NAPLES FEELS SHOCK

VESUVIUS PUTS PEOPLE OF CITY IN PANIC.

One Town is Wiped Out—No Trace of Commune that Had 10,000 People—Town of 20,000 on Gulf of Naples Has Been Depopulated.

Naples advises state that hope that Mt. Vesuvius was becoming calm was dissipated Sunday when the volcano became more active than ever.

The panic has spread to Naples. Two strong earthquake shocks, which shattered windows and cracked the walls of buildings, were experienced Sunday. The entire population rushed to the streets in terror, many persons crying: "The Madonna has forsaken us; the end of the world has come!"

No trace remains of Boscotrecase, a commune on the southern declivity of the mountain, where up to forty-eight hours ago 10,000 persons lived, and Torre Annunziata, on the shores of the Gulf of Naples one mile to the southward, is almost surrounded by the invading lava and has been evacuated by its 30,000 inhabitants. The people were brought to Naples by trains, street cars, military carts and steamships. Similar means of transportation are being employed to bring away the people from Torre del Greco. The police and carabinieri are guarding the abandoned houses, and several members of the government also are there.

With the danger and horror of the situation aside, Vesuvius presents one of the most splendid sights imaginable. The mountain of fire, whose speech is by detonation and whose acts are destruction, seems like an enraged giant determined to make the pilgrims of earth feel the might of his wrath. Here and there on the mountain side stand the blasted trunks of pine trees, their bare branches outstretched as though in protest against the devastation the volcano has wrought.

Breathing is momentarily becoming more difficult because of the poisonous fumes and smoke, while the hot ashes which are still falling tend to make life a burden.

Contrary to expectation the sea has not yet shown signs of being affected by the phenomena, but fears are entertained that tidal waves may yet come, and many crafts have put to sea. Visitors to Naples are avoiding the hotels on the sea front and the people living there are beginning to leave for higher altitudes.

Though there is much misery up to the present time there are no fatalities except at Portici, where an old woman died supposedly from fright.

SAN FRANCISCO REDS IN RIOT.

Disturbance Follows Meeting for Western Miners.

At San Francisco a riot took place Sunday following a meeting of socialists held in sympathy for Moyer and Haywood, arrested in connection with the assassination of ex-Gov. Steunenberg, of Idaho. The meeting was held in a hall, and at its close an impromptu parade was started toward the business district. At Market and Kearney Streets a halt was made at Lotta's fountain, and one of the paraders climbed to the pedestal and placed on top of it a red banner bearing the inscription, "The Constitution Be Damned; So Say the Corporations."

Another socialist started to harangue the crowd when a squad of police arrived to disperse the gathering. A fight followed, and about ten of the crowd were landed in the patrol wagon with the wounded skulls, the police having freely used their clubs. The crowd then dispersed.

IN VIOLENT ERUPTION.

Torrents of Lava Pouring Down Sides of Mount Vesuvius.

Naples advises state that the eruption of Mt. Vesuvius is now most violent.

On the Pompeii side the main stream of lava has divided into two, one threatening Ottajano, a commune of 20,000 inhabitants, and the other threatening Torre del Greco, with a population of 30,000.

The danger is becoming serious, and calls have been made for the immediate evacuation of Boscotrecase, the nearest village to the crater, which has a population of 9,000.

The inhabitants of the villages in the vicinity of Mt. Vesuvius are in a condition bordering on panic. Many homes have been abandoned for the open air, although there has been a thick fog all day and the atmosphere has been thick with volcanic ashes and the fumes of subterranean fires. The churches are crowded day and night with people praying for deliverance from an impending peril, manifestations of which are heard and felt in explosions which resemble a heavy cannonading and in the tremblings of the earth which are constantly recurring.

The main stream of lava proceeding from Vesuvius is 200 feet wide and it rises at times at the rate of twenty-one feet a minute, the intense heat destroying vegetation before the stream reaches it.

The population of Boscotrecase, on the southern declivity of the mountain, have sought safety in flight, and Bosco Reale, to the eastward, is also threatened. Women of this village, weeping with fright, carried a statue of St. Anne as near as they could go to the flowing lava, imploring a miracle to stay the advance of the consuming stream.

The cemetery at Boscotrecase has been invaded by lava. The scene at night is one of mingled grandeur and horror, as from the summit of Vesuvius there leaps a column of fire fully 1,000 feet in height, the glare lighting the sky and sea for many miles. Occasionally great masses of molten stone, some weighing as much as a ton, are ejected from the crater.

