jarred him up pretty bad and will lay him up for awhile but no bones were broken.

Mrs. J. E. Pettycrew returned from her visit in Marshalltown, Iowa, Wednesday morning. During her stay at that place she had an operation performed and from which she is recovering and hopes to be strong and well soon.

W. C. Shattuck and wife departed yesterday for Gordon, having rented his dwelling to Mr. Pugh, special agent of the U. S. landoffice, who expects to remain here for some time. We understand Mr. Shattuck takes up his abode in Gordon.

Mr. and Mrs. L. N. Layport returned from Iowa last Friday where they had been visiting Mrs. Layport's brother who had been stabbed and was thought to be near death but is now recovering. The person who stabbed him was bound over to the district court to await his trial. Mr. and Mrs. Ladely were also with Mr. and Mrs. Layport on their visit.

Dave Dunn drove down from his farm yesterday to get a few groceries and remembered the editor with a dollar and also subscribed for the Omaha Daily News. He tells us that his wife is getting along pretty well and has enjoyed pretty fair health the past winter.

Charles Breuklander and Miss Rhoda Holsclaw were married at the home of the groom's father near McCann last Sunday, Feb. 18, 1906, the Rev. J. A. W. Johnson of Georgia officiating. Herbert Breuklander acted as best man and Miss Mae Gallino of Valentine as bridesmaid. After the ceremony a sumptuous dinner was enjoyed by those present. The groom is well and favorably known to Valentine people, having grown to manhood in this city and is now driving one of P. F. Simons' drays. The bride came to this city about four years ago from Clarks, Neb., and has made many friends during her residence here. They will begin house-keeping in the house north of Sheriff Simons' on south Cherry St. THE DEMOCRAT extends congratulations.

SCHOOL NOTES.

By Margaret Quigley,
Clara Dunham.

Charles Ogle has been out of school two weeks on account of sickness but is back again.

Maude Rector, of the 7th grade, has returned to school after an absence of nearly two weeks, having had blood poison in her hand.

Prin. L. G. Lockwood of the Merriman schools, has resigned his position owing to a misunderstanding with the authorities of the school. Miss Pearl Arnot of that place has been appointed to fill the vacancy.

Supt. J. W. Searson of Peru, Supt. R. H. Watson of Valentine and Miss Hall of the Lincoln schools have been appointed by State Supt. McBrien to formulate a course of study for the teaching of grammar in the high schools of Nebraska, which are to be recognized as doing Normal work on that subject.

Prof. R. H. Watson was in O'Neill last Saturday in the interests of the Junior Normal. In the afternoon he lectured to about 140 teachers on "The Characteristics of a Good Teacher." He reports a pleasant time and met many who were here in the normal last year, and quite a number of them intend coming this year.

Perry Swearinger from near Sparks was in town yesterday and called at this office to pay in advance for THE DEMOCRAT. Perry says he has been suffering with the grippe since last Christmas.

Miss Frances Harden resigned her position at the post some time ago and accepted a school in the west end of the county where she is teaching. Geo. Boyer, we hear, is now clerk in the Ft. Niobrara postoffice.

Some opposition is developing to C. H. Cornell's lease bill and petitions are being circulated against it. It seems that the people are not together in the interests of leasing the public domain. A long article in the Lincoln Daily News, Feb. 19th, by a member of the forest reserve commission says that a lease bill is unnecessary and that the country will be settled if let alone to the Kinkaid homesteaders and no further adjustment will be necessary.