CRUISER SENT TO SCENE.

Illegal Fishing on the Coast of Newfoundland.

A St. Johns, N. F., dispatch says: Premier Bond in the colonial assembly, replying to questions about the government's attitude of American, Canadian and colonial fishermen within the three-mile limit along the western shore, stated that the colonial cruiser Fiona has been dispatched to the scene with proper officials on board to enforce the local fisheries laws against all offenders.

For some weeks American fishing vessels have been trawling inshore. The Americans claim they are not subject to the local fishery laws, and following the example they have set the Canadian and colonial trawlers have invaded the three-mile limit.

PREPARED FOR DEATH.

Aeronaut Who Lost Life Made Plans Before He Started on Journey.

A letter was found in a pocket of his clothing Thursday giving complete directions as to the disposition to be made of his property in case he was found dead.

TROUBLE FEARED IN MOSCOW.

Strong Force of Cossacks in the Industrial Quarter.

The political prisoners with whom the Moscow jails are crowded, have declared a "hunger strike" (refusing to partake of food) to compel the authorities either to bring them to immediate trial or order their release.

This decision has increased the excitement caused by the election campaign. Strong detachments of Cossacks are patrolling the industrial quarters.

MAY NOT ARBITRATE.

Operators Inclined to Reject Miners' Plan.

A New York special says: Having failed to come to an agreement among themselves the hard coal miners of Pennsylvania, through their representatives, Thursday proposed to the operators that all matters in dispute be referred to a board of arbitration for settlement, the tribunal to be composed of the board of conciliation which was created by the award of the anthracite strike commission in 1903, with Judge George Gray, of Delaware, or any person he may appoint as chairman and umpire. If the operators accept the proposition and a convention of mine workers approves the plan the 160,000 men now idle in the anthracite fields will return to work at once.

While it has been reported for several days that the miners might ask that the differences be arbitrated the proposition made to the mine owners Thursday came to them as a great surprise, as they did not believe the union leaders were ready to leave the controversy to a third party at this time.

That the operators will accept the miners' proposal as submitted is not generally believed; in fact, it is intimated they may flatly refuse the offer on the ground that the existing conditions are the result of arbitration. The employers have decided to consider the miners' latest move and promise to give President Mitchell and his men an answer on Monday, when another meeting of the two sub-committees will be held in New York.

The idle anthracite miners ask that the conciliation board created by the strike commission act as arbitrators with Judge George Gray, of Delaware, or any person he may appoint as chairman and umpire. If the operators agree to the plan and it is approved by the convention of miners, operations in the hard coal fields will be resumed at once. The operators do not look with favor on the plan, but will give their answer to the miners Monday.

Reports from various sections of the soft coal regions show that conditions in these fields are improving. There was more coal mined in that territory than on any day since the strike began. The production of coal, however, is not as large as was expected.

ERUPTIONS ARE ALARMING.

Great Streams of Lava Pour Out of Vesuvius.

Naples advises state that the eruption of Mt. Vesuvius is assuming alarming proportions. Five streams of burning lava are descending the mountain, threatening everything below. Roaring explosions are heard for twenty miles around.

The inhabitants of the small villages near the crater are escaping, while processions of villagers carrying images of saints and madonnas and praying for the cessation of the eruption are passing through the neighboring towns. Smoke and ashes are carried so far that all Naples is sprinkled with cinders. The Neapolitans are not alarmed; in fact, they say they are glad, saying the new eruption of Vesuvius is in preparation for the arrival of King Edward, who is expected there soon.

STORM AT ZION CITY.

A Conflict Between the Two Factions May Occur.

The physical collapse of Mrs. John Alexander Dowie at Chicago Thursday, followed rumors that the party in favor of the "first apostle" had grown so strong a serious conflict between the two factions in Zion City might follow the return of her husband. Friends of Mrs. Dowie say she expressed the belief that bloodshed might result. Mrs. Dowie is reported to be suffering from a severe attack of nervous prostration.

The appellate court Thursday by decision deprived Dowie of $53,000, which had been left to him by Frederick Sutton, a New Zealander. The heirs of Sutton brought suit to have the will set aside on the ground of undue influence.

STATE OF NEBRASKA

NEWS OF THE WEEK IN A CONDENSED FORM.

Referee in Grain Suits—Interpretation of Law Involved Not Likely to Be Had Until a Case is Presented to Court.

The supreme court met Tuesday and some very interesting and important matters affecting the state came up. The most important, insofar as the entire state is concerned, of course, was the grain case. The court announced it will name a referee to take testimony in these cases. Attorney General Brown, as soon as the court signifies its intention to act in accordance with his suggestion, recommended the appointment of Judge Calkins, of Kearney, to be the referee. So far the attorneys for the grain men have made no recommendation.

The recent decision handed down by the court in this case merely overruled the demurrer to the petition of the attorney general. At the time the decision was made it was the general understanding of lawyers the court had upheld all of the anti-trust laws, including the criminal clause, but after a careful study of the opinion, both the attorney general and the lawyers for the defendants say they do not know what the court meant and each has asked for an interpretation. Each side wants the court to tell what laws are constitutional before the introduction of testimony. The court has frequently held it will not pass on any question which has not been raised in the case, or, in other words, it is the opinion of lawyers that if an opinion is wanted on the constitutionality of the anti-trust laws, the only way it can be secured is for some one to be tried under the provisions of the laws.

The attorneys for the Nye-Snyder-Fowler Company, in a brief filed recently, claim it will take about twenty-one years to get all the evidence in and it sets up this argument to get the court to pass on the laws before the evidence is taken. It has been said the criminal clause can easily be tested by having one of the grain dealers arrested under its provisions and try him. Then the matter would be brought directly before the court.

TRAIN ON NEW ROAD IN DITCH.

Three People Injured, One of Them Perhaps Fatally.

Gatewood, of the depot carpenter crew, which was on its way to Lyons to build the depot, several ribs fractured and sustained internal injuries which may prove fatal. He was taken to Oakland to the Crane Hotel, where he received medical attention and is under the care of a nurse.

Isaac Van Wick, also of the carpenter crew, was cut about the face and badly bruised, but was able to proceed with the crew after his wounds were dressed.

L. E. Nelson, of Oakland, the only passenger on the train, was injured about the head and neck, though not seriously.

FIND FORGOTTEN SCAFFOLD.

Hangman's Structure Raked Out of Grand Island Court Attic.

An old scaffold, covered with dust and cobwebs, but all complete for its greivous use, has just been discovered in the attic of the old court house at Grand Island, which is being torn down. Everybody had forgotten that the scaffold had been stored, but a few old residents can recall the one time it was used. It was built years ago in Grand Island especially for the hanging of a certain George Hart, who in a fight in a saloon had murdered a man named Cress.

The rope had been adjusted and the moment had almost arrived for the condemned man to be led out of his cell when a reprieve came from the governor, who finally commuted Hart's sentence to life imprisonment. After that the scaffold was taken to pieces and lay for years unused in the attic. Then the authorities of Custer County borrowed the scaffold for the hanging of a murderer. This is the first and only time that the grim structure has been put to actual use. Since its return from Custer County the pieces of the scaffold have lain forgotten in the old Grand Island court house attic. Now that they have again been brought to light, they will probably be kept on account of their historic associations.

WRECK ON THE BURLINGTON.

Baggage and Mail and Passenger Cars Piled Up.

Westbound train No. 41 of the Burlington, with two engines, was wrecked three miles west of St. Michael at 7:30 Thursday morning while going at the rate of about 45 miles an hour and making up lost time. Only four were hurt.

The escape of such trainload of passengers with so little injury is regarded by the train crew as perhaps beyond all previous records. Some of the coaches are all right and several were thrown thirty feet from the track.

The gas tank in one of the chair cars caught fire, but was thrown out of the coach before it exploded. The explosion set fire to the car, but the fire was quickly extinguished by use of buckets and water in adjacent ditches.

The wreck was caused by spreading rails, but the engine remained on the track and ran ahead. The engineer, on looking back and seeing the piled up coaches, was confident there were scores of injured, and without taking time to inquire rushed to Ravenna for a relief train. Four physicians from Aurora and five from Grand Island were sent to the scene and attended the few slightly injured.

It is not known whether this new arrangement is to be permanent or only till it is possible to get across the river at Yankton.

He expired before medical aid could be secured.

NEBRASKA ELECTIONS

SALOON LICENSE THE ISSUE IN MOST CONTESTS.

RANDOLPH SALOONS BEATEN

"Dry" Ticket Makes a Clean Sweep—Democrats Win at South Omaha and Norfolk—License Wins at Tekamah and Butte—Other Results.

Omaha: Election were held in all the cities and towns of Nebraska Tuesday except Omaha and Lincoln, which operate under special charters. In Omaha primary elections to choose tickets to be voted for next month were held by the Republican, Democratic and Socialist parties. The only straight partisan contest in the state was in South Omaha, where Thomas Hector for mayor and the whole Democratic ticket was elected by majorities ranging from 105 to 1,146. The present city administration is Republican.

The local issues only were involved in most of the towns, the license question being most common. The results are very much mixed.

In the Omaha primaries the polls did not close until 9 o'clock. There were no contests for the heads of the Democratic and Socialist tickets, but the Republicans had four candidates for mayor and 124 candidates for the twenty places on the ticket.

At 11 o'clock enough election returns had been given out to make certain that E. A. Benson had won the Republican nomination for mayor by large pluralities over his opponents, W. J. Roatch, J. S. Cooley and A. H. Hennings.

The Democratic nominee is J. C. Dahlman, and the socialist candidate C. F. Michelsen.

Saloons Beaten in Randolph.

Randolph: The anti-saloon ticket made a clean sweep here Tuesday, and the five saloons now being operated will close the first week in May. The fight here attracted attention throughout the state, a number of anti-saloon workers taking part in the speaking campaign. The ticket elected is: B. F. Smith, Jr., mayor; J. C. Stewart, police judge; W. K. Jackson, and H. L. Chapman, councilmen; John Oliver, treasurer; J. A. Hill, clerk.

Light Vote at West Point.

This city is non-partisan on the municipal ticket. The following is the ticket elected: Mayor, F. D. Hunker, people's ticket; treasurer, R. F. Kerlow, both tickets; clerk, C. C. Malchow, both tickets; city engineer, G. A. Heller, both tickets; members of school board, J. H. Thompson, both tickets, and J. C. Elliott and Dr. H. L. Wells, people's ticket. A light vote was polled.

Saloons Win at Pender.

Pender: The Democratic ticket, which was backed by the saloon forces, was victorious in the election here Tuesday by a majority of 86 votes. Three aldermen were elected as follows: Lewis W. Fansler, Herman G. Heyne and John A. Wichter. The candidates on the defeated law and order ticket stood on a platform of high-saloon license.

Results at O'Neill.

O'Neill: The city election passed off quietly Tuesday, and little interest was apparent. Politics did not enter into the contest. Mayor D. A. Doyle was defeated for re-election by ex-Mayor Ed F. Gallagher by 45 votes. R. D. Saunders was re-elected city clerk; J. F. Gallagher, city treasurer; Sheridan Simmons, police judge. The councilmen were all re-elected.

No Lid for Hartington.

Hartington: At the city election 251 votes were cast. Ex-Mayor A. B. Gable, Republican, is elected mayor over H. E. Burkett, Democrat, by a majority of 29. Political lines were not closely drawn and the main feature of the contest was that the defeated candidate represented the element that wanted the lid put on tight.

Trustees Elected at Emerson.

Emerson: James Ireland and Webb Kellogg were elected village trustees. C. C. Boudreau and W. G. Nerlin were a tie. There was no politics in the election, but the new board is supposed to be in favor of a strict enforcement of the law as regards saloons and slot machines.

Results at Chadron.

Chadron: William H. Donahue, proprietor of the Blaine Hotel, was elected mayor of Chadron by 10 votes over William F. Hayward, present mayor. The mayor, councilmen and clerk are Republicans except two. Politics, however, did not figure much.

License for Tekamah.

Tekamah: Tekamah had a quiet election; only one ticket. A. M. Anderson, mayor; C. Jeep, councilman; M. S. McGraw, clerk; Ed Latta, treasurer. License carried by 2 majority.

High License at Butte.

Butte: The citizens' ticket was elected Tuesday by a majority of 10, which means Butte will be high license. Mike Siegel and Don Sinclair are the new members of the board.

License at Carroll.

Carroll: This town, which has only one saloon, was carried by the license party.

Ainsworth Goes Dry.

Ainsworth: The election went "dry" by a majority of 14. No other issue was before the people. P. J. Murphy and Ben Fast were elected councilmen.

No License at Warsaw.
